APPROVE 200-STUDENT DORM

Red Cross Drive Extended A Week

Haskell C. Freedman, Chairman of the 1955 Fund Drive for the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, announces a one week's extension in its current campaign for $88,500.

"People who have been away or who have been too busy to have yet made their Red Cross donation will thus be given additional time to make their contribution," said Mr. Freedman. "As of April 1 we have raised 80.4% of our total goal. Still outstanding are donations from a substantial number of known donors and these may be expected to swell the total. We are pleased at the progress of the campaign to date and are making every effort to meet our goal in full. Red Cross services reach every individual in our nation at some time during their lives. We know that the need is real and that both the local Red Cross Chapter and the National organization need every penny that can be raised. Neither Red Cross nor the public can afford to have any service lessened or eliminated."

"We are grateful to all our volunteer workers and urge all solicitors to be vigorous in completing their calls and to complete their reports as soon as possible."

Mr. Freedman expressed the hope that those who have not yet made their contribution would do so by mailing it to the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, 21 Foster street, Newtonville 60, Massachusetts.

Little League Tryouts To Be Held Saturday

The Newton North registration will be held at the Albemarle Playground. The Newton West line will form at T. J. Lyons Playground in Auburndale while the new Newton Central will register candidates at Cabot Playground in Newtonville. Boys 8, 9 and 10 years old will be registered at 9 a.m. at all three sites with 11 and 12 year olders signing up at 11 a.m.

All boys who try out for Little League baseball are registered according to Little League age. The breakdown of the age groups is as follows:

Boys born between Aug. 1, 1942 and July 31, 1943 are 12 years old. Aug. 1, 1943 and July 31, 1944 are 11 years old. Aug. 1 1944 and July 31, 1945 are 10 years old. Aug. 1, 1945 and July 31, 1946 are 9 years old. Aug. 1, 1946 and July 31, 1947 are 8 years old.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Republicans Settle Party Battles Behind Closed Doors . . . Conditions at Charlestown Prison Problem for Governor

If the Republican party was in the throes of a struggle for the chairmanship of the GOP State Committee, it would be fought out behind closed doors, and public would know comparatievly little about it.

After the battle had been decided, a harmony statement would be issued, the victor would assume his post, and the vanquished would retire from the scene to nurse his wounds and perhaps to sulk silently in his tent.

There would be no raging row for the public to witness, and only a few insiders would know about the scars that were left and the feuds that simmered.

The Democrats don't stage their fights as quietly. When they become involved in a political conflict, it takes on all the aspects of a dock brawl, in which an innocent bystander may be felled by a wild blow, if he doesn't remain out of harm's way.

Boston College To Build on Hammond St.

Permission to build a 200-student dormitory at 185 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, was voted Boston College by the aldermen Monday night after a two-week delay on the vote gave neighbors a chance to iron out their objections with college authorities.

A permit to build the living quarters was granted without opposition, but several aldermen expressed concern over the effect of further B.C. expansion on the Chestnut Hill residential area.

"We should appreciate the significance of what we are embarking on," warned Alderman Lawrence B. Damon, who pointed out that the "natural expansion of the Jesuit college would be in the general area known as the Liggett estate." He asked the board to make it clear that granting the dormitory petition did not amount to approving further construction in this district.

Other dormitories, predicted the alderman, will be sought on Hammond and Beacon streets. "I am not prepared to say it is an undesirable use," said Damon, though he stated there might be special occasions when rules governing the students' behavior "might not be so strict."

The dormitory was originally scheduled to be acted upon at the aldermen's March 21 session. It was postponed two weeks, however, on the motion of Alderman Hirsh Sharf so that other members of the board could visit the proposed site and see for themselves "the impact on Tudor road."

Quick action on the project had been sought by Boston College, as the school's expansion program called for completion of the building for the 1955-56 college year.

Boston University-Underwood Summer School Starts July 12

Tuesday, July 12, 1955, the Boston University-Underwood Summer School will begin its fifth year of operation. Classes for boys and girls who wish to attend elementary school for a six-week period during July and August are now being organized. This program is offered to all Newton children attending public, private, and parochial schools in the city.

The purposes of the Boston University-Underwood Summer School differ slightly from those of the traditional summer school program. Our primary function is to train Liberal Arts college graduates for teaching positions in the public schools of the Commonwealth. The secondary aim is to offer an educational program for children who wish to attend school beyond the regular school year. In all grades, Kindergarten, Grades One through Six, a regular program of studies is offered. Children receive instruction in reading, oral and written language, arithmetic, spelling, handwriting, social studies, science, music, art, and physical education.

Pupils are placed in the grade they are scheduled to enter in September, 1955. To be eligible for entrance into the Kindergarten group a child must attain five years of age on or before January 1, 1956. Class size is limited to approximately twenty-five pupils per grade. Daily class sessions are held from 9:00 a. m. until 12:00 noon. Parents are expected to provide transportation to and from the school. Children using commercial bus lines may purchase special student tickets at a cost of $.75 for ten rides. These tickets may be purchased at the school. The cost of the materials used during the six-week period is financed by Boston University. Instruction for pupils ends on Thursday, August 18, 1955.

The Summer School Faculty includes outstanding Newton classroom teachers selected for their ability to instruct both children and prospective teachers.

Parents desiring to register children for this program should write or telephone Mr. Allan Acomb, Principal, Underwood School, 101 Vernon street, Newton 58, Massachusetts, BI 4-5156. Upon receipt of request, application forms giving complete details for enrollment procedure will be forwarded. Applications will be accepted in the order of their receipt at the Underwood School.

Last year nearly 250 elementary pupils in the city attended the school. It is expected that even more parents will avail themselves of this opportunity for extending school experiences for their children during the coming summer season.

'Open House' At Homestead Next Sunday

"Old-fashioned hospitality" will be the keynote of the April Open House of the Jackson Homestead scheduled Easter Sunday from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. at the Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton.

Featured will be the original of the oldest hand-drawn map of Newton, which may be seen hanging on the dining room wall. The map, dating from 1714, shows the location of the less than 200 houses then comprising the town of Newton. This map has been skillfully preserved and framed by the Fogg Museum at Harvard University.

Budget Position

Says Percentage Ratio Has Varied Not More Than 5% In Last 20 Years

Declaring that "a decent respect to the opinions of the citizens requires that the School Committee should declare facts and the fiscal policy of the Committee," the members on Tuesday, issued a statement explaining their position in respect to the budgetary expenses of the city.

In the statement, it was pointed out by the committee that its budget for 1954 was only 33.3 percent of the total budget of the city while for this year, it was only 33.77 percent and that "this ratio has not varied more than 5 percent in the last twenty years."

The statement issued by the School Committee, in its entirety, says:

"Publication of the Newton budget for 1955 has been accompanied by statements in the press, some of them attributed to city officials, concerning School Department expenses. A decent respect to the opinions of the citizens requires that the School Committee should declare facts and the fiscal policy of the Committee.

"The total budgetary expenses of the city in 1954 were $12,966,345.68, of which $4,324,544.33, or 33.3%, was spent by the School Department. The budget for 1955 calls for $13,-

Future of City to Be Told April 14

A "Portrait of Newton" is the subject to be discussed at the Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Council on April 14 at the City Hall. Color slides with a narration entitled "This Is Your City" will open the program followed by a talk by Mayor Whitmore, who will cite some of the changes he has seen take place while growing up, attending the Newton schools, Harvard College, as President of the High School Alumni Association, a state legislator and now as our Mayor.

Then there will be a typical committee meeting of the Community Characteristics Committee, originally known as Operation Education, which has spent the past two years gathering all kinds of little known, but most important and interesting facts and figures which make our city what it is today. The committee is under the chairmanship of Harvey F. Kazmier and other committee members who will participate in the program are: Lawrence Anderson, Secretary; Mrs. Seymour Getter, Mrs. Abraham Karff, Mrs. Gertrude Locke, Dr. Anthony Nemethy, Sociology professor at the Newton College of Sacred Heart where students are doing social research work for the com-

Army of Local Volunteers Plans Cancer Drive Canvass

A small army of Newton volunteers, part of the largest number of workers in the history of the American Cancer Society, are busily seeking donations throughout April to help finance the far-flung research, education and treatment programs of the national society.

With Police Chief Philip Purcell at the helm of this year's Cancer Crusade locally, plans are rapidly progressing for a house-to-house canvass on Tuesday, April 26. This will mark the first time that Cancer Crusade volunteers have rung doorbells in their battle against the disease responsible for one out of every seven deaths in the United States.

At Chief Purcell's side during the month-long campaign is the vice-chairman, Dr. Gerald G. Garcelon of Chestnut Hill. Honorary vice-chairman is Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., with Wilfred Chagnon of Newton as the honorary vice-chairman. Handling public relations for the drive is Denholm M. Jacobs of Waban, and the treasurer is William H. Rice of the Newton Centre Savings Bank.

Also lending their support to the drive are many public-spirited local merchants, who have joined their forces to sponsor a plea for funds to battle the dread killer. Their generous contribution to the campaign of an attractive full-page advertisement appears inside this week's issue.

State goal of the 1955 Cancer Crusade is $900,000, and an encouraging start has already been made toward that aim, ac-

Friday Services At Union Church Feature Singer

The Good Friday Service at Union Church in Waban will be built around a group of negro spirituals, sung by Mrs. Arimae Burrell, which tell of the Passion of our Lord.

Mrs. Burrell, a contralto, has been a pupil of noted Boston singer Roland Hayes. She made her debut in Jordan Hall in 1953 and has done much concert work since that time, including another recital at the hall last November.

Spirituals on the 8 p.m. program are "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child," "The Last Supper," "They Led My Lord Away,' "He Never Said a Mumberlin' Word," "Were You There?" and "Peace I Leave with You." Mrs. Burrell will be accompanied by Earl Weidner, organist and choir director at the Union Church.

Fire Marshal Investigates Blaze in Mill

The state fire marshal was asked to investigate the cause of an early-morning blaze yesterday (Wednesday) after a spectacular fire roared through one of the buildings of the Rohmer Wool Scoring Company at 197 California street, Newton.

Flames completely gutted the two-story wooden building and sent columns of heavy smoke swirling hundreds of feet into the air. Following discovery of the fire at 12:47 a. m., second

Dorm–

Much opposition to the dormitory had been registered by Tudor road residents at a hearing on the permit to build. Neighbors of the dorm were mainly concerned with the possible effect on their property values, and questioned whether there might not be increased noise and traffic.

To satisfy the objectors, Chairman William R. Mattson of the Claims and Rules attached four provisions to the permit. First, the building will be set back 80 feet from Tudor road, with showers, toilets and stairways in the back; second, it will be constructed of red brick and stone, will not exceed three stories in height, and there will be a pathway no wider than 10 feet from the center of the building to the road; third, the stone wall along Tudor road will either be extended across the front of the property or a hedge of equal height will be planted, the land will be "suitably landscaped" and there will be no parking allowed in front; and fourth, Jesuit prefects will always be living on all floors to give strict supervision of the students.

The dormitory is planned in three sections, explained Mattson. First to be constructed is the center unit housing 90 boys, and additions at either side will eventually expand the building for 200 students. He noted the building would be "supervised closely, as all Jesuit dormitories are."

Alderman Sharf, whose motion postponed the vote, declared that the two-week delay had allowed the objectors to discuss the project with college officials, and were satisfied that the restrictions outlined would overcome the bad features of having a dormitory in a residential district.

Doubt was expressed whether the restrictions would last long if taken to court, but Mattson said he felt sure Boston College would live up to the "gentleman's agreement." He admitted, though, that under a state law "broadly interpreted" the college could build the dormitory even if the permit was refused. The alderman said he had "every faith that the college authorities will abide" with the wishes of the board.

Dr. Margaret Henrichsen to Speak Here

Dr. Margaret K. Henrichsen, author of "Seven Steeples" will be the speaker at the W.S.C.S. meeting at the Newton Methodist Church at 8 p.m., Tuesday, April 12.

Mrs. Henrichsen entered the Methodist ministry after the death of her husband, and for the past nine years has served churches near Ellsworth, Maine.

Her book, "Seven Steeples" has been widely read and was reviewed by Life magazine.

The Newton West league covers the area bounded by Washington St. at Harrington St., westward to the Woodland railroad station, along the railroad to the Charles river at Auburndale, along the river to the Waltham line, along the Waltham line to North St

The new Newton Central League will cover the area between Commonwealth Ave., and Washington St., not included in the other two leagues. The boundaries are the south side of Washington St., from Church Street to Commonwealth to the Brighton line, from the Brighton line at Franklin Street to Center Street to Church Street.

Tryouts will be held on each Saturday during the month of April. Candidates who do not attend at least 50 per cent of the tryout sessions will be disqualified. It is important that all boys attend all tryouts.

When the tryouts are completed the team rosters for the four teams in each league will be selected by the player auction system. Each team manager will enter the auction armed with 36,000 "credits" to "buy" his ball club. The Players Agent of the league acts as the auctioneer and the team managers bid for the players. The player goes to the highest bidder.

Each team will be made up of 15 players. To maintain balance among the teams there is a limit of five 12 year old boys and five 11 year olders on each team. The remaining five players must be 10 years old or younger.

munity; Mrs. J. Lawrence Oncley and Mrs. J. Zimmer. There will be two guests at the committee meeting from the Chamber of Commerce, John B. Rubenstein, President and Frank B. Battles, Jr. a director.

When a city reaches the 100,000 population mark, certain well known pitfalls occur and as Newton is rapidly approaching that number, a citizen's committee was formed to gather the facts on the present status in Newton, to evaluate the various aspects and to ascertain ways in which to maintain its present excellent reputation as the Garden City. The Committee has explored such areas as: zoning, housing, the number of clubs and organizations, leisure time facilities, the number and types of religious groups, the teen-age population and what the people of Newton read.

The discussion which will take place will be related and a logical follow-up of the League of Women Voters' meeting on Newton's future, which was held March 29.

Those present at the meeting will have a chance to "Rate Your City" by answering Yes or No to 40 key questions.

Dr. Leo Barry, President of the Community Council will preside and there will be ample opportunity for questions from the floor.

This is an open meeting for the public and everyone interested in Newton's future is welcome and urged to attend.

Volunteers–

cording to early reports made to Michael T. Kelleher, state chairman.

"Reports indicate," said Kelleher, "that contributions are running ahead of previous years. However, it is still far too early to make any definite predictions. I do know, though, that we have a record number of workers, and that we have an organizational set in all communities of the Commonwealth that is going to show splendid results when the returns are compiled."

The 1955 Cancer Crusade, which officially opened Friday, actually got under way with a pre-campaign luncheon in Boston to enlist the support of leading citizens of the state. At that time, Archbishop Richard J. Cushing gave the campaign his unqualified support, urging contributions to preserve "the lives of unnumbered thousands from that grim reaper, cancer."

The Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society is seeking $900,000 to reduce the staggering toll of lives annually claimed by cancer through a three-way program:

Research to increase knowledge of the cause, cure and diagnosis of the disease.

Public and professional education so that doctors and the man on the street can be warned of the symptons, latest treatment and dangers of cancer through special films, public talks and information centers.

Gifts and loans of sick room equipment, financial support of clinics, aid to patients whose funds have become exhausted, support of cancer detection centers and assistance in providing nursing home care for advanced cases.

The society estimated that some 230,000 Americans died from the ravages of cancer last year. But — on the more hopeful side — more than 75,000 persons were cured during the same period of the disease once considered "incurable."

Great strides are being made almost every day in overcoming cancer's threat, yet research must continue at ever-expanding levels to make this disease less of a threat than it is today. Cancer will strike four out of every 16 people. Of these four, one will be saved. One who could have been saved by seeing a doctor at an earlier date will die, and two others will succumb from types of cancer which future research must control.

Residents are asked to give freely to the cancer crusade, especially when neighbors come knocking at the door April 26, so that the day will not be too far away when science can finally claim the complete conquest of cancer.

MONDAY thru SATURDAY

Movie to Benefit UN Children's Fund

Newton will become the first community in the United States to have a benefit performance of the new Danny Kaye film "Assignment Children," story of the United Nations Children's Fund, Monday, April 18, and Tuesday, April 19, mornings at the Newton Theatre in West Newton Square.

The film, which Danny Kaye traveled 40,000 miles to produce, will be shown on the joint sponsorship of the World Affairs Council, Newton School Department, and the Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. On the same program will be the popular film also featuring Danny Kaye, "Hans Christian Anderson." Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., honorary chairman of the World Affairs Council, will speak briefly at the Monday performance.

"Assignment Children" stars Kaye as a modern Pied Piper traveling through the lands of the Far East to observe the job which UNICEF — the United Nations Children's Fund — is performing as an organization dedicated to the health and welfare of the world's underprivileged youngsters.

Last summer, as ambassador-at-large to the children of the world, he was assigned to make a motion picture of the various UNICEF activities in India, Burma, Siam, Hong Kong, Korea and Japan. And in the course of making "Assignment Children" he did a lot of other things as well. He dropped his popular comedian's guise to attend diplomatic receptions and spread the fame of UNICEF. He waded through rice paddies and helped push UNICEF jeeps out of mud holes. He brought smiles to children who had forgotten how to laugh. Wherever he went, the local children gathered to see the Hollywood funny man make faces, and stayed to hear UNICEF lecturers tell them, in their own tongues, how to avoid the deadly plagues of their underdeveloped lands, and to receive inoculations that would protect their skinny little bodies from tuberculosis, malaria, or the dreaded crippler, yaws.

Upon his return to the United States, Kaye, highly impressed with what he had seen, gave a full report of his observations to UNICEF and the United Nations. As a result of this film, he has received such honors as the Photoplay Achievement Award, the Parents' Magazine Family Medal Award, and the National Conference of Christians and Jews Award.

UNICEF, which will receive the proceeds from the two benefit performances, has been called the greatest child welfare effort of all time. It literally spells the difference between life and death to millions. It has concretely aided some 60,000,000 children in 72 countries, and is now reaching about 20,000 additional children every year. UNICEF is a cooperative effort; countries aided match the value of UNICEF supplies, spending an average of $3 for every $2 put up by the fund.

UNICEF helps fight disease. For example, yaws, the dread tropical disease which cripples children for life, claims 50,000,000 victims throughout the world. Yet one 15-cent shot of penicillin will cure a child in early stages. UNICEF is helping fight yaws in 11 countries. Malaria claims 300,000,000 victims a year. Modern insecticides, however, are making it possible virtually to wipe out the disease at a cost of 15 to 50 cents for each person protected. UNICEF supplies DDT, sprayers, and other equipment safeguarding millions and reclaiming countless acres of land for productive use. Today 34 countries are attacking malaria with UNICEF aid. Tuberculosis, which takes a toll of 5,000,000 annually, is being treated in 29 countries, where 28,000,000 children have been vaccinated.

More than half the world's children go to bed hungry every night. UNICEF combats malnutrition. It has shipped more than 2½ billion cupfuls of powdered milk for feeding programs in 18 countries. It is helping the people start their own milk drying plants. Emergency supplies for disaster victims in Korea, Japan, Greece, India, Pakistan, and Israel have been distributed.

Through the World Affairs Council UNICEF Committee, composed of Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, Mrs. Ralph R. Shrader, and Mrs. James H. Zimmer, and with the cooperation of the School Department and the P.T.A. Council, flyers giving information about the showing of the films and booklets describing the work of UNICEF have been distributed to all elementary and junior high schools in the city. These will be sent home with all the students. Tickets for adults or children will be sold at the schools, under the supervision of one mother at each school, on Wednesday, April 13.

Family Service Bureau Holds 66th Annual Meeting Here

The Family Service Bureau of Newton, Inc. recently held its 66th Annual Meeting at the Temple Emanuel on 385 Ward street, Newton Centre. The Family Service Bureau is a non-sectarian, Red Feather agency, which offers skilled consultation to all residents of the City of Newton who are troubled with personal or family problems.

A brief business meeting was held at which the following slate was presented and elected (Slate enclosed.)

Mrs. Catharine S. Holden, Excuitive Director, presented an Annual Report. Among other things, she called attention to the fact of the greatly increased numbers of requests for service from the agency, particularly during 1954. Mrs. Holden also stated that the Bureau very much regrets having to discontinue its Camp Program for at least the year 1955. Due to lack of funds the Chest has regretfully been forced to grant the Bureau considerably less than was requested for its 1955 Budget. This request represented the minimu mneeded to meet ever increasing demands from the community for its services. The Bureau, due to lack of funds and lack of staff time, will therefore be forced to cut its services to the Community wherever possible.

Oak Hill Park Woman's Club to Feature Creative Hats Next Monday

The April 11th meeting of the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club will provide a lively and informative parade of milady's hats, old and new. Helene Maxwell Dardis, will present this springtime event which is full of humor.

Following the business meeting and program the club members are requested to participate in a "Hedda Hopper" hat contest and wear their own special creations during the refreshment period. These hats will be judged for the most original, funniest and the most beautiful.

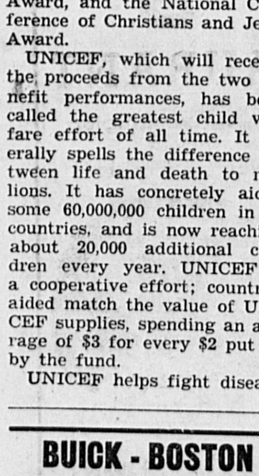

The evening was highlighted by the first public showing in Greater Boston of the new film entitled "Family Affairs." This was sponsored jointly by the Mental Health Board and the Family Service Association of American, of which the local Family Service Bureau is one of two hundred and sixty members in cities thorughout the country.

Allan Duff, director of Newton Civil Defense will be the special guest and will discuss preparations which have been made to protect the Newton area.

Mrs. Daniel J. Shea, Jr., will be refreshment hostess for the evening.

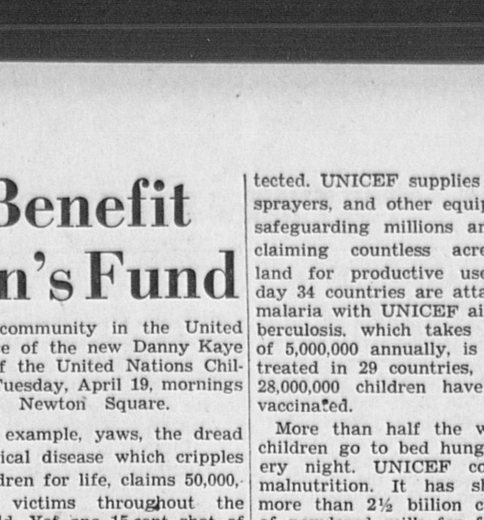

Club members are reminded to buy their buffet supper tickets for the annual meeting at the May 11th meeting.

An Active Chapter

Newton is fortunate to have a large and active chapter of the League of Women Voters. Its members have carried on an outstanding job of informing the citizens of Newton as to what is going on in the local government.

This non-partisan organization, with its splendid record of stimulating interest, clarifying issues, and encouraging independent thinking, is dedicated to making women aware of the important roles they play in the political scene. It is dedicated to making them and their menfolk also—play this role intelligently and actively.

Last week was the start of the league's annual finance campaign. As an interested citizen of Newton surely you will want to support the activities of so deserving an organization. The league is asking for your support so that it might continue its services to us. Let's get behind them so that we might avail ourselves in the future of their continued good work.

To Balance the Budget

Government spending can be cut to bring about a balanced budget for the next fiscal year. These four steps are being urged:

Elimination of proposed new programs which have not yet been authorized by legislation;

Cutting of grants to states, as an initial step toward transferring these programs to ultimate full state responsibility;

Elimination, suspension or curtailment of expenditures for specified civilian functions;

Cutting remaining expenditures 5 percent except military and interest on the public debt.

These cuts in government spending would total $3,195,000,000, according to authorative sources more than enough to avoid the estimated deficit of $2,400,000,000.

Earlier this year, one faction within the Republican party tested out the possibility of firing Elmer Nelson from the chairmanship of the GOP State Committee, and a State Senator even declared in a speech that Nelson should be given the heave-ho.

The matter was threshed out in privacy so quietly and effectively that by the time a meeting of the committee was held Nelson was given a unanimous vote on confidence, and most Republicans wouldn't even admit they were aware there had been any trouble.

Since Messrs. John C. Carr of Medford and William H. Burke, Jr., of Hatfield became involved in their fight for the Democratic State Committee chairmanship, it has been a case of getting the women and children back and having ambulances ready for the wounded.

Not only was the matter carried to the highest court in Masachusetts, but a Supreme Court justice appointed by former Governor Dever was even called upon to disqualify himself from sitting on the case.

Now Governor's Councillor Patrick J. McDonough and other Democratic leaders are trying to inject a little sense into the situation and tone down a battle which, after more than a month, is obviously hurting their party.

Burke has yielded to their demands, but Carr so far has refused to do so and apparently is going ahead with a Supreme Court petition which Burke has promised he will not contest.

As far as Burke is concerned, the truce will be a short-lived one because he intends to press his battle among the members of the Democratic State Committee.

The upshot of this conflict is likely to be that Carr and Burke will fight themselves out, that both of them finally will be asked to stand aside and someone else placed in the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee.

Governor Herter might do well to consider the possibility of hiring some hard-boiled retired army officer to serve as warden of the new State prison in Norfolk.

Whatever else is or isn't true about the State penitentiary in Charlestown, one thing that is certain is that the morale among the officers at the institution is at a dangerously low ebb.

This isn't a condition that has developed during the Herter regime. It had its beginning years ago. But it has now exploded into the open, posing a serious problem as to what should be done about it.

It's always difficult to pinpoint the responsibility for such a situation, particularly when conflicting statements come from guards and their superiors, but in this instance it seems evident that both groups are at fault in some degree.

Startling and shocking charges made by the guards in an interview with reporters, during which they indicted just about everybody connected with the prison except themselves, were undoubtedly exaggerated to a certain extent. But there also was some basis of truth to them.

There is little question but that the officers in charge of the Charlestown State prison depend more than they should on strong-arm criminals to maintain quiet and order and that the convicts have reached the stage where they think they are practically in charge of some phases of the operation of the institution.

Neither is there any real doubt that some laxity has existed on the part of the very guards who are so critical of their own superiors and that the alertness of the guards responsible for the Cherry Hill cellblock prior to the January revolt left a great deal to be desired.

One reason a delegation of guards held a press conference and issued sensational allegations was to halt an inquiry into the fact that some of their own members hold outside jobs and report for duty at the prison before or after working somewhere else. That, incidentally, is forbidden by the penitentiary regulations.

On the one hand it's obvious that the guards in Cherry Hill didn't pay much attention to the four desperadoes, when they were sawing their cell bars last January, and on the other it's incredible to discover that the prison officials had a tip-off on the attempted escape but took no special precautions.

The information that has been uncovered since the January rebellion reveals that Messrs. Green, Balben, Swensen and Flaherty not only could have walked out onto the street, if they had taken one more guard captive, but that they could also have freed all the convicts in the prison, if they had desired to do so.

The guards believe—and they probably know what they are talking about—that it's probably only a matter of time before the desperadoes at Charlestown attempt another escape.

That likelihood is increased by the fact that the one promise the committee made, when it negotiated the truce last January with the men barricaded in Cherry Hill, was that it would endeavor to see that they were returned to the main prison population by March 15.

This can be termed a "deal," if one chooses to use the term, but all it really meant was that the committee members would try to see that convicts got an early trial on the charges stemming from their attempted breakout.

If it was a "deal," the price paid for ending the revolt, in which the lives of five guards and a number of hostage inmates were in jeopardy, was not a heavy or exorbitant one.

But the committee members haven't been able to make good on their promise. The four desperadoes are still in Cherry Hill, and they presumably have the feeling that the committee which negotiated their surrender hasn't made faith with them.

This situation arises from the fact that the Suffolk County Grand Jury has not indicted anyone in connection with the prison outbreak, and the four convicts are still technically being held in Cherry Hill security cells, pending trial, which may never take place, an arrangement which doesn't make much sense.

The far-reaching troublesome problem lands eventually in Governor Herter's lap, and one of the several vital decisions he must make in connection with it is the selection of the man who will serve as warden of the new prison at Norfolk.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Easter, the most joyous of the Christian festivals, is named for a pagan goddess, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Before Christianity reached the Angles and Saxons, they held a festival in honor of Eostre, or Ostara, the goddess of spring, every April. With the advent of Christianity, however, the festival was celebrated in honor of the resurrection of Christ.

The date on which Easter must fall was determined according to the traditional regulation of the council of Nice, from the following conditions: Easter must be celebrated on a Sunday; this Sunday must follow the 14th day of the paschal moon, so that if the 14th of the paschal moon falls on a Sunday then Easter must be celebrated on the Sunday following; the paschal moon is that of which the 14th day falls on or next follows the day of the vernal equinox; the equinox is fixed invariably in the calendar on the 21st of March. Therefore, Easter Sunday cannot happen earlier than the 22nd of March, or later than the 25th of April.

Many of our Easter customs have been passed down through the ages — the practice of eating eggs on Easter Sunday probably arose from the early days of the church when the eating of eggs was forbidden during Lent. and therefore greatly looked forward to at the end of that season. The ancient Egyptians and Persians also practiced the custom of coloring and eating eggs during their spring festival — the egg being the symbol of fertility and renewed life. The color red used in dying eggs has been variously interpreted as signifying the sun, fire, the blood of Christ shed on Calvary and the joy of Easter. The use of purple is considered a sign of royalty, and therefore suitable to honor Christ, the King.

The Easter Bunny also came to Christianity from antiquity, the hare being associated with the moon in the legends of ancient Egypt, and being symbolic of abundant life because they bear so many young during the course of a year.

The idea of the new Easter outfit may revert to the old belief that it was considered unlucky not to wear some new article of clothing or personal decoration on Easter; or it may spring from the idea that Eastertide is the time of casting off the old and the beginning of the new.

Budget—

864,503.03, of which $4,681,518.00, or 33.77%, is the share appropriated to the School Department. This ratio has not varied more than 5% in the last twenty years.

TURN BACK $49,285

"The city budget rose 6.86% over expenditures of 1954; the school's share by 8.25% The amounts which actually will be spent in 1955 will vary from the budget. The School Department turned back $49,285.10 to the city for 1954, and will, if possible, effect savings over the present budget, but cannot yet confidently predict where they can be made—much less in what amount. It should be borne in mind that the Committee's budget planning necessarily occurred in November, 1954, and involved the academic year 1955-1956 before the current school year was well under way.

"The School Committee's meetings on the budget were held on November 5, 10, 15, 17, and 29, and most of them extending well after midnight. It is possible that the amount of effort spent by this Committee and the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen, both of which must do this work outside of usual business hours, has not generally been realized.

"The cost per pupil in the Newton schools in the year 1950-1951 was $262.54, and in 1953-1954 was $297.98. In the 1953-1954 school year, the latest year for which data for other communities are available, Newton's per pupil cost was exceeded by Brookline ($369), Cambridge ($350), Salem ($310), and Belmont ($307), and by more than a score of smaller communities. If we have 600 more children in September, 1955, as we now expect, our cost per pupil may reach $316, depending on what other city departments spend on school buildings, grounds, and health services, and how much we are able to return to the city at the close of the fiscal year. School costs rise as a result of increased costs of every item for which we have to pay.

"References have been made to the removal of a proposed "Art Court" from plans of the Spaulding School. No "Art Court" was included in these plans. The plans for the Meadowbrook Junior High School, which were approved by the School Committee, did include an outside area, adjacent to the art room, bounded on three sides by exterior walls of the building. This area was labelled an "Art Court" to suggest its convenient use by art classes in good weather Paving and benches were planned to facilitate such use. The benches and a low concrete wall were eliminated from the plans by the Board of Aldermen, thus effecting a saving of $2,275 in a project of $1,992,000. The enclosed area remains.

"So much for details which have been brought to public attention. We desire to state the policies without which these details have little meaning.

RESPONSIBLE TO CITIZENS

"For its operating budget the School Committee is responsible only to the citizens. Of this budget, about 70.6% covers salaries of teachers. It is well known that the supply of teachers is diminishing and the number of children increasing. Obviously, the result is a constant increase in the salary schedules and costs of communities competing for teachers with other communities and with business and industry. In this situation your Committee raised the minimum salary in the Newton schedule to $3,200 for beginning women teachers and, refusing an "across-the-board" increase requested, did make adjustments to keep in equitable relation the pay of teachers we already have and those we seek to hire. Before our minimum salary was raised, there were 28 Massachusetts communities offering the same or higher salaries for beginning teachers. To get good teachers we have to search within an ever-widening arc.

"The Committee's task would be relatively easy if it chose on the one hand to ignore costs and actively out-bid all other communities for the best teachers; or if on the other hand it chose to hold costs constant and let educational standards deteriorate. Although the Committee has felt constricted from attempting to meet the highest salaries paid teachers and principals, we have followed a policy of setting salaries at levels which we hope will enable us to attract better than average personnel. We consider that inadequate wages to mediocre people would be poor economy and a betrayal of our responsibility to the children, and hence to the community.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION

"The Committee's responsibility as to schoolhouse construction is to notify the Board of Aldermen when school buildings are required. Thereupon, the Board should, and does, consult with the Committee concerning construction of the building requested. Our Committee cannot dictate the time or type of construction. The various bodies having jurisdiction have cooperated in getting erected—and the citizens have supported—a large number of new schools in Newton at a time when many communities lack sufficient facilities.

"The 'taste' of this Committee at the present time is best represented by the addition to the Franklin School. We like it because its rooms are well-lighted, well arranged, have pleased those who use them, and cost less to build. We believe that the country is at the brink of a radical change in attitudes toward school construction, and that future buildings will be made of lighter materials which will last as long as they may be needed or wanted in the place and form in which they are built. We have been given to understand that for various reasons the Franklin type of construction, though recommended by architects and contractors of merit, is not yet favored by some other governmental agencies for reasons which to them are compelling. But we nevertheless find comfort in the remarks of Governor Herter at the Governor's Conference on Local, State and County Relationships, held last July at Amherst, which were as follows: "If one large city finds, as it has, that it can build an elementary school addition that is educationally excellent for a mere $13,000 per classroom, is it not the responsibility of other communities to find out how it can be done?" We do not pretend that the Franklin addition represents all the answers to current problems in school architecture; but we hope it may point the way to fresh inquiry into different and less costly ways to provide adequate schools.

POLICY STATED

"In brief, we favor spending whatever we must to get and keep good teachers. That policy is reflected in our budget and for it we accept our responsibility to the public. We favor saving whatever we can by suggesting new types of schoolhouse construction. That policy is but one factor in the decision as to what the city will build. We will continue our efforts to work in harmony with all other officials, and believe we can rely on them to meet with us on the same friendly basis which has long characterized good government in Newton."

For the Newton School Committee.

and third alarms were sounded at intervals of 10 minutes.

Firefighters from Waltham, Belmont and Watertown joined the local department in battling the smoky blaze which smouldered almost until the daylight hours.

Starting from an unknown cause, the fire swept through the building housing the mill office, sorting room and "morgue," where used burlap bags, remnants of wool and other non-essential items are stored. A screen of water thrown up by firemen protected adjacent buildings containing wool processing machinery and bags of wool.

The mill has been idle for over a week after the 70 employees, members of the Textile Workers Union of America, A. F. of L., walked out in a labor dispute.

Bits From Bigelow

The Red Cross is playing an important role at Bigelow this year. The council, under the sponsorship of Mr. Beattie, is made up of two representatives from each homeroom. These representatives plan activities and conduct drives in individual homerooms.

From November first to fifteenth, the Enrollment Drive was held. Penny Day, Tag Day, and Homeroom Auctions helped to make this drive a success. A banner was awarded to the homeroom which conducted the most successful campaign. Room 216 won the banner.

The next project was the filling of gifts boxes. These boxes were packed with toys, educational items, and personal articles to be sent to needy children abroad. Bigelow filled 464 boxes. Again room 216 took the prize for the most boxes filled. Room 109 was second.

The officers of the Red Cross are all ninth graders. They are President, Patty Howard; Vice-President, Janice Rose; Secretary, Barbara Fleischer; and Treasurer, Russell King.

The editor is Esther Wax, a ninth grade student, and the business manager is an eighth grader, Kay Sternfeld.

The Bigelow Bee contains articles and stories written by by members the magazine staff, and also carries contributions submitted by the student body. The magazine features crossword puzzles, games, and cartoons in addition to articles concerning school activities. The Bigelow Bee costs only five cents a copy and is published four times a year.

During November and December, all girls played volleyball. In the 7th grade, the championship went again to room 107. In the 8th grade, the banner went to room 10, and room 122 won the ninth grade honors. The three winning homerooms were invited to attend a volleyball tournament at Weeks Jr. High School. Now all the girls are playing basketball The winning 9th grade homeroom has just been announced. Room 122 will get banner. The 7th and 8th grade have not yet finished playing their games.

Basketball

Now that the basketball season is over, the varsity team can tally its record as three wins and six losses. Due to a great deal of illness, Coach Anderson's team faced many difficulties. At one game, only seven varsity boys were present.

The starting team was Snider, center; Gleason and Rakow, forwards; and Howard and Myers, guards. The substitutes were Nellos, Needell, Swerling, Currier and Devore. Although only one veteran will be returning, Coach Anderson is looking forward to a better season next year.

Under the direction of Coach Grainger, the junior varsity started out as the most feared J.V. in the league. Going into their sixth game, they had a record of five wins and no losses. However, then they met Watertown West, they lost their first game, a defeat which was followed by three more losses making the final record five wins and four losses.

Legislature Dance

The N. H. S. Legislature sponsored its fourth dance of the year at the Newton High Gym on Saturday evening, March 26. The Crystal Ball theme was carried out in the form of a massive glass ball hanging from the center of the gym with colored lights focused on it. Blue and white were the colors used for the decorations.

Lulu Martel was the General Chairman and Mr. James Boyd the Faculty Adviser.

Senior Prom Committee

The first meeting of the newly appointed Senior Prom Committee was held Friday, March 25 to discuss arrangements for the dance on June 9. The chairman is Anthony J. Mediaglia. Members, all from the senior class, are:

Lenore Cirilano, Barbara Geiger, Caroll Olton, Cecelia Roach, Lynn Weeks, John Geraci, Donny Lane, Bill Seagal.

Newton in State Festival

Newton High School was selected with ten other schools to compete in the Massachusetts Drama Festival at John Hancock Hall in Boston on April 1 and 2. Newton won this honor at the Preliminary State Festival in Franklin, Massachusetts. Similar festivals were held in Reading, Gardner, and Wellesley. Thirty schools were entered in the Preliminary State Festival.

Newton's play was Act III of "Mary of Scotland." Mr. William Spink and Miss Ryan are the directors. The cast is as follows: Queen Mary—Nancy Hedrick; Elizabeth — Ann Harris; Mary Heaton—Barbara Kaplan; Mary Fleming—Camile Baller; Lord Ruthven—Chuck Fogarty; Lord Moray — Arnie Prives; Lord Maitland—Harvey Smith; Jamie—Mel Weinraub. The student director is Elaine Pransky. Three Newton players were selected on the all Regional Cast. They are Camile Baller, Nancy Hedrick, Ann Harris.

"Mary of Scotland" is a long play; therefore, only Act III could be presented by Newton. In the play, Queen Mary is held in prison by Elizabeth. Her brother, Lord Moray, requests her abdication from the throne. Mary refuses and is cast into prison for the rest of her life.

The Massachusetts State Festival started on Friday evening, April 1, when Cambridge High and Latin School presented "The Taming of the Shrew;" Medford High played "Her Other Husband;" Reoding High did "The Man Bowler Hat;" Newton High presented "Act III of Mary of Scotland."

Saturday afternoon, April 2, the second portion started. Windsor Mount School played "Obituary;" Gardner High High "Mooncalf Mugford;" Durfee of Fall River did "Man of Destiny."

At the third portion on Saturday evening St. Sebastian Country Day School, "Hasty Heart;" Hudson High, "Tomorrow's Vengeance;" Lynn of Being Important."

The two winners of the Festival will attend the New England Drama Festival in Marblehead, Massachusetts on April 22 and 23; they will compete with other state champion entrants for this title. Last year, Newton High School won the New England Drama Festival with the play "This Way to Heaven."

The Boston Globe arranged free transportation for the Boulder Exchange Group from Boulder, Colorado. They attended the Massachusetts Drama Festival as guests of the Boston Globe, which sponsors the Drama Festivals and has done so for several years to help defray the expenses of putting on such an event.

Music Club

The guest celebrity at the March meeting of the Newton High Music Club was Mr. A. Flagler Fultz, outstanding pioneer in the field of music therapy, President of the National Association for Music Therapy, Chairman of the Department of Music Therapy at the New England Conservatory of Music, and Director of Musical Guidance.

His fascinating lecture was preceded by a short business meeting, called to order by the club president, Dick Scipione. The treasurer's and secretary's reports were then read by John Chacran and Chuck Olton respectively.

Mr. Henry Lasker, Music Club adviser then introduced Mr. Fultz and his assistant, Mrs. Whitney.

The audience was startled by the reports of progress in this new field of occupational therapy, for the results with psychopathics, paraplegics, and criminals have been miraculous.

Mr. Fultz explained that music therapy has been used successfully in many hospitals instead of shock treatment, and is an excellent device in drawing antisocial patients into group relationships. Music is not for the artist alone, but for everyone; it serves as a vital means of communication, helping one to express inner feelings more adeptly than verbal outlets allow.

By the use of slides and records, Mr. Fultz poignantly illustrated the techniques and progress in music therapy. He stressed the need for more young people in this growing occupation, which is open to those who are able to meet the requirements and are willing to dedicate themselves to the service of mankind.

Newton Sports

Newton High's rebuilt baseball diamond—the Fenway Park of Greater Boston schools—had its baptism of fire Tuesday afternoon as the Tigers got off to a good start with a 3-2 victory over Medford . . . City officials rededicated the diamond in brief ceremonies preceding the game, and then Newton and Medford squared off in a non-league game which brought the baseball season into Greater Boston. In contrast to the windy, cold openers of past years, Tuesday's game was played in perfect weather. Only as the sun settled behind West Newton hill did the temperature drop below a comfortable level . . . Neither team showed much in the line of hitting and all five runs in the game were unearned as Newton first tried to hand the decision to the visitors and Medford later returned the favor, with another run added as interest on the loan . . . As usual, the Tigers drew a full complement of Boston sportswriters. This year, however, the writers were not able to manufacture a no-hitter, as they did in the 1954 opener when the in-town papers carried a story that Newton's hurlers combined for a no-hitter and lost 1-0. A slow grounder that they called an error—officially scored as a hit—was blamed on three different players by each Hub writer.

The Boston writers still managed to double the Mustang's hit total by turning a ground ball to Newton's second sacker a safety, even though the ball went between the fielder's legs . . . The error—and that's what it went into the official books as—drove in Medford's two tallies in the second frame.

The runs were set up when Newton's starting hurler, Billy Reilly, was touched for an error and a single, with the hitter moving to second when the throw from left field came into the plate . . . The single, a slow liner into left center, was Medford's lone bingle, and nobody else even came close. The disputed error was a fairly hard-hit ball to the right of second base. Chuck Fogarty moved quickly in front of it but didn't get his glove down in time to snare the ball . . . Reilly, outstanding as a football end and defenseman-forward in hockey, showed his versatility by moving to right field after his three-inning stint on the mound, and then moved behind the plate for the final two frames . . . Ralph Vento pitched three innings after Reilly, and Russ Halloran moved over from first base for an impressive showing in the last two innings before the game was called with Newton at bat in the last of the eighth . . . Halloran, boasting a sharp curve and a blazing fast ball, completely baffled the Mustang hitters. In the seventh inning, he threw only nine pitches in striking out the side. He followed this in the eighth with three more strikes for his fourth "K." Russ then divided two throws outside the strike zone between the next two batters, but also left them swinging at the breeze. Not bad: 18 strikes out of 20 pitches.

Newton's win was fashioned on the generosity of the second Mustang hurler. Starter Bill Monbouquette, who was in and out of trouble through his five innings on the mound, managed to hold Newton scoreless thanks to fine support from his teammates . . . But the players could save Santo Bernado, who got through one frame before falling apart.

One out was sandwiched among three walks to set up the rally. Newton's chances looked great when the Tigers' tremendous-hitting centerfielder, Willard Hamill, came to bat . . . Billy took one pitch, then lashed a drive into short center. The Mustang centerfielder came galloping in, got the ball in his glove, then tripped over his own feet and dropped the ball. This brought in one run and left the bases loaded . . . Halloran then walked to force in the tying run, and Reilly lifted a long hoist to left center for the winning marker. The best hit ball of the inning was a drive far out in left field by Stan Chamberlain, but the fielder sped back to take it over his head to end the inning . . . Although the rally came on four walks, an error and no hits, Newton's performance at the plate showed improvement over last year's feeble batting. The Tigers managed to gather five bingles and also got good wood on the ball to keep the outfielders busy . . . With Reilly and Halloran bearing the brunt of the hurling, and Vento—with a little improvement—adding his share, the Tigers should present a well-balanced pitching staff. Also, Howie Whitmore, lanky son of Newton's mayor, might show enough to give Coach Ferguson a "big four" for a pitching staff—practically unheard-of in schoolboy circles, where one outstanding hurler can bring in a championship, as Ron McGinnity—who will be back this year—did for Cambridge Latin last season.

--- News of the Day ---

On Wednesday evening, March 30th, the Frank Ashley, Day Junior High School held its Annual Open House and Science Fair. It was a very constructive, educational and inspiring evening for it demonstrated some of the many activities carried on.

On the top floor, the Art Room was open to the public to see students doing all types of art work including clay modeling, carving, and painting. The Math Club displayed its various math games which it has made this year. Mr. Julian Alexander and Miss Marguerite Lougee were the sponsors of these two activities.

The first floor was overflowing with activities. In the Food Lab, the Boys' Chef Club held a cake baking contest. The girls sewed on skirts, dresses, and blouses in the Clothing Lab.

The Visual Aids Club showed movies on science, while the physical education classes demonstrated various games in the Boys' Gym.

Boys were making wooden bread boards and hammers in the General Shop, while the "Daytonian," Day's monthly school newspaper, and stationery was being printed in the Graphic Arts Shop.

A very popular spot was the cafeteria, where refreshments were sold. The proceeds from this sale, will help pay for the "Daytonian" for one year. The sale was a big success. Parents, teachers, and students helped contribute to this worthwhile activity.

The Science Fair filled the aduitorium and girls' gym. Students from the 7th, 8th, and 9th grade science classes entered all types of displays. Many feel that this was the most successful science fair to be held. Day Junior High School is happy to announce the following science winners.

Liquid Fertilizer Proves Great Aid To Healthy Lawns

Thousands of families will have greener, more healthy lawns this summer, thanks to a new plan for convenient and inexpensive lawn fertilization. Throughout the East, families are being offered a chance to have their lawns fertilized for them accurately, scientifically, and at a cost of less than that of doing it themselves.

The Virilium Corporation of Medway, Mass., manufacturers of Virilium liquid fertilizer, has teamed up with key fuel oil companies to handle the application of their product. Trained applicators spray the fertilizer on the lawn during the growing months, usually in four applications, between April and September. Since all fertilizers are expended within six weeks of applications, a series of applications is required to keep up the lawn's nutritive level.

The formulation of Virilium is no secret: 12 per cent nitrogen; 8 per cent available phosphoric acid; 4 per cent potash, and gardeners will recognize this as a real boost to lawns. The rate of application is such that each 1000 square feet of lawn gets more than one-half pound of nitrogen per application. Added to the formulation is Virilphyl, a compound which aids leaf absorption of the fertilizer, and eliminates plant burning. Virilium's liquid form guarantees that all the fertilizer will go into the soil, and not blown away or tracked into the house. Lawns actually take on a richer, darker color from within twenty-four hours after each feeding. The well-fed lawn resists weeds, drying out and wear, and makes expensive re-seeding unnecessary in many cases.

Amateur gardeners who rebel at the idea of spending long hours hauling, mixing and spreading fertilizer on their lawns, will welcome the Virilium program. Scientifically prepared, completely mixed and applied by experts, Virilium liquid fertilizer costs only $2.00 per thousand square feet for the average size lawn. Once the customers have signed up, the whole series of applications is done automatically, according to the needs of their lawns.

The Virilium program is available throughout the whole East through local fuel oil dealers. The name of the local dealer participating in the Virilium program can be obtained by writing to the Virilium Corp., Medway, Mass., Dept. 2, Virilium liquid fertilizer is available to homeowners in the Newton area through the Newton Oil Company, 1211 Washington street, Newton.

Spotlight on Weeks

THE LIBRARY COUNCIL

"Every Wednesday, at 2:15 in the library, the Library Council meets with Miss Pierce, the librarian, in order to improve the library and make it more efficient. Under the leadership of President Sue Holden, 214X, Vice President Steven Goldberg, 212M ,and Secretary Yvonne Baudin, 218M, the Library Council has made many improvements. One of these improvements is the slot in the side of the library desk where books are placed when returned. This insures the person who is returning the book that his name will be crossed off the card before the book is again taken out.

The Library Council is now composed of 26 members, it had only eighteen before it gained a representative in the Council. The Library Council is open to members of any grade who pass the requirement which is ten hours or ten periods of working in the library. This requirement is not necessary if the person is elected by his class or appointed by his teacher.

If you have been wondering where the money that you pay on over-due books goes, the Library Council gives part of it to various charities. The other part of the money is used to buy new books for the library. Usually the money is not a very large amount.

The Library Council now has membership cards which signify the person is a member. A member may get out of class if he has spare time and wishes to help Miss Pierce or work at the desk. The Library Council welcomes new members and is expanding rapidly."

MARCH OF DIMES

"This year the March of Dimes campaign wasn't as successful as last year. In a period of over two weeks the 1200 students at Weeks contributed only $60. We received a week's extension and did much better. This time $120 was contributed and then the Council gave an additional $50. Weeks came out with a total of $230. This is a good sum, for a great cause, but not as good as last year."

The Citizen and Planning for Newton's Future

(Remarks by L. F. Muther, Jr. at "Planning for Newton's Futu re" Panel of Newton League of Women Voters—March 29, 1955)

Robert Burns' comment on planning all too frequently comes true:

"The best laid schemes of mice and men
Gang aft agley," said he.

But it seems to me that it is better to have careful and thorough plans go awry than it is to have either weak or no plans at all, and I believe the history of modern cities bears me out.

My remarks tonight are more on the philosophical side than is usually expected of a Taxpayers' man. Yet I hope that even so they may prove worthy of your consideration as we discuss this matter of planning for Newton's future.

Two great areas of conflict run through every phase of man's life—first his fight against the land to make it productive to man's use; second his fight against himself or other men, either to have and to hold or to create and produce; Man against the land; Man against himself.

Each person must take time out from these continuing battles to take stock, refresh himself, and plan for the future. Similarly governments, being merely congregations of men, must do the same. So I welcome this opportunity to pause, take stock and help discuss planning for the future of our city.

In planning for Newton's future, it seems to me, we should first set ourselves some aims or goals. Each one of us, because his past has varied, and because his present condition in life is relative to that of his fellow-citizens, will come up with a different set of goals; but we may be able to find some aims we can agree upon for Newton. As a starting point, here would be some of mine.

I think the most important aims for Newton's future must relate to the future men of Newton. Let me tell you of three aims I would like to propose. They all do with people and attitudes.

The first aim is to keep Newton economically able, in short, a first class suburb financially. This relates peculiarly to land use, and good land use costs money in a first class suburb. The Mayor has spoken of the desire for new capital of a business nature. I would emphasize the need now for finding some way to attract new and preferably residential investment in our older residential areas — for much of the city is old. Ways must be found to gain new interest in old residential tracts. Our whole approach to zoning in older areas should be reviewed — to bring that material thing called money into more productive use on our land.

Now, as for attitudes, let me mention a single area where constructive action has paid well in the past—where the attitude taken was dynamic. The field is the field of transportation.

There is a precedent for the dynamic approach to our known and anticipated difficulties in the city's relationship to basic transport. We were lucky in the 1600's to have railroads when railroads were the crux of the transport game. In the 1890's however, our predecessors joined with the Boston and Albany and lowered the railroad tracks; they took the trolley tracks off Homer street to build a new street — Commonwealth avenue—and had enough foresight to make it beautiful too. When they built Washington street, they really made it wide for their time. They gave it just that little bit extra.

Similarly today in this field of transport, we must act with an attitude of courage and constructiveness now, just as our predecessors did in their day. Today we are lucky to be at the junction of Route 128 and the highways leading west. A timely seizing and channelling of the eastern end of the toll road might well turn a potential sword at our heart into the modern plowshare of a through way which in the future might be made a benefit to the city. I wonder if we can do it. It is a worthy challenge in our time. We must plan ways to give it that little bit extra.

In any event, my first goal is for a financially first class suburb.

The second aim for Newton, it seems to me, is to keep Newton intellectually a first class suburb. The peculiar advantage of the separate flavors of our various villages is an aid to the expression of that individuality we all treasure. I like to think that Newton men and women know their city well enough to appreciate the vital intellectual currents that give so much variety to the city.

This city is and has been both liberal and conservative, in the classical meaning of those terms. It has always produced able liberals and able conservatives simultaneously. Though many a battle has been fought by this city's sons as her men have struggled against each other either here or abroad in the land, there never has been any major attempt to consciously apply a common denominator of conformity in Newton as an alternative to being cast out. I hope Newton can retain such variety, and develop it further.

But that too costs money, for men who are economically afraid are often intellectually rigid, violent and fragmentary. The seal of this city has on it the words, "Liberty and Union." Let our future citizens continue to disagree but also retain the competence to respect their opponents in a common ability to respect each other, as man fights the battle against himself. I hope Newton remains intellectually a first class suburb.

The third goal I would try to plan for is to keep Newton a first class suburb in the realm of generosity. The ability to give from the product of the land we live on, from the product of the ideas we brighten in our rubbings against each other, is a great ability.

But what I really mean by this goal of generosity is to hope the city can retain an atmosphere to which able, yeasty men will want to come and in which to bring up their children. It is true that a great man can be generous even in his time of hardship, but here we are talking about congregations of men, groups of men in a municipal society. In such case, most people give easier from a store of surplus. In such a context it is my opinion that a worthy goal for a planner is to aim for a city where the urge to build, to create, to fight, to rise and fight again, to pray and translate prayer into meaningful action—to aim for a city where all these attitudes are encouraged, trained, and sent out into the world is a worthy goal.

That costs money. We have a tremendous amount of tax exempt land for instance. But Boston College, Andover Newton Theological, our temples, our churches are some of Newton's incubators for creative men, in the students themselves, but more especially by their influence on the latent or active creative forces in their fellow men. Now, I hope we can continue to produce in Newton enough creative laymen to be able to more than balance out whatever the future cost of these spiritual incubators may be, as an investment in the future of Newton. The city should plan for an attitude that attracts men with enough surplus to be able to give generously of that little extra of time, ability, knowledge and spirit which, as they fight against the land and each other, they have been able to accumulate.

So to sum up, the planning for Newton's future should have goals. I suggest our goals be attitudes among the citizens—that these attitudes be such as to encourage financial worth, respect for intellectual integrity, and the generosity of creative men. An atmosphere of such attitudes, I would hope, will attract men of similar ability and bent. Only through men can municipalities build their futures well.

Now, to come down from goals to methods by which we can achieve them.

Again it seems to me we must refer to the two major conflicts of man plus that third spiritual touch.

All right, man against the land. More land for industry, but, where and what kind? New and re-investment in residential land, but how? Battles over transportation, education, fair compensation for all kinds of labor, how much for beautifiation, etc. etc. ad infinitum. The conflicts overlap. Day by day it is man against himself and against the land. Is there no end? The answer of course is, "of course not."

And that is where planning, of stopping to take stock, plan and then act to inch along a little — that is where planning and timely planning — comes in.

We are all familiar with the classical growth of cities and the transitions through which they and their surrounding areas grow and then deteriorate. Newton has its scattered weak spots. The city is coming up to the cross roads of classical rot or planned health. This meeting is a healthy sign.

My boy, now eleven years old, takes piano lessons. His teacher's method is to give him music which indicates with increasing difficulty, but always variety, the various aspects of the art. The method is designed to keep the boy interested and working at it. With Rusty, the method is successful. He is interested and plays well for what talent he has.

But he is at the stage where, unless he develops his technique, he will never raise his playing above a certain pleasant level. He is approaching the cross road where he must decide whether he is going to play the piano or play at it.

Similarly Newton must now develop its techniques before it comes to the cross roads. One of these techniques is planning.

Let me list three obstacles to our goals which planning must surmount, and three techniques by which planning may help in the doing of it.

The three obstacles are like the three professions once traditionally open to younger sons, the Army, the Law and the Church. We now face the army of the indifferent majority, the rigid laws of property and the wise church of the self-interested.

The three techniques planning can use to overcome them are: infiltrating the indifferent majority with an appreciation of horrible examples of the present plus an intelligent program for the future; to take rigid laws, re-examine them in a new light, remind the laws themselves of the first principles on which they are based and persuade enough lawmakers, judges, constitutionalists to back you up. It is a matter of solid analysis plus an intelligent program.

The wise group of the self-interested is a little tougher at first, but their weakness lies in the "self" part. Here the emphasis must be upon solid analysis and on the intelligent program, but it needs more. It requires the planner to search, to seek, to find and not to yield until he can find some basis on which he can encourage self-interest itself to take the high ground in its own interest — become enlightened, as it were. In short it requires the persistent personal touch to find the touchstone in these cases.

The common denominator in all these efforts is the intelligent program — the plan. How it is used depends on the user.

In Newton, we still have the financial capacity to handle any just financial load involved, we have the intelligence to understand without being bludgeoned and we have the time, though it is running short, to enlighten our own self-interested people — by acting here or at East Cambridge or at Boston. We also have plenty of precedent for enlisting dynamic minorities who give things that little bit extra.

We must plan for the future of Newton in a changing metropolitan area, we must have some goals, perhaps like the ones I have suggested; but most of all, we must get our own house in order, and our technical weapons sharp.

Then will Newton have prepared itself to take the proper turn at the critical cross roads of the future. I hope you will all become planners — and take your place in the ranks of those who want Newton to have the benefit of that little bit extra you can be generous enough to give.

Norumbega Boy Scout Exhibit Slated April 23

The Boy Scouts exposition under the direction of Norumbega Council, to be held at Newton High School on Saturday, April 23, is shaping up to be one of the greatest ever held.

George Shannon, president of the Norumbega Council, which comprises Newton, Wellesley and Weston, reports that nearly 100 units have already requested booths in which they will display their handicraft work. A few of the various units will exhibit model railroads, molding, archery, woodcraft, communication and nature exhibits. These are just a few of the many exhibits the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will feature at their exposition.

The exposition opens at 1 p. m. and continues through 9:30 p. m. It is run every three years by Norumbega Council so that the families of Scouting and their friends may see the accomplishments of the Boy Scouts of America.

Aspinwall Nursing Home Now Open

Another addition to Modern Nursing Homes in Greater Boston, occurred with the announcement by Mrs. Raymond M. Dorne and Samuel Sunshine, of the opening of The Aspinwall Nursing Home, 61 Sewall avenue, Brookline, Mass.

This Home is ideally located in Coolidge Corner, and is easily accessible to street car lines. The admission policy of The Home is on a non-sectarian basis, admitting both male and female patients, and serving the convalescent, the chronically ill, and the custodial patients.

The supervision of the home is under the direction of Miss Mabel Enwright, R.N., who brings to the Home vast experience in Nursing Home Administration.

Dr. Dorne is a member of the board of directors, and is past Vice President of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes.

Dr. Dorne and Sunshine stated that the same high standards which they have worked for in the field, and which they have established in their other homes will be maintained at the Aspinwall Nursing Home.

Public Asked to Annual Navy-Marine Inspection at South Weymouth Base

The second annual military inspection and review of more than 2500 Naval and Marine Air Reservists will be held Saturday, April 23, at the U. S. Naval Air Station, South Weymouth, Mass., according to Captain Leif S. Nelson, USNR, commanding officer of the air station. The inspection of the personnel and the station facilities is the highlight of the calendar year and the outstanding military event of the South Shore air station.

Rear Admiral Daniel V. Gallery, USN, chief of Naval Air Reserve Training, and Brigadier General F. H. Lamson-Scribner, USMC, Commander Marine Air Reserve Training, will inspect the 24 organized air reserve units attached to the Naval Air Station.

The evening inspection ceremonies which are open to the general public will begin at 8 p. m. and will be attended by numerous federal, state and musicipal leaders as well as ranking military officers from the New England area. The Honorable Dennis Roberts, Governor of Rhode Island, will be the principal speaker.

Admiral Gallery, Brigadier General Lamson-Scribner and their staffs will arrive by plane at the Naval Air Station at 10 a. m. on April 23 from the Naval Air Station, Glenview, Illinois, headquarters of the Naval and Marine Air Reserve Training Command.

The formal inspection of the active duty personnel of the Naval Air station and of the station facilities will begin in the morning and will continue throughout the day.

The inspection of the personnel and training facilities of the Naval and Marine Air reserve is held annually at twenty-eight training activities located strategically throughout the nation. Each activity is visited personally by the Admiral and his staff. How these activities compare with each other and with the standards of the fleet is the primary purpose of the yearly inspection.

Not only will naval and marine officers and enlisted personnel of the air reserve come under the critical eye of the inspection team, but flight logs, records and training facilities as well, will be critically examined by the staff headed by Admiral Gallery and Brigadier General Lamson-Scribner.

The results of the inspection will determine the winners of the Naval and Marine Reserve tropies awarded annually to the outstanding Reserve Air activity in the country. Two navy squadrons attached to the air station won the coveted Noel Davis trophy in 1954. They were Air Anti-submarine squadron 912 and Helicopter Utility Squadron 911. Likewise, in 1954, Marine Air Control Squadron 21 won the General Excellency trophy awarded by the Marines in competition with other Marine Reserve squadrons throughout the country.

Plans Completed for Teen-age Road-e-o by Newton Jr. C. C.

Plans to conduct the 1955 Teen-Age Road-e-o were made here March 30 by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Road-e-o will consist of a written examination and a skill test involving driving through prescribed exercises such as parking, smooth stopping and others.

The local winner in this national Jaycee contest will be eligible to compete in the state Road-e-o. State winners compete for $3,000 in scholarships in a national contest July 25-29 in Washington, D.C.

Carlton P. Merrill, Newton Jaycee president, said six subcommittees have been organized under the general chairmanship of Robert Vaughan. "By emphasizing the rules of the road and the skills needed for safe driving, we intend to give local youths a chance to prove that some of America's best drivers are teen-agers," Mr. Merrill said.

Last year 250,000 teen-agers took part in Teen-Age Road-e-o in more than 1000 towns and cities. Sponsors of the National Teen-Age Road-e-o are the U. S. Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company and American Trucking Association, Inc.

Would you believe additional telephones can do THIS FOR YOU?

1 SAVE YOU STEPS!
An upstairs telephone greatly reduces the number of steps and stairs you take daily answering the family's telephone calls. It avoids the nervous tension that builds up when you miss calls because you couldn't get there fast enough.

2 HELP YOU RELAX!
Whether you're ill, or are simply being smart and resting, a telephone in the bedroom allows you to take or make calls without getting up. And it gives you a comfortable feeling of extra security when you're alone at night.

3 GIVE YOU MORE PRIVACY!
When you have to take or make an important personal or business call at home, use your extra telephone. You'll never again have to outshout the family or TV, or make a guest feel uncomfortably "hushed". And if your children are long talkers, the extra telephone keeps them from disturbing the peace and quiet of the adult members of the family.

Get additional telephones today. Cost only $1.25 or less per month each plus tax, and small installation charge on the first.

. . . a heart too small for breaking

Here is a child's world—balanced on faith, lighted by love, warmed in the safety of a mother's arms, a father's smile. Here is a world of little hearts, all too small for breaking.

What dark shadow could Cancer cast on such a sheltered world? Well, there are some 160,000 children whom Cancer has robbed of their fathers. And more than 175,000 others have had to learn to live without a mother.

Not even the young are safe, for Cancer yearly claims more children from three to fifteen years of age than any other disease.

But there is hope...brave, bright hope. For Cancer can be conquered. The vast army led by the American Cancer Society—scientists, doctors, technicians, volunteers—wage daily war on man's cruelest enemy.

You can help conquer Cancer. With a check—to help others. With an annual medical checkup—to help yourself. Remember, every year some 75,000 men, women and children win personal victories over Cancer—and live. One of them might be you—or someone close and dear to you. Will you help? We need you.

Annual Finance Campaign of Newton League ofWomen Voters Underway

Members of the League of Women Voters of Newton are turning to friends in the community for material support during the Annual Finance Campaign which is now underway.

Membership dues of the League of Women Voters are kept as low as possible in order that the largest cross-section of the community may take part in the organization's work for good and active participation in government. Additional funds throughout the country come through gifts from men and women who believe that League work benefits the general public.

Designed to create and hold citizen interest in civic affairs and develop citizen responsibility, the League conducts seven discussion units which meet twice monthly from October through March. Subjects which were discussed this past season included discussion of Candidates and Election Issues; Functions of the Planning Board and Board of Assessors Comparison of Ge..eral Laws regarding Election Procedures with Election Practices in Newton; Local Fiscal Relations; Juvenile Offenders and a study of the Secondary School System.

These units represent the heart of League work, for here members meet to exchange views and learn about the topics which affect each one of them so vitally.

Throughout the year the League offers many services to the Voter, to the Citizen and to the Community. As a non-partisan organization, it is constantly at work to clarify matters of local, state, national and international importance.

Five teams of members of the League, under the direction of Mrs. J. Ernest Smith, Chairman of the Finance Campaign, are now making their appeal to the people of Newton for their donation to the League's work. This year it is necessary to raise $900 in this way. The Newton League's Finance Campaign will continue through April 15.

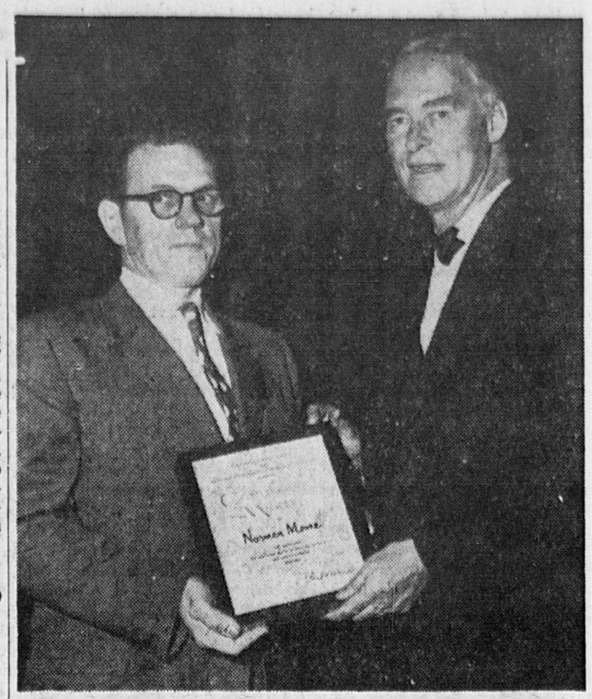

Fund of $23,500 to Be Raised By Centre Methodist Church

At a Loyalty Dinner held in the Newton Centre Methodist church March 29, it was voted by the membership to raise a fund of $23,500 over a three year period for the purpose of making repairs and improvements of the church property.

What work is to be done and the order in which it will be done, will be voted upon at a future meeting after estimates and bids have been obtained. In the interim, captains and workers will be chosen under the direction of Dr. Neil Pendleton, consultant in the fund raising campaign, and a door to door canvass of each church home will be made.

Jess D. Traylor, chairman of the Program of Advance, opened the meeting by presenting "The Challenge and Approach." The needs of the church were outlined by the minister, the Rev. Willard C. Arnold, Gilbert M. Cox, gave the report of the Resources Committee, which had studied the "giving" potential of the congregation. Ralph B. Emery, chairman of Public Relations, outlined the procedure by which information and progress reports will be released to all church members and to the general public. The chairman of Advance Pledges, Dr. Walter G. Muelder, and the Organization Chairman, Dr. Sam Hedrick, spoke briefly of the intangible values that are gained as a result of working together for a common cause. The Secretary of the Program of Advance, Miss Marjorie M. Dow, was introduced, as were the Treasurer, Robert W. Pope; the Telephone chairman, Mrs. Charles Renker; the Press chairman, Mrs. E Tyler Parkhurst; and the members of the General Committee —Alton Butler, Melbourne A. McCullough, Mrs. Robert W. Pope, and Roy M. Robinson.

After the presentation to the congregation of the General Committee's recommendation for the campaign to proceed, the meeting was opened for discussion and a general review of the present status of the church. By a majority vote it was decided to attempt to raise the minimum of $23,500 in order to begin necessary improvements.

Making Right Decision Major Job in Public Life Says Mayor

Making the decision as to what is right is the biggest job for the men in public office, according to a statement made by Howard Whitmore, Jr., Mayor of Newton, at the annual Lenten luncheon held Thursday noon, March 31, in the Newton YMCA building.

Featured speaker at the luncheon, the mayor told 72 guests that freedom has come a long way through blindness and cruelty. "Since Anglo Saxon days the ideals of freedom in the world have moved men forward in all the arts and sciences and the search for truth has been uppermost," Mayor Whitmore said. "There can be no evasions and lies . . the man who wishes to contribute to the world must go ahead with humility and tolerance. Any man in public office must have a humble and prayerful attitude to do his work well."

From Jesus himself, the mayor continued, has come the truest interpretation of a prayerful attitude. He then cited the 19th Psalm, 14th verse, "Let the words of my mouth and meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord My Strength and my Redeemer."

In closing his speech Mayor Whitmore stated that "democratic government should not be something suspended over the people" but should be "of and for" the people.

Harry W. Bascom, general secretary of the Newton Y from 1903 through 1940 who was 80 years old on March 31, was honored with a birthday cake at the luncheon. Herbert C Fraser, who was a member of several Y athletic teams when Mr. Bascom became general secretary, praised Mr. Bascom for the work he had done for young men of the Y over the years. Edward L. Bacon, 94, oldest member of the Y, attended the luncheon. President Frederick S. Bacon recognized both Mr. Bascom and Mr. Bacon after welcoming the luncheon guests.

Ralph B. Emery, chairman of the Christian Emphasis committee which planned the luncheon, presided. Alex R. Miller, general secretary gave the invocation and Rev. Sydney Adams, executive secretary of the Newton Council of Churches pronounced the benediction.

Assisting Mr. Emery in planning the luncheon was John E. Danielson, secretary of the Christian Emphasis committee. Lunch was served by a group from the Women's Auxiliary of the Newton YMCA, Mrs. Charles E. Smith, chairman.

Gibson, executive secretary of the World Affairs Council, and the widespread opposition to the international organization will be described by Gordon D. Hall, free-lance writer, lecturer and researcher on extremist groups.

The public is invited to attend and to take part in the discussion period following the talks. Topics to be covered include: how do the Knowland and Eisenhower attitudes toward the United Nations differ? Is the U. S. falling down in its U.N. obligations? Should the U.N. Charter be reviewed now? Is U.N. participation a dangerous surrender of national sovereignty?

THE TWO MILLION FARCE!

Editor, Newton Graphic:

That is the name I have given to the new Meadowbrook Junior High School that is now under construction in Oak Hill Newton. With the world the way it is today, the city planners have sure missed the boat on this one. There is question in my mind as a taxpayer that the men who are responsible for such construction have been "penny wise and pound foolish." Here we are in constant vigilance on what to do in case of an enemy attack and how to take cover and a school is allowed to be constructed in the manner in which it is. Architecturally it is a beautiful building but for safety sake we can just count severe casualties should that day ever come. It is even stressed in safety programs that a brick building is just about the safest to be inside of should there ever be an attack by an enemy, and yet I would venture to guess that this school that is being built is at least 75% glass in wall construction. I shudder every time I think of what would happen in the case of an attack on our fair city. So the taxes will probably go up again to help defray the expense of building this school. That is understandable and I'm one taxpayer who is willing to share in that expense but not when a building is being put up in such a matter that my children have to be in a cracker box or I should say a "glass house."

One might say that the reason for all this glass construction would be for better lighting for the children. Be that as it may, yet, it seems to me with science and the knowledge thereof as it is today there would be little problems if any as to the lighting of the school. I don't say not to have any windows in the school but I do say not to have so much. It would be well for the citizens of our fair city to take a look for themselves and just see what is going on at this school and see if they would feel right about sending their children to that school.

Let's not fool ourselves about being immune to an enemy attack. What with guided missiles and all that are being tested and retested every day we all know that there is a definite amount of worry in that we are "wide open" for an attack at any time. One might say we haven't a chance anyway if an H-Bomb were dropped in our vicinity. Alright, that is true, but at least if there were some kind of protection for the children in our schools they may have that one chance of living. I'd rather send my children to an old style brick school like the old Stearns School in Nonantum than to send them to a modern school like the Meadowbrook School in Oak Hill.

We'll put aside the safety factor for a moment, though by no means ignore it because it is the main thing to be thinking about, let's look at it from a taxpayer's view. It does seem as though a brick building would be much cheaper in maintenance as against all the glass that is being put up at this school. How often would a brick wall have to be washed as against a window. That is one factor. I'm sure the custodians of this school wouldn't be expected to wash these windows so an outside firm has to be called in to clean the windows periodically.

How about the heat? I'm sure this climate of ours won't make special dispensation and bypass this school just because it is practically all glass. No, the heat cost will definitely be higher than if the walls were brick and that being so up go the taxes some more.

I want it understood that I'm not a crank but an honest to goodness taxpayer in this wonderful city of ours and I sure would like to have somebody look into this building situation and put a stop to such foolish construction.

Headline Program To Be Staged at Wrestling Show

The Burns-Kerr Legion Post shoots the works Saturday night when it presents the most varied and talent-packed wrestling show ever staged locally.

Every bout on the three-contest West Newton Armory card is a headliner in its own light.

The program, Promoter Fred Bruno has prepared has everything—girls, midgets, a champion, mystery, beauty, contrast and tremendous promise.

In the midget melee Mighty Schultz, dynamic German dwarf, and Diamond Jim Brady, little mustachioed menace from Salt Lake City, Utah, will team up against Sonny Boy Cassidy, king of the ring runts from Providence, R. I., and sad-faced Farmer Pete, the Louisville lilliputian with the laugh-provoking and highly unusual mule kick. This bout will be a tag team match.

These mighty mites of the ring have displayed their talents on television and have attracted sizable crowds in previous appearances at the Armory.

The beauty on the card will be lovely Lorraine Swanson, Miss Minnesota of 1951. Attractive as a movie starlet, this glamorous blonde will clash with Alma Mills in what has the makings of a sizzling setto.

Last Saturday night at the Armory, La Swanson proved she's as ring-wise and talented as she is beautiful. However, she has drawn a formidable foe in Miss Mills, who may not be as lovely but is just as big, strong and technically gifted.

Marvelous Mario DeScuza, European champion from Portugal, tangles with that fiery mat nomad, Gypsy Joe Gonzales, in the third bout.

This contest shapes up as another thriller. DeSouza has poise and savvy and is a fast, crowd-pleasing performer with an ideal physique. Gonzales, renowned as a villain, figures to give the champ plenty of opposition.

The program starts at 8:30 o'clock.

For the Future

You are a man in your forties and you are resting at home for a few months. Not your idea of living? Of course not. But it is happening to an increasing number of men who break down with tuberculosis in their middle years.

Treatment of TB with drugs developed in recent years has made it possible for some patients to leave the hospital after a certain point and finish treatment at home. Selected patients are able to go through the entire course of treatment at home with regular visits to a clinic. As one of either group, you have some very special problems, as you well know.

It's a lonely life in spite of being with your family. In a hospital you would be with others making the same fight against TB. Eager as your family and friends are to help, they cannot share all your burdens. You have to do the "resting" to give your body a chance to heal. You have to fill hours that seem much more than 60 minutes long. You may be plagued with worries about the future.

Stop right there. You can do something about the future. Your state and the Federal government are partners in a program to prepare you for and place you in the right job when you are well again. This could mean helping you return safely to your old job or to some new kind of work. These are not charity services. They are your right, just as a public school education is your child's right.

Your doctor will tell you when you are physically able to start training. He or the public health nurse or social worker can help you get in touch with the proper agency, in most states called the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. You may be able to start on a correspondence course right away. Later there may be special school or on-the-job training. You can be sure of getting all necessary help in starting back to work. There is no cost to you for most of these services.

But I am not this man, you insist. Let's hope you won't be one of the 110,000 Americans who will be stricken with TB this year. But chances are you will know one of them. You can help and encourage him to take full advantage of his "rest period" to build a better future.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Weeks Junior High School Students Aid Blood Program

The Newton Red Cross Blood Donor Program received considerable impetus last week as a result of the special effort of the Ninth Graders of the Weeks Junior High School to attract blood donors when the Bloodmobile visits the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre on Monday, April 11th.

Jerry Bonazoli, a ninth-grader, took the initiative in calling the matter to the attention of his classmates. As a result, Patricia Gravellese wrote the following appeal to residents of Newton:

"Dear Citizens of Newton:

As you know, the blood banks are getting low and need to be replenished. This year's ninth grade at Weeks Junior High School is helping to promote a blood drive. Some of you may say, "What will our blood be used for if we give?" A good question. The answer is:

1. Blood is used for gamma globulin, which has many uses. The one we hear about most frequently is its part in polio paralysis preventative, but it is also used for stopping epidemics of measles and jaundice.
2. Blood is used to make plasma.
3. Blood and blood plasma are used on the battlefields during a war.
4. Blood and blood plasma are used during peacetime in hospitals.

Just think of all the ways in which just one pint of your blood could be used. Think of the human life you may save. Take these things into consideration, and we're sure you'll want to give your blood for such worthy uses.

The Bloodmobile will be at the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre on Monday, April 11. Because we feel we have done our share in calling this matter to your attention, won't you do your share? Call LA 7 6000 to make your appointment.

The Ninth Graders distributed 5000 of these circulars to households in Newton Centre. In commending the students for their interest and participation in the Newton Red Cross Blood Donor Program, William J. Robinson, Blood Program Chairman, said: "The efforts of Jerry Bonazoli and his classmates are an inspiration to all of us. We are confident that the Bloodmobile Visit on April 11 will be an especially successful one.

40-Foot Cross of Easter Lilies

Parents, Friends May Send Free Greetings to Servicemen Anywhere

The Easter spirit is exemplified this week-end at Shoppers' World, Framingham, in thousands of lilies and other flowering blooms, by special concerts by the 18th U. S. Army Band and chorus, and by free Easter greetings sent by parents visiting the Shoppers' World to sons and daughters in the armed forces throughout the world.

Dominating the busy area is a beautiful Easter Cross, made of thousands of Easter lilies, towering 40 feet from the 50-foot Mall Stage which also is a scene of loveliness decorated with lilies and other seasonal plants and flowers. The Easter blooms were flown in from Bermuda to Shoppers' World by British Overseas Airways where the artistic creation was designed by John Anderson and arranged by DeRosa Florists, of Framingham.

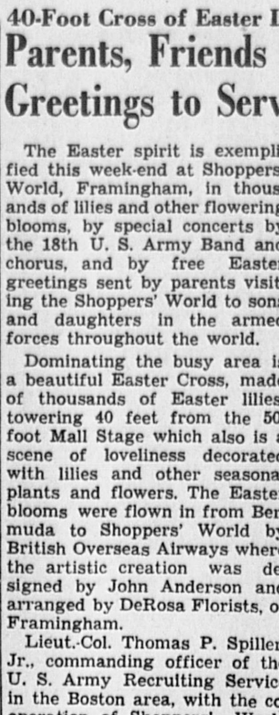

Lieut.-Col. Thomas P. Spiller, Jr., commanding officer of the U. S. Army Recruiting Service in the Boston area, with the cooperation of Shoppers' World executives, will provide an unique Easter gesture to parents of servicemen and women on Saturday, April 9th, from 1 to 5 p. m.

"Mars," the Boston Army Base Mobile Radio Station will be in operation at Shoppers' World and will send, absolutely free, the greetings of mothers, fathers, other relatives, or friends to any service installation in the world.

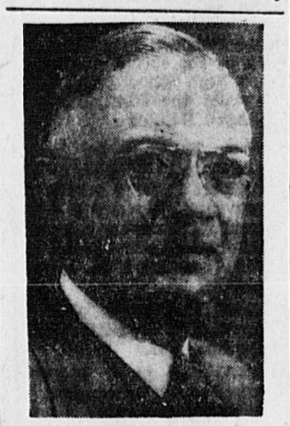

Further Army co-operation with the Shoppers' World Easter observance will feature the 18th U. S. Army Band and a chorus of 35 voices which will give a special concert Saturday from 1 to 2:30 p. m. This will be broadcast from the Mall over Station WKOX.

On Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m., a special concert will be presented on the Mall Stage on the Hammond organ by Irving Allen's staff organists.

Forty-one stores and a bank are available at busy Shoppers' World where easy parking accommodations are provided for 6,000 cars; store hours are from 12 noon to 9 p. m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays; from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Mondays, Tuesdays, and Saturday.

LOU MARKS of 68 Pine Crest road, Newton Centre, was installed as president of the Invitation Club of Boston recently for a two-year term. Marks, who is associated with the Boston Globe, formerly held the office of vice-president. The club consists of men, limited one to a profession, who are purveyors to hotels, institutions and restaurants.

NEW PHONE SERVICE—Sidney Freeman, manager of the Liggett-Rexall Store at 1293 Washington street, West Newton, is pictured taking down prescriptions transcribed during the night by a unique new service. The West Newton store is probably the only one in New England boasting a transcription device which actually answers the telephone after the store is closed for the night. Physicians, instead of waiting until the next day to phone in prescriptions, may now call "after hours" and dictate the message. The following morning, Mr. Freeman or one of his competent pharmacists will play back the recorded prescriptions and have the medicine ready within minutes after the store opens and delivered. Ninth Grade Paper

The first issue of the ninth grade newspaper was published last week. It is called "The Ninth Grade Messenger," and contains many articles of grade interest. The first issue was given free to those in the ninth grade. The remaining issues will be limited to those with ninth grade memberships.

The editorial staff consists of: editor-in-chief, Earl Foster; assistant editor-in-chief, Eliot Gardner; cabinet news, Kenny Winston; music, Dave Hazelton; affiliation council, Eliot Gardner; girls' sports, Pat Gravallese; special features, Sue Duchin; grade news, Bob Kantar; production manager, Joel Wise; and typists, Victor Berman and Earle Lane.

The following is an excerpt from an article appearing in the "Messenger":

"The activities of the Ninth Grade Cabinet are now in full swing under the able leadership of the president, Peter Derow. The other officers for the year are vice president, Bo Pettit; secretary, Janet Perlmutter; treasurer, Charlie Nahabedian.

"A few of the projects handled by the cabinet so far this year have been; (a) the purchase of a roll of brown paper for the use of the members of the ninth grade; (b) the first dance of the year, the "Football Frolic"; (c) the selling of school pennants.

"The Cabinet is now undertaking many other endeavors. One of the main ones is a ninth grade newspaper. This being the first issue, we hope it turns out to be successful. Other activities of the Cabinet are: (a) printing of grade memberships; (b) planning a blood program by which the parents of Weeks students will donate to the Red Cross; (c) acquiring class pins or rings for the ninth graders to purchase; (d) making it possible for the members of the grade to have their individual pictures taken.

"This gives you an idea of the program for this year; nevertheless, the Cabinet cannot function properly without the help of the grade members. What are the ways in which you can offer your services? At the present, the Cabinet is looking for volunteers to serve on some of the committees of the Cabinet, such as the Blood Program Committee and the School Spirit Committee. If you are interested in joining one of the committees, contact Peter Derow.

"The Cabinet needs you!!"

THANKS FROM THE HEART

(The following letter was sent to Police Chief Philip Purcell from Charles A. Gates, executive director of the Massachusetts Heart Association).

Dear Chief Purcell:

As a consequence of mailing to you our memorandum of February 10, 1955, informing you that the Heart Association was having a voluntary neighborhood collection of money for the Heart Fund on February 20, I am glad to make this report to you.

During the afternoon and evening of February 20 a collection point was set up in Newton. The operation of receiving and counting the money went off without incident. No problems arose that needed attention. The whole business was consumated with efficiency and dispatch.

I want you to know that your Heart Association is deeply grateful for the conscientious and faithful performance of duty by the members of the Newton Police Department.

All hearts are strengthened by the good hearted performance of you and your fine staff.

Sincerely yours,

AQUEDUCT SHELTER?

Editor, Graphic:

Right here in the city of Newton we have a natural underground shelter. It is the abandoned Cochituate Aqueduct, which traverses our city and could, in my candid and humble opinion, be easily converted into a haven or a covered shelter for such citizens of the Garden City who would be unable to evacuate to outlying areas.

Using this aqueduct for sewerage purposes should be secondary to the primary purpose of saving human lives. It would not entail too much engineering skill to convert this over and to accomplish my proposal.

A Civil Defense communications center of bomb-proof construction could be built into the aqueduct and be somewhere centrally located. It could have diesel generators supplying the power, if and when necessity so required it.

Every modern convenience could be installed in the center and made available from both sides of the aqueduct. Stairs could be built and entrances located at points easily available to the public when necessity so requires it. Storage facilities would be constructed in the center, and this would take care of food and other necessities.

This project could be classified as urgent and necessary—and could be built with federal grants as part and parcel of our defense program, and for our future security and welfare. We would need this shelter in case of atomic attack and to escape the fallout of radioactive elements caused by the detonation of an H-bomb.

Red tape should be cut and reduced to the minimum, with added help from our state authorities. This project should be number one on the list as essential to the welfare and safety of our citizenry.

According to Federal Civil Defense Director Val Peterson at a recent conference on Civil Defense, "Everyone should build a shelter in his basement or back yard. They should stock it with food—now! They should put in water for four or five days—now! No man knows when the attack might come.

"As for me," said Peterson, speaking of shelter, "I'd prefer to be in the back yard with three feet of earth over my head."

Now, if this be true, why do we delay? The aqueduct when made properly available, could take care of thousands of our citizens. Time is of the greatest essence. With the main target only several miles distant, this has now become a necessity.

Public demand should compel our civil authorities to proceed at once with the necessary construction of this shelter, so essential to the future safety and welfare of our citizens. The citizens deserve this protection from their government.

Edward F. Durkin.

Crusade Night

Hundreds of Volunteers Will Visit Every Home In City

Cancer Crusade Night, Tuesday, April 26, will see hundreds of Newton volunteer workers making the rounds of every house in the city according to plans announced today by Police Chief Philip Purcell, who is heading the drive for the second time this year.

Along with thousands of volunteers throughout the state and nation, the local Crusaders will be spreading life-saving literature and soliciting much needed funds as a climax to the month-long campaign conducted by the American Cancer Society.

Newton's quota, which Chief Purcell is hopeful of exceeding, as was done in 1954, is set at $35,000 out of a total of $24,000,000 for the United States. The residential organization has been set up on a village basis with a chairman or co-chairmen for each. Heading up advance donations and business gifts is Wilfred Chagnon, who reports that these gifts have already begun to flow in to campaign treasurer William H. Rice at the Newton Centre Savings Bank.

$900,000 is the goal this year of the Massachusetts campaign which is under the able chairmanship of Boston's Michael T. Kelleher, well-known insurance executive and civic leader. Funds which are raised are used by the American Cancer Society through grants for scientific research, professional and public education as well as medical service to those in need.

In announcing plans for Newton's participation in this most worthwhile drive, Chief Purcell drew attention to estimates that more than 230,000 Americans will die from cancer this

1st, Second Graders to Get 3 Shots

The startling Salk polio vaccine — declared Tuesday morning to be 80 to 90 per cent effective and almost completely safe — will be given to Newton first and second graders in three injections beginning Monday, April 25.

Nearly 3500 children in the two grades will be treated by a team of 40 doctors and 12 nurses, assisted by many Red Cross workers. Vaccine shots for these children will be provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

In charge of the local program, which had been set up before the results of the Salk experiments were announced, is the acting director of public health, Dr. Henry W. Godfrey. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, supervising nurse at the Board of Health, is making arrangements at the schools.

The first in the series of shots will be given during the week of April 25, the second during the week of May 2, and the final one during the week of June 6. Cards granting permission to the city to innoculate children have been signed by parents, with almost 100 per cent approval.

Administering the injection at each school will be a team of three doctors, two nurses, two or three Red Cross volunteers and members of the School Department. Fifty children will be innoculated per hour by each team.

Dr. Godfrey said he did not expect any of the children to be affected physically by the shots. The only reactions during last year's tests, he said, were mental.

Girl Scouts Sell Over 61,000 Boxes of Cookies

The Newton Girl Scout Cookie Sale this year resulted in over 61,000 boxes of cookies sold. Money-wise the individual troops have $2,440 to be divided among them for program activities, service projects, purchasing badges and extending Scout programs to many local communities through annual membership dues. Eight thousand dollars is available to the Newton Local Council.

Each year the cookie sale is conducted to raise funds for camperships, maintenance and capital expenses for camp and to augment the Red Feather grant from the Newton Community Chest. This year, specifically, proportional amounts of the proceeds are to be used to equip and send a patrol and leader to the 1955 Regional Patrol-troop camp at Bristol, R. I., for one week, for a new dock at Camp Mary Day and toward the new established camp site.

The Brownies and Girl Scouts of Newton appreciate the splendid cooperation of the parents, relatives and friends who have contributed to this year's success.

Burglar Faces Life Term For Terrorizing Couple

A 27-year-old Concord Reformatory parolee, snared in a police dragnet Sunday night only a half-hour after he terrorized a young engaged couple in a Bellevue street, Newton, home, was held for the grand jury Tuesday morning after a brief hearing in Newton District Court.

Police read a detailed, four-page confession in which the parolee, Ernest Z. Skalberg of 24 Winchester street, Brookline, admitted breaking into the house and tying up the pair while he ransacked the home. Bail was set by Judge Donald E. Mayberry at $90,000 on three counts, and Skalberg was taken to East Cambridge jail to await trial.

In the confession read to the court by Sgt. Albert Yanco, Skalberg said he found an open window in a first-floor bathroom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rader, 24 Bellevue street. Skalberg, who was released on parole from Concord Reformatory only three weeks ago after a 5-year sentence for looting five Newton homes of $20,000 in valuables, took his time looking for loot.

As he was cramming items into a black briefcase, the couple walked into the house about 10 o'clock for coffee after a movie date. The young pair were Ronald G. Rader, 21, a senior at Boston University, and Donna Jean Craddock, 19, of 19 Nonantum street, Newton, a student nurse at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Skalberg put his hand in his pocket as if he had a gun and ordered the two to an upstairs bedroom. There he forced them to stretch out on the floor while he tied them with neckties from a bureau.

Alan D. Duff Quits Post As CD Head

Alan D. Duff of 119 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, director of Newton's Civil Defense organization for 15 months, will leave this post tomorrow (Friday) to devote his time to private business.

Duff, appointed by former mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, is the city's second CD head. He succeeded William J. Baxter, who unsuccessfully sought nomination for Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.'s unexpired term in the state legislature.

A graduate of Oxford University, Duff has been a Newton resident for 25 years. He assisted in the design of Newton's City Hall, and helped reorganize personnel and accounting practices during the administration of Mayor Sinclair Weeks.

During World War II, Duff was active in Civil Defense, acting as chief air raid warden for Newtonville. The father of eight children, he is a past president of the Central Club of Newtonville and vice-president of the Newtonville Improvement Association.

Archbishop to Officiate Here Next Monday

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing will bless the cornerstone of a new dormitory to be named Cushing House at Newton College of the Sacred Heart this coming Monday, at three o'clock. The new building, to accommodate 100 students, is the latest to be built in the college's two-million dollar expansion program.

In special ceremonies preceding the blessing of the cornerstone, the Archbishop will officially open the recently completed addition to Stuart House which provides additional classroom space, a dining room for 400, administrative offices, rooms for 75 resident students, a fully equipped infirmary

Governor's Councillor Peabody to Address Joint Meeting of Democrats

William E. O'Halloran, Democratic City Committee Chairman and Robert S. Lesberg, Provisional President of the Newton Democratic Club today announced a joint meeting of the two organizations to be held Wednesday Evening, April 27, at the Newton Highlands Women's Workshop on Columbus street, Newton Highlands. It was stated that among the noted speakers would be Governor's Councillor Endicott "Chub" Peabody, first Democratic Governor's Councillor from this district.

Following a meeting of the Newton Democratic City Committee from 7:30 to 8:30, the Newton Democratic Club will receive activity reports from its various committees, such as the legislative, young Democrats and Functions Committees, following which the adoption of by-laws and the election of permanent ofifcers will take place.

It was stated that the enthusiastic city-wide response following the original announcement of the formation of the Newton Democratic Club has emphasized the strong need of such an organization. Many and frequent inquiries have been received, it was said, as to the time and place of subsequent meetings.

The initial membership drive has exceeded all estimates and all indications are for a big turnout on the night of April 27th.

Governor's Councillor Peabody, it will be remembered, in a district heretofore always considered a Republican stronghold, last November won a smashing victory in what has been acclaimed as the first positive indication of a Democratic strength that has revived the 2-party system in Newton.

The joint chairmen of the meeting further stated that within the week they would announce the name of a nationally renowned celebrity who would be present at the April 27 meeting as a distinguished guest.

Oil Paintings By Newton Man At Waban Branch

An interesting exhibit of original oil paintings by Gaylord Gay of Newton, is being shown at the Waban Branch Library. Seascapes predominate but there are several scenes of the Rocky Mountains and of other subjects.

Mr. Gay has been painting for many years and is enthusiastic about his hobby. A native of Colorado, he worked with Dave Sterling, well-known landscape artist of the Rock Mountain National Park. More recently, he has spent much time at sea with the Esso Standard Oil Company and has become well acquainted with the West Indies and the Caribbean area. His colorful, clear-cut paintings reflect his feeling that the artist should paint scenes exactly as they are.

The paintings are on exhibit until the end of April. The Waban Library is open Monday through Friday from 1 to 6 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. and Saturday from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Annual Finance Drive, League Of Women Voters, Near End

Final appeals are being made to both members of the League of Women Voters of Newton and its many friends for contributions to its annual Finance Drive which will end tomorrow (Friday).

The League, which is a non-partisan organization, is a force of education in the community, clarifying matters of local, state, national and international importance. It accomplishes this through open meetings, lectures, carefully prepared surveys of local government functions and discussion units that develop citizen responsibility through study and the exchange of ideas.

The membership dues of the League of Women Voters are kept as low as possible so that everyone can join. It is therefore necessary for its members to turn to the many friends of the League for additional financial support so that it might continue to carry on its many worthwhile projects.

Mrs. J. Ernest Smith, Chairman of this year's financial campaign, is being assisted by the following captains: Mrs. Philip Paisner, who is serving as Co-Chairman, Mrs. Cass R. Sunstein, Mrs. Charles Williamson and Mrs. Franklin Flaschner. Members of the League serving as solicitors are: Mesdames John Locke, John C. McClintock, Richard Mintz, Robert E. Segal, William Patian, George Franklin, Earley Feldman, Irving Rabinowitz, Moses Pearlman, Esmond Rice, Howard I. Arbetter, Herbert S. Morrison, Mark Rosenfelt, Herbert Nachman, Leonard Albert, George S. Alberts, Aaron Cole, Joseph M. Miller, David B. Rost, Meyer Hoffman, Isidor Slotnik,

BU Seminary Singers Appear Wednesday Aub'dale Church

Of interest to music lovers in this area is the appearance of the Seminary Singers of Boston University in a concert to be held at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

This outstanding male chorus consists of some 45 young men who are studying for the ministry at Methodism's oldest seminary in America. This year, in addition to their regular tour which will take them as far south as Florida, the Singers will give a series of concerts in Germany this summer.

The Seminary Singers have given concerts all over the United States in the 29 years since their founding by their present conductor, Dr. James R. Houghton. Over the years they have established a fine reputation as interpreters of the best in church music.

The program of the Singers consists entirely of sacred music. Soloists on this year's program include Dr. Houghton, bass-baritone; Miss Marie Allen, violinist; and Robert Schilling, organist. The program will be a varied one, including music from the Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox churches, as well as the Protestant churches. Numbers by Palestrina, Bach, Handel, Mozart and Gretchaninoff are among the pieces featured.

Variation will also be found in the types of church music performed, for included in the program will be hymns, anthems, liturgical numbers and spirituals. One of the featured works will be a performance of "Cum Sancto Spiritu" from the "Mass in B Minor" by Bach. This will be preceded by the bass solo from the same work, "Tuoniam Tu Solus Sanctus."

Those who have heard the Singers in past years always look forward to their annual appearance in this area. For those who have not yet had the experience of a Singers' concert, this opportunity to hear them should not be overlooked.

The concert is sponsored under the auspices of the Young People's Fellowship of the Church of the Messiah as a fund-raising program for their proposed weekend trip to New York at the end of the month. Tickets may be obtained from any group member or at the church doors.

No Sign From Voters That Senator Kennedy Should Resign: Power of Legislative and Judicial Branches to Be Tested

Senator John F. Kennedy has been making an uphill fight to regain his health sufficiently to resume his duties in the upper chamber of Congress. His slow convalescence has forced him to postpone his return to Washington.

That has given rise to rumors, some of which have reached print in the columns of newspapers, that Kennedy's physical condition will force his retirement from public life and that Governor Herter will appoint Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons to succeed him.

As far as can be ascertained from this distance, there is no basis of fact for the reports, and the vast majority of people certainly will join in the hope that they are without foundation and that the career of a courageous, able young man will not be cut short.

Senator Kennedy hovered in the shadow of death immediately after his highly serious spinal operation last fall, but when he was able to leave the hospital and be taken south to convalesce last winter, hopes were expressed that he eventually would be able to return to the Senate.

Vaccine-

A "priority" list established for distribution of the vaccine gives first choice to the first and second graders. Then the vaccine will be made available to pre-school and kindergarten children, next to pregnant mothers, and finally to children through the eighth grades.

Eventually, enough vaccine will be produced to innoculate everyone who needs it. Harry J. Loynd, head of the drug manufacturing firm of Parke-Davis, said the pharmaceutical industry is geared to turn out enough vaccine to immunize all 61,000,000 Americans under the age of 21 by the end of this year. Within two years, he declared, there will be enough vaccine for everyone in the world.

According to results of the tests conducted last year, the vaccine is potentially 100 per cent effective. The official report said the vaccine was "extremely successful" in warding off bulbar polio, the most dangerous type of all.

Only four-tenths of one per cent of children receiving injections suffered minor reactions, and there were no "major reactions." Protection was long-lasting "with but moderate decline after five months."

Crusade-

year — almost one every two minutes. In Massachusetts alone, an estimated 9,000 deaths will occur from the dread disease. "Statistics show," said Purcell, "that cancer will at some time strike one in every four Americans. This is the problem we face. Our greatest weapon in this war is knowledge. Since medical authorities believe that one out of every three deaths from cancer could be prevented if the patient were to consult his physician promptly, the ACS life-saving educational program is of very vital importance to us all."

The Newton chairman also noted that the war against this second greatest killer of all is being fought on the research front by biologists, bio-chemists, physicians and scientists of a dozen other fields. Here in Massachusetts, in the greater Boston area alone, for its size, is the greatest center for cancer studies on earth. The money needed to forward this research is in large part dependent on the success of the annual Crusade for Cancer.

Newton citizens leading this year's drive include:

Police Chief Philip Purcell, chairman; Wilfred Chagnon, co-chairman; William H. Rice, treasurer; Denholm M. Jacobs, publicity; Miss Adelaide Ball, Newton co-chairman; Mrs. Mary A. He has worked in Scouting, with the Community Council and with the Newton Red Cross Chapter. He has served with the new England Power Association, Stone and Webster Company and the National Fireworks Corporation.

Although his resignation was credited to his desire to return to private business, it is believed that large slashes in the CD budget influenced the move. The aldermen were sharply critical of Civil Defense, terming the organization's plans as uncertain and confused on high levels.

The Oak Hill Parent-Teacher Association of Newton is sponsoring a dance to be held at the Countryside School, Dedham street, on April 16 from 8 p. m. until midnight. There will be door prizes, refreshments, and dancing contests. Music will be furnished by the Gene Dennis Orchestra.

This building, along with Cushing House, is part of a $2,500,000 development program which will see rise on the Newton campus a chapel, library building, several new dormitories, science building, and a building dedicated to theater, music and arts. The plans are designed to accommodate the eventual maximum enrollment of 600 students.

Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy announced plans for the many bridge parties to be held in private homes on October 25—the association's money-raising project for the year. Mrs. Edward P. Garland of Wellesley is co-chairman, assisting Mrs. Dunphy. The villages committees will be announced soon.

Dr. David Reece, intern at the hospital, spoke to the association directors. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert A. Hogsett and Mrs. Benjamin Miller.

Burglar-

The intruder pulled out Rader's wallet, emptied it, then went downstairs to continue ransacking the house. Rader managed to struggle loose from his bonds and headed for a telephone to summon police. But halfway down the stairway, he met Skalberg returning to the bedroom.

"The next time you do that, you'll be in real trouble," the intruder warned Rader. He ordered the youth back to the room and tied him again with the neckties, still pretending he had a weapon in his pocket.

Rader and Miss Craddock remained quiet until they heard Skalberg walk out the front door. Rader again struggled from his bonds and called police, giving a brief description of the intruder.

While police were at the Bellvue street home questioning the pair, Newton and Brighton police began searching for a man with dirty blond hair, wearing a brown topcoat and shiny brown shoes, and carrying a black briefcase or satchel.

Skalberg walked down Centre street, cut over toward Brighton a street before the MTA tracks, and continued until he reached the Charles River. He passed the anti-aircraft detachment near the North Beacon street bridge and cut back down the next street toward Oak Square.

Newton Patrolman Lawrence Maffiola, driving one of the cruisers scouring the area, spotted Skalberg in Oak Square, Brighton. Skalberg walked onto a porch and made believe he was ringing a doorbell, but the officer wasn't fooled.

Maffiola radioed for assistance, and a 5-cruiser caravan brought Skalberg back to the house. There he readily identified the couple he had tied up and told police the entire story.

Skalberg is no stranger to Newton police, as he and Lt. George W. O'Neil rate as "old friends." Five years ago Skalberg was arrested by New York detectives and the Newton officer in a New York hotel lobby and brought back to Newton to face six counts of breaking into houses. One charge was dismissed in court, but he was sentenced in Superior Court to five to seven years in State Prison.

In 1950, he had burglarized local homes of $38,000 through a unique day-and-night plan. During the daylight hours, he worked as a door-to-door salesman, sizing up houses he would later burglarize.

This time, according to police, he was a handyman with a contractor. His take in Monday's robbery included jewelry, watches, pins, tie clasps, a camera and some securities.

The robbery took place about a mile from the Waverley avenue house where, last February, a Cambridge attorney was slain during a similar housebreak by two masked men. Newton police also solved that case in record time, nabbing the three men involved — one the driver of a getaway car — in a half-hour. All three are now awaiting trial in Superior Court.

Rader said he at first considered making a move to wrestle with the intruder when Skalberg threatened him and his fiancee. "I remembered the Lovinger murder and I wasn't taking a chances," he related

The three charges facing Skalberg are that he "did confine and put in fear for the purpose of stealing from a building" the young pair; that he entered a dwelling and committed larceny and assault on the couple; and that he "assaulted with intent to rob and did rob" Rader.

A maximum penalty of "life imprisonment" is provided in the first complaint.

In court Tuesday, Skalberg asked if he could go back to Concord to put in time toward the two-and-half years he still "owed" the state, since his arrest violated his parole. But he was told he would have to wait until Superior Court got through with him before he could start serving the end of the sentence.

Family Characteristics On New Census Survey

Supplemental questions on consumer income, migration and family characteristics will be asked in the U. S. Census Bureau's Current Population Survey in April, according to Acting Supervisor J. Ralph Emerson of the Bureau's district office at Boston, Mass. The supplemental questions will be in addition to the regular employment and unemployment inquiries asked each month.

Supplemental questions on family characteristics asked in the Current Population Survey in April of last year revealed that the estimated number of households in the United States increased from about 43.6 million to 46.9 million, or 8 percent, between March 1950 and April 1954. The average annual in 229 other areas of the country growth in numbers of households during these approximately four years was about 800,000.

The Current Population Survey will be conducted locally and try during the week of April 11. Local interviews will be handled by Mrs. Margaret Brockett of No. Grafton, Mass.

Supervisor Emerson emphasized that all information about individuals furnished to the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence under Federal law. It is used only to obtain summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages for various groups in the population and not to show information for particular families or individuals. The information cannot be furnished to any other Government agency and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

Trouble with Your Tax Returns?

What are the chances of getting into trouble with your income tax return?

There are slightly more than 2 chances out of 100 that your return will require minor adjustment after you send it in. There is 1 chance in 100 that you will have to confer with an Internal Revenue Service official to iron out details. There are 2 chances in 100,000 that you will settle in tax court. And only 1 chance in 100,000 that your case will go to an actual court of law.

But — here is the good news — chances are 9½ out of 10 that your return will be accepted as filed. — CHANGING TIMES

Family Program Can Prevent Fire Injuries to Youngsters

By Newton Fire Prevention Bureau

The loss of life due to fires, especially the lives of small children has been increasing each year. Of the nearly 12,000 persons who lose their lives annually in this country, approximately 4,000 are children. Half of this number, reports indicate, are in the age group of 5 years old or less — this is the period when they are powerless to help themselves in the event of fire.

Children of this age, and all youngsters who are unable to think and act for themselves, should never be left unattended. But before entrusting their children to baby sitters, parents should know something about those to whom they entrust their offspring, and also they, as well as the sitters, should be familiar with the more important fire safety considerations.

In an effort to enlist the parent's co-operation in Newton to consider giving their children the best protection possible wen they have to leave the children home, Chief John E. Corcoran of the Newton Fire Department has given the following "Home Safety Program":

Parents should know the sitter, his or her family training and background. Only those sitters should be employed who have a sense of responsibility and who like children, and who preferably live in the same neighborhood. It is advisable to have the same sitters regularly, if possible, and to leave the sitter instructions in writing, as well as giving them orally.

Here is the fundamental information that should be given to the sitter:

1. The address of the house, number and street and section of the city.

2. Location of the house telephone and its number.

3. Location of all exits from the house (including opening on to porches and/or extentions) from which rescues could be made.

4. Emergency telephone numbers: Fire—BIgelow 4-0030; Police—LAsalle 7-0030; Medical—(Whatever doctor they may have.)

5. Location of the nearest Fire Alarm Box and knowledge of operation.

6. How to shut off the heating unit: (a) furnace by thermostat and Emergency Swith; (b) space heater, by carburetor control; (c) electric, gas or other heating units.

7. Provide a suitable flashlight in good working condition and place it in a convenient location.

8. Destination of parents: Telephone number or other information on how they can be reached. Names, address, and telephone numbers of responsible persons to call in an emergency.

Here are recommended things for the baby sitters to do in the events of a fire:

1. Remember—your first responsibility is the safety of the children. Get them safely out of the house at once.

2. Call the Fire Department. A Fire Alarm Box may be used but do not leave the children alone. Get them out of the house or in a safe location before calling if it is possible to do so. If more convenient, use the household telephone or that of a neighbor.

3. If you smell smoke but see no fire, call the Fire Department at once. In such cases, it may not be necessary to get the children out, but be prepared—have an exit plan in mind.

4. In the event of cold or inclement weather, there may be a question of proper dress for your charges. It may be a serious mistake to take time to dress the children—the delay may be fatal. It is much better to grab a blanket or something else to wrap them in.

5. When you turn in a fire alarms: If from the street box, remain to direct firemen to the location of the fire (after making sure your charges are evacuated). If via telephone, be at the front door to notify the firemen. Put the porch light on. If there is an odor of gas present: Remove the children to safety. Notify the Fire Department at once. Do not turn on or off any electric switches, as these may create a spark that could ignite the gas vapors present and cause an explosion.

It was made plain at that time that Kennedy's struggle for recovery and for life itself would be a slow one, a long one and probably an uncertain, perilous one. It was felt, too, that the earliest at which he could possibly return to Washington would be some time this spring.

Whether Kennedy ultimately will regain his health sufficiently to resume his place on Capitol Hill is something that time alone will tell, but there has not been even the slightest indication of feeling on the part of the people who elected him that he should relinquish his Senatorial mantle.

The only expression has been one of hope that the gifted young Senator will win the grim fight he is waging, however long it may take.

Other Senators have been sidelined with illness and injury far longer than has Kennedy, and the illness which put him on crutches and sent him to the hospital for a dangerous operation dates back to his war service when he commanded a PT-boat in the Pacific.

Statements have been made that Kennedy would be pressured by Democratic leaders against resigning because his withdrawal from the Senate would shift the balance of political power and enable the Republicans to take over the body and organize it.

The situation is simpler than that. As long as there is any hope that he will recover to the point where he could return to the Senate without danger to himself, the people of Massachusetts would not want him to resign.

Prominent Democrats from across the nation will gather in Washington Saturday night for a $100-a-plate dinner which will be the biggest affair of its kind their party will hold this year.

Speakers will include former President Harry Truman, Adlai E. Stevenson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the top Democratic leaders in Congress, among them Congressman John W. McCormack.

But the man of the hour will be battle-tested, bald-headed Speaker Sam Rayburn of the national House, and the banquet will be in the nature of a tremendous testimonial to him.

Underlying the tributes, the festivities and the Democratic oratory will be the note that today Rayburn is one of the most influential and powerful Democratic figures in the State.

Sam Rayburn will not be the Democratic candidate for President next year, but he will have a good deal to say about who his party's nominee will be, and there is considerable doubt in the minds of many well-informed Democrats whether Rayburn will lean to Adlai Stevenson, if the latter seeks the nomination.

Adlai had extensive southern support at the 1952 Democratic convention. There is a great deal of uncertainty, however, that he will get it again because of the manner in which he revised his convictions after achieving the nomination.

Unless he has at least the tacit approval of Rayburn and the powerful Congressional faction the Texan will lead, Stevenson will be far from a sure-thing at the 1956 conclave.

The present conflict between the Massachusetts Supreme Court and the State Legislature over the division of their respective powers, has extremely significant implications.

Has the Supreme Court or any court the right to order a commission created by the Legislature not to do something which the Legislature has instructed it to do?

This, of course, is a renewal of the age-old dispute over the respective authority of the legislative and judicial branches of the government.

A commission headed by State Senator Philip G. Bowker of Brookline, which has been investigating communism, is under instructions from the Legislature to make public by May 15 the names of persons whom evidence has indicated to be communists and sunversives.

A group of attorneys, all men of prominence and stature, petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to prohibit the publication of such names.

A hearing on the petition is scheduled for next Wednesday.

Now arises the question whether the Supreme Court has the right to issue such a writ and whether a legislative commission must comply with it, if it is granted.

This problem has been dropped into the laps of the House and Senate members, most of whom probably will be guided by the expressions from their fellow Solons who are considered authorities on constitutional law.

Five members of the commission on communism, four of them lawyers, have accepted summonses directing them to appear in court next Wednesday. However, unless the matter is resolved by that time, which now seems unlikely, they will not honor the summonses and will stay away from the proceedings.

Senators Bowker, John E. Powers and the House members take the position that they cannot go to court unless the Legislature specifically authorizes them to do so and that they cannot divulge any of the information demanded of them without similar permission.

This issue arose back in Congress some 79 years ago, but it is the first time it has confronted a Massachusetts Legislature. Its final settlement will be watched closely by students of government everywhere.

The impression at the State House is that the members of the Legislature, zealous of their own powers and prerogatives, will tell the commission to disregard the court action. The matter probably will be discussed and debated in great detail before it is resolved.

One interesting aspect to the situation is that it has been created by attorneys who themselves presumably have an understanding of the separation of powers between the judicial and legislative branches.

Incidentally, it is the section of the Massachusetts Constitution, which provides that the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government shall not trespass upon each other, which declares that our government shall be one of laws, not of men.

KEEP WALKING

The power failed. In the great city the millions of tiny hand cars that carried the people even the shortest distance from bed to breakfast table stopped moving. For a long time the people clung to the cars on which they depended, but hunger and finally panic set in. On hands and knees, they began to crawl in search of food and safety. Helpless, hopeless, they died by the thousands as their b e a u t i f u l civilization ground to a halt.

Science fiction? Of course. A writer's dream of the future when man's feet have become as useless as his appendix.

Could it happen? Look out the window at a beautiful May day. You would not want to lose the power of walking down a country road or even a city street on such a day. But how often do you do it? Do you really walk, or just get around? If you started out right now, how soon would you tire?

Muscles have to be used, or they lose tone and weaken. Our feet are a remarkably delicate assembly of small bones and muscles. To do their job, they must be kept at peak efficiency.

But, you say, I'm a housewife and I'm on my feet just about every minute the livelong day. You may be on them, but do you really use them? Do they carry you comfortably, or just shuffle along complaining at ever step?

It is lucky that our feet do not suffer and grow weak without complaining. If they are in trouble, we get pain signals not only from the feet themselves but also from the back and the head. We feel tired all over.

We can prevent foot trouble by practicing correct walking methods. Take a good walk now and then, and when you do, use your whole body, and swing your legs from the hips. Always walk with your feet parallel, and put them down with the whole sole touching the ground. Shoes must be correctly fitted. If you only have to sit and look pretty, spike heels will do, but if your feet must work, low solid heels are the thing.

You may be the first to order one of those little machines to speed you through your household tasks, but let's keep the power of walking for pleasure with pleasure.

Letters

A LETTER TO MR. KEYES

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I read with interest your open letter to Newton Citizens as it appeared in the April 7th Newton Graphic. It is sad that the School Committee, which has amply demonstrated its sincere interest in fine education for Newton's future citizens, should have been put in a position of having to explain its actions as a result of a most irresponsible attack.

As president of the John Ward School PTA, I can speak only for our group of parents, but we want you to know that you have our complete support and that we view with utmost admiration and respect your unstinting and unselfish efforts to insure a top quality of education for the children of Newton. We are quite well aware of the difficult job it has been to avoid compromise with quality while maintaining a just ratio between school costs and other city expenses. It is our belief that you have done this job well.

It is our sincere hope that you continue in this far sighted and intelligent direction.

Sincerely,
MRS. LEON STERNFIELD,
President
John Ward School PTA

First Church of Christ, Scitist, Newton. 391 Walnut street, Newtonville, Sunday morning service 10:45. Sunday School at the same hour. Wednesday evening testimony meeting at 8:00. How the law of divine Love revealed by Christ Jesus offers mankind redemption from sin and limitation will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement." Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptres" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (19:6): "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit—the law of divine Love." The Golden Text is from Mark (10:45): "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

Let The Wild Birds Eat The Bugs In Your Garden

Whoever coined the phrase "She eats like a bird" was way "off-base"! If the average family of two adults and two youngsters ate as much by weight comparison as a family of four birds, mother would have to bring home over 400 pounds of meat every day and father would have to pay the bill. That's right — over 400 pounds!!! An adult bird eats the equivalent of its weight each day and the youngsters eat about twice their weight daily. Think what this means in insect consumption, since in summer insects are the main item of food in a bird's diet.

For example, scientists have seen a pair of Scarlet Tanagers eat nearly 2000 Tent Caterpillars in one day; they have found in the crops of dead Yellow Throats nearly 7000 plant lice, and they watched a young Robin eat over 14 feet of worms during his last day as a nestling. You can be a witness to this effect type of insecticide right in your own garden if you will put forth a little effort to attract the wild birds.

Year 'round feeding is probably the easiest method and in the summer you will see greater variety of birds than in the winter. Now they repay you by eating insects on their way to and from the feeders.

Bird Houses are effective, too, in attracting nature's own insecticide — but any 6 pieces of wood nailed together does not make a bird house. The Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of the Interior conducted a survey of the wild bird nesting cavities built by Woodpeckers. They measured the inside dimensions, hole diameters and elevations above ground. They also found that to be successful a bird house must be ventilated, drained, rigidly erected rather than swinging and easily cleaned. It should not have a perch on the front.

The many plantings which so imprave the appearance of our homes can also serve to attract wild birds. Trees, shrubs, Vines, flowers and ferns all serve a natural purpose in supplementing the care given wild birds by providing nesting houses and feeding stations.

A bird bath can be very successful in attracting wild birds to your garden. If there is no chance of cats or other predators molesting the wet birds, the best location for a bath is on the ground. If cats are also in the neighborhood, then the usual bird bath on a pedestal is best. Be sure to locate the bath near shrubbery or trees which the birds need for cover while preening after the bath. If you can arrange to have water drip onto the face of the bath causing ripples you will be amazed at the increased traffic. This can be accomplished by hanging a can with a very small hole in the bottom above the bath and filling the can with water.

Wild birds are man's greatest benefactors. Without them and their insatiable appetite for insects we would not be able to exist. For example, if the insect population in April were allowed to reproduce and its progeny to reproduce — ad infinitum — without interruption from the birds for six months, there would be a carpet of insects 4" deep completely covering the United States. It doesn't take a genius to figure out how long other forms of life could survive under these circumstances.

It has been proven many times that gardens or woodlots where wild birds are attracted, sheltered and fed need no manufactured insecticides.

Activities of Visiting Nurse Ass'n

"A Challenge to Democratic Effectiveness" was the theme of the Institute at the Boston University School of Social Work March 23 and 24. Board members from various agencies were represented at this Institute.

Mrs. Leo Barry gave a stimulating report at the April Newton Visiting Nurse Association monthly meeting. The discussion leader was Sanford Solender, a member of the New York City Board of Education, and a member of the Executive Commitee of the National Conference of Social Work. He was an excellent leader, displaying clarity and force, effective budgeting of time and pace and a knack for eliciting full audience participation while still maintaining balance and proportion. Those attending the Institute from the Newton Visiting Nurse Association were: Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr., Mrs. H. Earl Burnhame, Mrs. John T. Croghan, Mrs. Leo Barry, and Mrs. C. Russell Mason.

Announcement was made that Miss Katherine MacDonald, Executive Director, will attend the 1955 Bi-ennial Convention of the National League for Nursing in St. Louis, Missouri, May 2nd-May 6th, 1955.

April 28th marks the opening session of the Diabetic Teaching Class. The five-week session will meet regularly on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. with a nurse and a nutritionist in charge of the class. Contact should be made with the Newton Visiting Nurse Association office or with the Welelsley Friendly Aid for further details.

Miss MacDonald reported that nursing care case services have increased during February and March; that the Easter remembrances in cards and Lilies sent to over one hundred patients was much appreciated; that the large number of Newton Board members enrolled in the Eastern Massachusetts League for Nursing as reported at the Anual Meeting, was encouraging.

Mrs. Raymond Wolston, special speaker for the day and hostess for the Cheerful Club of Newton, gave her listeners a most interesting word picture of a club that is filling a large place in the lives of some thirty men and women over sixty years of age. It was inspiring when she said that the indestructible spirit of the aged makes one unaware of age or affliction. Each newcomer to the club is treated in the manner of "a hundred welcomes await you." Some of the comments made by club members reveal the value they place on companionship when they have been known to remark, "the Cheerful Club beats TV any day," or, "every meeting is a picnic." It is a club that has a good time together yet is doing things for others. Mrs. Wolston said the only real need is for transportation which is a volunteer service.

The affair is being sponsored by the Mount Holyoke Club of Boston and the M.I.T. Musical Clubs. An Almanac of Liberty to Be Shown at Evening Alliance

"An Almanac of Liberty," dramatized on film from the book of the same title by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, will be shown at eight o'clock Thursday evening, April 21, at the West Newton Unitarian Parish Hall under the sponsorship of the Evening Alliance of the First Unitarian Society in Newton. Members and friends of the parish are cordially invited.

The film, loaned by the Anti-Defamation League, was produced from the dramatization by Reginald Rose of Justice Douglas' book, widely acclaimed on television. Like the original book, "An Almanac of Liberty," a recent alternate selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, the movie version is a provocative compilation of episodes showing the gradual accretion of precedents and the slow growth of habits and attitudes in the march of the spirit of freedom and tolerance in these United States.

Mrs. Maynard Sears, president of the Evening Alliance, also announces that this troup is participating in the Community Clubs Awards Contest as a fund-raising activity, details of which are contained in the "Buyers' Guide" booklet concerning the participating firms, available at the church office or through members. Mrs. Jerome K. Merlis, 121 Claremont street, Newton, is chairman of this project.

--- Davis School Activities ---

The Davis School executive board met on Monday evening, April 11, 1955, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. A. Flynn on Randlett park, West Newton. This was the final, regular executive meeting of the 1954-55 school year. Raymond R. Forte, president, announced the proposed slate of officers that will be voted upon at the general meeting in May.

J. Ellis Bowen gave the treasurer's report.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Wayne V. Schell and Mrs. William H. Bright was appointed to explore the possibilities of buying a radio as a gift to the school from the P.T.A.

Mrs. Richard W. Noyes, chairman of the Health and Safety committee reported for that group. The problem of parking in the vicinity of the school was discussed and a committee was named to investigate possible solutions. Members are Mrs. Eli Feldman, chairman, Mrs. Melvin Taymor, and Mrs. Flynn.

Miss Mary J. Nugent, principal, and Miss Anne C. Gorman, first grade teacher, brought the group up to date on the grade meeting program — a successful innovation this year. Miss Gorman pin-pointed specific examples to demonstrate their value in the over-all picture. Several parents expressed their appreciation of the opportunity to discuss age-grade situations with the teacher and other parents. It was unanimously voted to recommend their continuance next year.

Mr. Flynn, P.T.A. council delegate, related his experience in that group during the current year and Mr. Forte spoke of recommendations made by the executive P.T.A. council.

Paul F. O'Donnell, chairman of the Building and Playground committee, announced that he had been advised that contracts, for improvement of the Davis play area, will soon be awarded. The plans include grading, fencing, bituminous walks and preparing an area which can be flooded for skating in winter.

Mrs. John S. Carder neighborhood co-chairman of Girl Scouts, attended the meeting and discussed the activities of the Davis School Scouts. There are four Davis troops, at the moment.

The group was very enthusiastic to hear that a P.T.A. newspaper has ben launched. "The Davis Dateline" will be brought home by the youngsters this week. This bulletin, "written for, and by, Davis parents, teachers and pupils, hereafter, known as 'Davis Family' hopes to bring the 'Davis Family' closer together and to increase their awareness of community activities, Mrs. Flynn is editor.

On Tuesday evening, April 12, grade meetings were held at the school.

Miss Margaret G. Wingate met with the parents of her second grade students. She detailed the various experiences the youngsters encounters in the course of a school day and highlighted the science program. The boys and girls have made an intensive study of birds this year and have a parakeet in their classroom. Miss Wingate explained the operation of the electric bird-board to the group. The parents were very much impressed with the variety of the school program and the colorful classroom with the pupils' work so attractively arranged.

Mrs. Pauline Gilman told the parents of her second graders about the typical school day, the purpose and out-come of recent class trips and the operettas, in which the pupils have taken part. The parents thoroughly enjoyed her description of "The Shoemaker and the Elves" and "The Three Billy Goats Gruff." The children are currently producing the letter.

A question period followed and the parents agreed that they had spent an interesting and profitable evening.

Miss Ann M. Keene welcomed first grade parents and described modern methods in the teaching of the so-called "3r's." The parents were delighted with the life-sized personal cut-outs made by the youngsters and displayed throughout the room. An informal discussion period marked the close of an unusually informative evening.

The next P.T.A. meeting will be a pupil participation program at 7:30 on May 2.

SPRING GARDENING TIME IS HERE!

Low Modern Homes Need Fine Lawns as Frame

Lawns have become more important than ever in the home landscape.

Modern home design has increased the importance of the lawn to the home landscape. The house with low spreading lines finds a harmonious frame and foreground in the flawless green carpet upon which it rests.

Without care a fine lawn is impossible, wherever it is attempted. With care, there are several fine lawn grasses available to Americans, the most widely used being blue grass. Since the earliest days, Kentucky blue grass has been the chief reliance for lawns in the northern states.

Its rugged persistence in overcoming obstacles to its growth may sometimes encourage neglect. Its beauty, hardiness and quick response to favorable treatment have kept it in first place against many rivals for more than a century.

Good treatment is much the same for all lawn grasses. In soil requirements they are similar to other plants. The soil should be porous, to provide good drainage, and should contain organic matter to hold in storage water and plant food for the plants to use. These qualities should be checked, and if necessary improved, before any seed is sown.

Through late summer or early fall is the best time, most new lawns are made in the spring. As soon as the ground has thawed out and is dry enough for working, seed for a new lawn may be sown.

The first step is to apply pounds of balanced commercial plant food. Three or four lbs. of plant food per 100 square feet is usually sufficient. Half of this may be spread evenly over the area and spaded under. The lawn should then be raked smooth and leveled before seed is sown.

The remaining half of the plant food may then be mixed with the seed and both spread together, preferably with a fertilizer spreader, which will apply it evenly at the rate recommended by the supplier. The seed and plant food should be raked into the top soil. Then use a lawn roller or tamper to compact the soil. This will assist germination and the early growth of seedlings.

The soil should not be allowed to dry out until the seed has germinated, even though this requires frequent sprinkling. If sowing is delayed until warm weather, it may be necessary to cover the surface with straw or similar material to shade the surface and check drying, while admitting both air and light.

After the grass gets a good start sprinkling should be less frequent, with more water applied at a time. Established lawns should be watered when they need it, with a thorough soaking.

Let the Wild Birds Eat the Bugs In Your Garden

Spade or Plow Garden to Prepare for Planting

Spading or plowing in the spring is the best way to prepare soil for planting. This is the conclusion of researchers, after considering all the objections to these time tried practices.

Since plowing is impractical in small areas, the home gardener is advised to use the spade, but with judgement. Do not try to turn over the whole garden in one day, unless your muscles are hardened to this kind of work.

One hour a day for eight days will turn over to spade depth 1,500 square feet, and leave its owner without even sore muscles. It is important that you do not skimp on the depth of spading. Drive the spade straight down, never at an angle, so that you get full benefit of its 12-inch blade. Limit the area that you spade each day rather than the depth to which the soil is turned.

To organize the spading operation, mark out the day's stint—one hour's work. At one end of the area open a trench, piling the soil removed to one side. Then dig an adjoining trench ,with the spade at right angles to the first, throwing the soil removed into the first trench to fill it. Continue this until the last trench completes the day's quota of toil, filling the last trench with the pile of soil removed from the first.

Spading loosens the soil, lets air into it, and leaves it in the best condition for both water aid air to enter. Spading also can be used to mix with the soil coarse materials which will improve its condition.

Depth of spading has long been a subject for debate. English gardeners, with the experience of centuries behind them, are strong for "trenching" which means turning over the soil two spade lengths, or two feet deep. For roses, perennials, and some annual crops, private gardeners in this country often practice trenching. It is a good way to prepare a perennial bed, where the plants are to grow for several years without disturbance.

One hour's easy work for 8 days will turn over 1,500 square feet.

Know How Long It Takes Flower Seeds To Sprout

Cosmos takes 5 days

Portulaca takes 10 days

Flower seeds differ greatly in the time they take to germinate. Unless you know when to expect tiny sprouts to appear where seed was sown, it is easy to lose patience, and give the sowing up as a failure.

Varieties which have the reputation of being "difficult" may only be slow germinators; and the skill required to grow them a question of knowing how long to wait, so when they do appear they will not have been abandoned. Flowers which germinate quickly are most popular for sowing directly in the garden.

Among those which should germinate in 5 days are: Ageratum, amaranthus, anthemis, candytuft, cardinal climber, centaurea, clarkia, calliopsis, cosmos, cynoglossum, dahlias, annual pinks, heleniums, helichrysum, annual mallow, marigold, mignonette, four-o-clocks, Virginia stocks, viscaria, and zinnia.

When, in addition to quick germination, a flower has large seed and colorful blossoms, it is bound to be widely grown and popular, because easy to grow. Marigolds and zinnias, which share with petunias the popular leadership, are fast growing.

House and Garden Meet

Today's patio is any place where house and garden meet and mingle. The modern idea is that gardens shall contribute charm to the home, and be intimately associated with everyday living. They will be enjoyed most when near to the center of social activity, rather than hidden behind wall or hedges.

Every home can and should have a patio. A paved area close to a door is preferable, where you can take a sun bath. Flowers like sun-baths too. Those who prefer shade can hoist a garden umbrella. A patio without flowers around it will never seem complete, and among them should be fragrant flowers. Most fragrant of all is the sweet tobacco, nicotiana affinis. This is the old fashioned kind, which is far more fragrant than the improved varieties, as is so often the case.

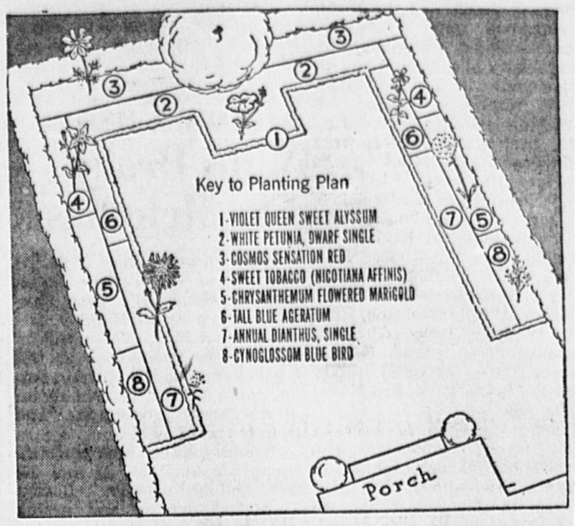

The illustration shows a patio planting which can be made easily even by the inexperienced, from the seeds of annual flowers. All subjects are easily grown from seed sown directly where they are to grow. The planting is arranged with low growing plants in the foreground, taller ones behind. The color scheme is based upon harmony by contrast, with complementary colors placed together, where each will enhance the beauty of its neighbors.

Annual flowers grown from seeds blossom from early summer until frost comes, if the faded flowers are kept picked off, and reasonable care is taken of the plants. With them can be planted both bulbs and perennials, to give a continuous display of bloom from the time the ground thaws out until the autumn freeze-up. Annuals never outgrow their place, no matter how small the area. They are always in scale, making both house and grounds seem larger than they would, were larger and taller plants set out, soon to become overgrown for their locations.

Remember that annual flowers need sunshine. Avoid planting a garden where the tops and roots of trees, hedges, or shrubbery shade the flowers, and compete with them for nourishment and moisture in the soil.

A location on the north side of the house is not likely to be favorable for the garden illustrated unless it is placed beyond the line to which the shadow of the roof extends in midsummer at 10 a.m. The location should also be free of shade from trees and other buildings at least six hours a day.

Plant Food Saves Work Ups Yield and Quality

Placement method of applying plant food is favorite for row crops.

By increasing their use of fertilizer, farmers have reduced their cost of production. Home gardeners can do the same, saving both money and work

Fertile soil gives heavier yields, requiring a smaller area to produce the needed amount of vegetables, for example. Well fed crops mature faster and excel in tenderness and flavor. They also resist the attacks of insects and diseases far better than ill nourished plants.

Less seed to sow, less time to sow it, less work to care for the plants it produces, all result from an adequate use of plants foods.

Plant food mixtures containing all the elements needed by plants, are better for the amateur, than attempting to analyze his soil and apply precisely what it seems to need.

For a garden of 1,000 square feet a balanced commercial plant food use of six pounds per 100 square feet takes only 60 pounds. It would require 2,612 pounds to fertilize an acre at this rate and there might be few farm crops on which such heavy feeding would pay.

But this feeding would raise even poor soil in a home vegetable or flower garden to good fertility.

In most cases 3 or 4 pounds of plant food per 100 square feet should be applied at planting time. The method used depends on the acidity of the soil.

In neutral soils plant food may be spread evenly over the garden area and spaded in This method should be followed in preparing flower borders and beds, including flowering bulbs.

In the vegetable garden the same method may be followed, but for row crops many prefer to apply plant food in bands on either side of the row.

First stretch a line to mark the drill in which the seed will be sown. On either side a few inches away a trench 4 inches deep or so, and in each trench pour half a pint of plant food for each 25 feet of row. Cover this with soil and proceed with soil sowing.

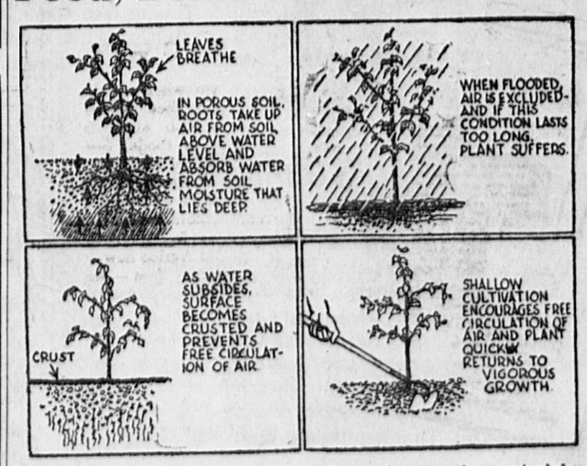

The trench, or placement, method should always be used where there is reason to suspect acidity.

Acidity is easily corrected by applying limestone. Potatoes and watermelons prefer slightly acid soil, but most vegetables grow well in neutral soil. Beets, asparagus, cauliflower, muskmelons, parsnip and spinach all demand a neutral soil for best results.

Having applied four pounds of plant food to each 100 square feet before planting the garden, the remaining two pounds is reserved for use as the crop matures. It can be applied dry as a side dressing, or in liquid form.

Soluble plant foods are useful for feeding growing crops, because of the ease with which they can be applied. By using a siphoning device they can be mixed with the hose water, diluted sufficiently so as to avoid burning green leaves. It has been proved that plant leaves will absorb plant food and what does not fall on the leaves will reach the ground and sink in to where the roots can get it.

Good Soil Holds Air, Food, Drink for Plants

Home garden soil can be improved with inexpensive materials.

Few home owners have an opportunity to select sites which have soil good for a garden. But since the areas involved are comparatively small, it is usually practical to improve the soil.

The first improvement, in most cases, is to make the soil more porous or less so. Sand may be too porous, allowing all water to run through it quickly and plant food to leach away. Clay may not be porous enough, blocking the escape of excess water, excluding air, and being difficult to till.

Air is as necessary to the roots as to the leaves of plants, but it cannot penetrate soil which is flooded with water.

Attempts to improve clay soil by adding sand, or sand by adding clay, may result in a concrete-like mixture harder than the original clay. Soil conditioners which make clay porous are expensive. But limestone screenings, obtainable in most localities, at low cost, have a chemical effect on clay which coagulates the fine particles into larger grains, between which water and air can pass freely.

There is little or no danger of applying too much limestone to clay, because it breaks down slowly, and the clay has a buffer capacity which prevents the calcium in limestone from making the soil alkaline, even when large quantities are used.

Limestone does not have the same effect on sand. Though often beneficial, it should be used on sand with caution to avoid making the soil alkaline.

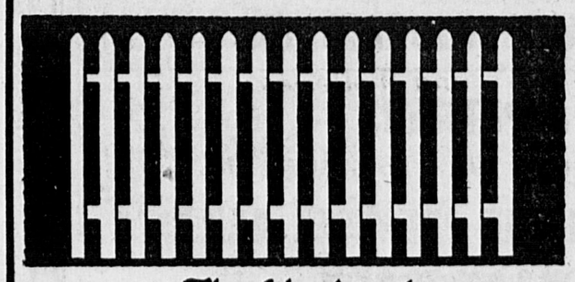

To both clay and sand decayed organic matter such as peat moss, black peat (muck), compost, sewage sludge, decayed manure, and leaf mould, should be added in liberal amounts. In sand it holds moisture and plant food for the roots to use, and in clay it also improves porosity and makes the soil easier to work. Annual additions of organic matter will help keep the soil in top condition.

When the garden is watered, the thirst of soil particules which have the ability to hold water is first satisfied. Both clay and humus hold this water in storage, while allowing the free entrance of air at the same time. Sufficient water should be applied at each watering to fill this storage capacity to considerable depth. Use a sprinkler which applies water so slowly there is no run-off, and no flooding.

Spotlight on Weeks

The following article was taken from Spotlight, the Weeks newspaper.

The following is a resume of the Weeks Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball games.

WEEKS vs DAY — First to play was the junior varsity, which looked very good and won easily, 34-20. The Varsity was a different story; although they played hard, they were outclassed. Day won, 34-12.

WEEKS vs WARREN — The J.V.'s played first and led at the beginning of the game, but Warren kept moving ahead and Weeks lost, 32-24. The Varsity was still looking for their first win but just did not have it that day. Final score, 43-19, Warren winning.

WEEKS vs DAY—Our J.V.'s played a spectacular game winning, 45-11. The Varsity, although much improved, lost again, 28-13.

WEEKS vs BROOKLINE—The Varsity went to Brookline to play the freshmen Even though they shot more and played a faster game, they lost, 24-53.

WEEKS vs BIGELOW—This day was not a good one for Weeks as we lost goth games. The J.V. score was 28-25, very close! The Varsity played a good game but lost, 25 32, also very close!

WEEKS vs WARREN—Both of the Weeks' teams were hindered because of sickness, and we lost both games.

WEEKS vs WELLESLEY—The J.V.'s lost, 35-29. The Varsity looked the best of the year and led at the half, but as the second half progressed Wellesley pushed ahead and won by five points.

WEEKS vs BIGELOW—The J.V.'s as usual played first. Their game was the most exciting of the year as they won, 35-26. As five boys were out sick, the Varsity lost.

WEEKS vs BELMONT — The Belmont Varsity is supposed to be one of the best around and they proved it by winning. The J.V.'s had a chance for a four and four record if they won, and they did, 34-28.

Science Fair Is Held at Weeks Jr. High School for Two Days

April 11 and 12 was designated as "Science Fair" days at Weeks Junior High School. On those days pupils exhibited their interests and hobbies in science. The display was presented in the gymnasium of the school.

For many children the fair offered an opportunity to display a project which was the result of classroom work. Other children presented the results of many hours and often years of active work with a hobby. Those pupils receiving awards will have the pleasure of presenting their projects at the Newton High School Fair which will be held later this week.

Charles Howard was responsible for the program and was most fortunate in having the following judges: Robert MacCurdy, Cary Penny, Wallace Sawyer, Pearl Nelson, Norman Whitney, Harold Bjoinson, Florence Wheeler, Bruce Gilchrist, Russell Iuliano, Rose Mellios, Robert Carr, Michael Butler, Jerome Sisson, R. V. Frost, and Al Daniello.

Science fairs have been a rather recent development. The purpose behind such events is to give the pupil who has an active interest in science a chance to share his interests with others. It also gives public recognition to those pupils who have an outstanding talent in science as represented by awards.

Last month the National Science Teachers Association held its annual convention in Cincinnati, Ohio. Fifteen hundred science teachers from the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, and Hawaii discussed the problem of the dwindling number of science graduates from our institutions of higher learning. One solution brought forth was active participation in science fairs throughout the country. It is felt that such fairs increase interest in science and often lead a youngster into a career of science.

Household Workers Now Covered By Social Security

Beginning in January 1, 1955, household workers in private homes are covered by the social security law if they are paid $50 or more in cash wages by an employer in a calendar quarter.

Under the law prior to January 1, 1955, the household worker had to work on some part of at least 24 different days and be paid $50 or more in cash wages by an employer in a calendar quarter to qualify for reporting purposes. The work day test no longer applies.

City Purchasing Department May Be Authorized Monday

A new city unit—the Purchasing Department—is scheduled to be created through an amendment to the municipal ordinances at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The ordinance amendment was first brought before the aldermen last week, but according to Board procedure the change has to "lie on the table" until the following meeting before action can be taken. The two-week delay also gives aldermen who were not directly concerned with the drawing-up of the amendment a chance to recommend changes in the wording.

Study of the possible advantage of a central purchasing agency was undertaken last year by Harold T. Pilsbury, administrative assistant to the mayor, and by Albert Pleydell, former purchasing agent for New York City. Continuation of the study was voted early this year by the aldermen, who appropriated $10,000 for it, and Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. urged establishment of the new city unit in his budget message.

A Purchasing Department would save much time for already hard-pressed department heads, and there would be considerable savings to the city, argue proponents of the measure. A large Texas city, it was pointed out earlier, recently saved 4.7 per cent of its total expenditures through the use of a central purchasing agency.

The purchasing agent's duty is to buy city supplies at the lowest cost for the best quality. He would also be able to transfer supplies from one department to another, and to exchange or trade supplies which have become obsolete.

City departments would still have to keep inventories of their own supplies, but department heads would be relieved of the responsibility of going on the open market, individually for office supplies.

Assisting the purchasing agent, when and if one is appointed, will be a committee on standards and specifications, composed of the director of public works, public building commissioner, recreation commissioner, welfare agent, superintendent of schools, fire chief and police chief.

When the $10,000 to continue the groundwork for the Purchasing Department was authorized in January, Alderman Earle D. Wood noted that the city was fortunate to acquire the services of an expert who had no designs on becoming the agent himself.

Also scheduled to be considered Monday night will be the removal of the parking meter zone on the railroad side of Washington street between Church and Richardson streets, Newton. By an odd coincidence, this first came before the board at the same meeting as when the $10,000 study was voted, and now both are returning for action at the same time nearly three months later.

Removal of the meter zone was recommended by the Police Department since the area was not suited for meters. Although that area was approved for meters, none have been installed there as yet.

Says Confusion Reigns Over Age Ratings

"There has been much confusion over House Bill 1392 entitled 'An Act to Prohibit the Commissioner of Insurance from Establishing Age Classifications in Determining Rates for Compulsory Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance'," stated Rep. George E. Rawson (R) Newton this week.

The increased rate for cars driven by drivers under age 25 is based on an actual study made for the Commissioner of Insurance which showed that such drivers number almost 19 per cent of the total drivers but that they have been responsible for over 40 per cent of the claims. From long experience in the insurance business it appears to be sound business that such drivers should pay an increased rate because insurance rates must always be based upon the hazard involved.

To assess that on any other basis would be unfair and discriminatory. That principle is observed in making all insurance rates of any kind.

This bill would deny the Commissioner the power to establish the present extra charge for under age 25 drivers. It would result in an increase of at least 10 per cent in the rates paid by the rest of the people who are over age 25 and people who drive a car for business reasons.

That would certainly be unjust for 74 per cent of the drivers of cars in this state. It would also throw into discard the Driver Training Program conducted by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, which is producing excellent results in securing lower rates for some drivers.

It would be an entering wedge to destroying the Merit Rating System so wisely proposed by Governor Herter.

No evidence has been brought out to show that the present law is wrong. No one has taken it to court for review. Certainly the General Court is not qualified to be a rate making body, even though some members would like to set the rates.

One Democratic opponent has made this bill a party measure, erroneously calling the law, "a tax on youth," which is ridiculous. The votes necessary to kill this bill in the House of Representatives are lacking but it is hoped the Senate will be able to do so.

Seek $285,000 More For 2 Water Tanks

A $285,000 appropriation to finance the construction of two huge water storage tanks in Newton Lower Falls and Newton Centre will be sought at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen in City Hall.

Before the meeting, a hearing will be conducted on the location of the second tank between Dedham and Winchester streets at the junction of property of the Charles River Country Club and two other owners.

This hearing had been conducted earlier for slightly different location, but the new airing was called for when a compromise on the actual site of the tank was decided upon. The three owners of property involved stated, at the earlier hearing, that they were not happy with the idea of a tank in their back yards; however, they agreed the fairest thing would be to take a little part of everyone's property.

This is the second tank scheduled for construction sometime this year. The other is located 234 feet from a sharp bend in Stanton avenue, Newton Lower Falls, between the avenue and the Boston and Albany's Highland Branch tracks, on property owned by the Brae Burn Country Club.

A $350,000 bond issue to cover the cost of improvements to the city's water system was voted January 3, and the tanks will be constructed from this sum. The issue of 10-year bonds will be paid off from Water Department revenue, and therefore will not add to the tax burden.

According to a revision of the water system outlined by a Boston engineering firm, the two tanks, plus a number of other mains, should carry the ity through the year 2000, when Newton's population is expected to bust through the 100,000 mark.

The survey, undertaken by Coffin and Richardson in May after the city switched to a supply of Metropolitan District Commission water, calls for a pair of 400,000 gallon elevated tanks and 10,000 feet of water mains in the southern side of the city.

Newton's southern half—which has its water pumped to it, in contrast to the gravity flow to the area north of the Boston and Albany's Main Line—has been plagued by water difficulties.

Main cause of the difficulty was the switch to MDC supplies. When Newton drew its own water from wells near Needham by the Charles River, the liquid was pumped toward Commonwealth avenue. Consequently all the water pipes were largest at the southern boundary, and tapered off toward the center of the city.

The MDC water, however, flowed into the city's mains from a pumping station near on Commonwealth avenue near City Hall. Thus the water was coming into the city's system at the wrong end, being forced into small pipes and running into the larger ones.

During periods of "maximum demand" — when water consumption zoomed in arid summer months — householders in southern sections had trouble getting enough water for a bath or shower, or even for cooking.

Diabetic Class Starts April 28 At N-W Hospital

The Newton-Wellesley diabetic education program, inaugurated last year by several local health agencies, including the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, is being continued under a plan proposed at a recent meeting of the steering committee.

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital,, another of the sponsoring groups, will make its facilities available for the course of five weekly meetings scheduled to start Thursday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. These group discussions have proven valuable to both the diabetic and his family. Persons wishing to attend should have permission of their own physicians.

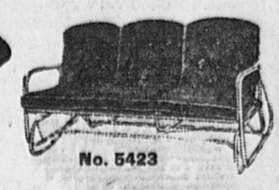

Further information on the courses and application blanks may be obtained by calling the Newton Visiting Nurse Association at BIgelow 4-4880.

HELP SAVE ONE FRIEND FROM CANCER

The Word We Dreaded

My husband and I were together when the phone rang. He got up to answer it and I held my breath as I heard his quiet, "Yes, Doctor?"

Then he put the receiver down carefully. His face, when he turned to me, was gaunt and lined, but he was trying to smile.

"Was it—the laboratory tests?" I asked.

He nodded. "We'd better get my bag packed," he said gently. "They want me in the hospital this evening."

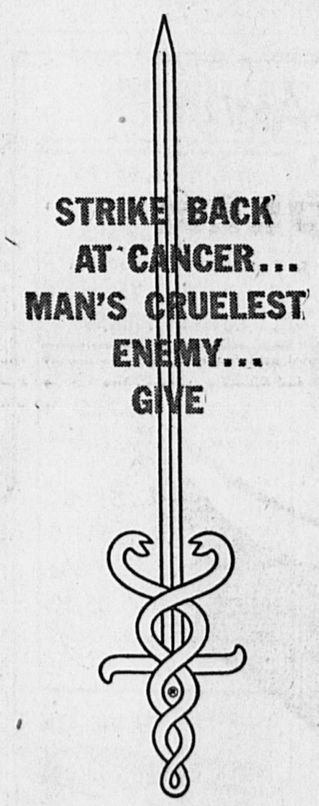

We had realized for months that something was wrong. But the pressure of his business postponed action. "Guess I'm a little off my feed," was all he would say.

It took our family physician only ten minutes to change that attitude. He made an immediate appointment with a specialist. And at the end of an anguished week we knew. The laboratory tests confirmed the word we dreaded—"Cancer."

That was a year ago. Modern cancer research saved my husband. That . . . and the surgeon's skill, the strength of our faith and his own fighting heart. He is alive and well today. For us the story had a happy ending.

Yet it isn't ended. When we think of the thousands of other families tragically broken every year, we feel we still have work to do. Many types of cancer can be cured if caught in time. We tell our friends, "If there are symptoms you don't understand, see your doctor at once." And we give to support the constant research of the American Cancer Society in finding the causes and reducing the incidence of cancer.

STUDENT COUNCIL

From the beginning, this year's Student Council has proved to be an active one. In the fall, the Council adopted a ten-point program, consisting of the ten most wanted and needed adjustments at Bigelow. Many of these problems have ben discussed and improved at the suggestion of the Council.

The crowded conditions in the cafeteria line are now relieved by the functioning of two hot plate lines. The traffic congestion in front of the school has been lessened by the addition of "No Parking" signs. Our handbook is being drawn up for us next fall, and the student activity ticket, a new idea for Bigelow, will be in effect next year.

Our Student Council officers are Alan Howard, President; Barry Wish, Vice President; Judy Goldstein, Secretary; and Steve Marglin, Treasurer. Mr. William Phinney and Mrs. Dorothy Kunberger are advisors.

Richard Perlmutter—Grade 7

BIGELOW'S MASCOT

In the past, Bigelow Junior High School has not had a school mascot, so the Student Council decided to hold a contest to select one. In twenty-five words or less, contestants were to tell why they favored the animal, bird, or insect they suggested. The entries were judged on originality and sensibility. The four best entries all began with the letter "B," as in Bigelow.

Alan Copeland, a seventh grader in room 126, won with the nomination of "Bigelow Bobcat." He choose the bobcat for its cunning and swiftness.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics program at Bigelow has been made more pleasant this year by the addition of new equipment in the kitchen and in the living room. There are two new stoves, a new refrigerator and new sinks and cabinets. The kitchen has been redecorated. It is done in green and yellow. There are four sets of tables and chairs which match the draperies made by the 8th grade girls.

The living room features shades of brown and gold. It boasts a new couch, chairs, and a very attractive coffee table. The Bigelow girls are very proud of their new Home Economics furnishings.

In Home Economics classes, the 7th grade girls, under Mrs. Brush, have had an interesting program. The first part of the year they studied good grooming. Next, they concentrated on cooking, and now, they are working on sewing. At Christmas time, the girls in the 7th grade made cookies for the children at the Peabody Home.

The 8th graders, under the guidance of Miss Bruce, sewed during the fall. In the winter, they studied home nursing and child care. Now they are doing foods and nutrition.

Sue Goldsmith — Grade 7

VOLLEYBALL GAME

The annual student-faculty volleyball game was held on April 1. The faculty team, dressed in a variety of costumes, rushed on to the floor mid cheers from the student body. The faculty's secret weapon, guarded in a stuffed barrel, turned out to be a pad of comment slips (denoting academic failure) which were presented to all students who participated in the game.

The student team was made up of Charles Snider, Paul Gleason, Steve Kates, Bruce Swerling, Larry Devore, Martin Beckwith and John Axerman. Faculty players included the Messrs. Whitney, Beattie, Anderson, Willoughby, Frost, Pray, Nichols and Grainger.

Both teams fought hard, but the students won two of the three games. The games were enjoyed by all.

Eve Epstein - Gerald Kaplan —Grade 7

Temple Reyim Election to Be Held Sunday

The annual election of officers will take place at the regular congregation meeting on Sunday, April 17, 8:15 p.m. at Temple Reyim, 321 Chestnut street, West Newton.

President Nathan Goldstein announces that the slate of new officers to be presented by the nominating committee are as follows: president, Harry Perlmuter; first vice president, Norman Platt; second vice president, Paul Goldstein; third vice president, Mrs. David Shuman; treasurer, Joseph Liner; financial secretary, Samuel Barres; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Saul Chipman; recording secretary, Mrs. Israel Arnold. Nominated for election to the board of directors are George Chaletzky, M. James Zelman, Samuel O. Silver, Charles Shapiro and Mrs. Samuel H. Gerson.

Following the business meeting Dr. Henry Gerald, noted Scandinavian psychologist, will address the congregation on "The Psychology of Mental Telepathy." Dr. Gerald will discuss and demonstrate the scientific approach to mental telepathy in possible proctical applications.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Charles Dumoulin, Mrs. Jack Seligman and Mrs. Samuel Gerson.

To Represent Girl Scouts At Meeting

Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, president of the Newton Girl Scout Council, with Mrs. Thomas Derr, vice-president, and Miss Elizabeth Richardson, executive director, will represent this city at the annual Girl Scout Presidents' Meeting to be held in Boston, at the Hotel Kenmore, April 21. More than 300 presidents, vice-presidents and executive directors are expected to attend. Representing Girl Scouting for nearly 150,000 New England girls between the ages of seven and 17, these women carry the responsibility for administering scouting in their local communities.

Opening with a general meeting at 10:30 in the morning, and continuing with small group discussions later in the morning and after lunch, the theme of the day will be "The President's Job." Special emphasis will be placed on her job in relation to local, regional and national planning.

April Story Hours at Local Library

Vacation time spells story time at the Newton Free Library! Tall tales, short tales, fat ones and skinny ones are in store for the Newton boys and girls who throng to the library story hours.

On Wednesday morning, April 20, at 10:30 at the West Newton Branch Library on Chestnut Street, Mrs. Marie L. Sullivan will greet her many friends for whom a West Newton Story Hour is a never-to-be-forgotten occasion.

On the following morning, April 21, at 10:30 at the Boys' and Girls' Library on Vernon street at Newton Corner, Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian hopes to lead her friends—old and new—through the wonders of storyland.

Records, songs and games will add much to the enjoyment of story time, and the wonderful collections of children's books always provide a rich background.

All children six years of age and older are cordially invited to come.

The program begins at 10 a.m., with Representative Irene K. Thresher of Newton speaking on the topic: "Independent Voters and How To Win Them."

At 11:30 a.m., Republican State Committee chairman Elmer C. Nelson will speak on the topic: "County Government and Analysis of Middlesex County Problems."

Following a luncheon and business meeting, the ladies will hear Gov. Herter's chief secretary, Harry F. Stimpson.

Newton Sports

Newton High's baseball hopefuls will start playing for keeps Monday afternoon when the Tigers clash with defending Suburban League champion Cambridge Latin at Russell Field in Cambridge. In all probability Newton will face sturdy Ron McGinnity, outstanding hurler who sparked Latin to the Suburban crown with his ironman chores . . . Last year's diamond season got off to a slow start at the Newton field when the same McGinnity throttled the Tigers. Let's hope the Orange and Black, beaten twice by Mr. McG., finds his stuff not quite as baffling this time . . . The Tigers will make their home debut a week from tomorrow when Watertown invades the local field. A little batting punch in the right spots can make the 1955 edition of "the Yankees of the Suburban League" another title threat . . . For the information of anyone who dropped up to the high school diamond Monday afternoon: the game was called off for one of the strangest cancellations you'll ever run across. The Somerville coach was suddenly taken ill, and there wasn't anyone in the school who could temporarily fill his shoes even through Monday's encounter. So, despite the idyllic weather, there wasn't any game. The game may be played later, though, once the Somerville coaching question is ironed out . . . Anyone willing to travel can see the Tigers in action this afternoon (Thursday) by creeping down to Brockton for a set-to with the Shoe City boys.

Last Thursday the Orange and Black tasted defeat for the first time as an alert Quincy nine, giving Newton the willies on the basepaths, scampered to a 3-1 win in an exhibition tilt called at the end of seven frames. . . . Quincy pilfered five bases during the afternoon. Steals set up the first two tallies and some fancy footwork brought the third across the plate.

The visitors dented Newton's defense for a run in the first inning. Leftfielder Dick Ruggles—one of the villains in Newton's defeat by Quincy in the Tech Tourney—opened the game by beating out a hit to deep short . . . Howie Whitmore, making a strong bid to emulate his noted father as a baseball flinger, failed to keep Ruggles nailed to second base after a sacrifice, and the runner promptly pilfered third. The next batter topped one in front of the plate, but the throw to first was wide and Ruggles crossed on the error . . . In the fourth inning, with Dana Johnson on the rubber, second baseman Ron Leone delivered a line single over third and stole a pair of bases as Johnson also neglected to hold the runner. A fly to center produced Quincy's second run . . . Meanwhile, Newton had a fairly easy task to get men on base every inning. But pushing them across the plate was another story entirely. Two were left languishing at third base and a trio at second during the seven innings played. . . . The Tigers finally got into the act in the fifth. Dave Chamberlain, up as a pinch hitter, dribbled one down the third baseline. The pitcher quickly got in front of the ball, watched it take a short hop over his glove and then batted at it while Chamberlain crossed the bag . . . With two out, Billy Hamill belted a line screamer to left field that unfortunately bounced straight to the fielder. Otherwise that ball would be rolling yet. Stan Chamberlain rescued brother Dave with a ground single to right.

Quincy added an insurance run in the seventh and last inning when third sacker Ed Tantillo walked, then scored all the way from first on a double just inside the first base bag . . . Russ Halloran, who fanned six in two innings his last time out, only (! ! !) whiffed three in two frames against Quincy. He was also tagged with the final run on that sliced double to the opposite field.

Perhaps we're looking at the picture through too-rosy spectacles, but the Tigers look like a pretty good team so far. Pitchers are still giant strides ahead of the batsmen to date, but the day of reckoning is not too far off when base hits will be rattling all over the place . . . Newton will get its share this year, certainly more so than in the weak '54 season. Billy Hamill is, of course, head and clavicle above everyone else in the batting department, and he can certainly expect more help from his present teammates than before . . . Although the Tigers haven't been running up any impressive hit totals, they still are managing to get a good chunk of the ball most of the time. A few more weeks of outside practice and the long fly balls will be turning into something more acceptable than just windy outs . . . Pitching looks very good. Billy Reilly will probably be the mainstay of the staff, and when not on the rubber will patrol right field or even go behind the plate. Fireballing Russ Halloran—who will be around for another year—is untouchable when his control is right and will send a lot of unhappy batters dragging back to the bench . . . Other hurlers are still a question mark, but Coach Howie Ferguson has enough candidates to come up with someone else. Monday will give the first hint of things to come.

Parents should bring with them the child's birth certificate, certificate of vaccination against smallpox and statement of immunization against diphtheria. Parents are urged to register their children on the above dates.

Mrs. Nanette Oliver, kindergarten teacher, and Miss Sears, school nurse, will be there to meet with the children and their parents.

News of the Day

The Newton Teachers Federation recently held its annual election of officers. Mr. Addison Cowles, one of Day's Social Studies-English teachers, was elected vice president.

"The Spring Whirl", a dance sponsored by the Day Student Council was held on Friday, April 1. No fooling, it was a great success! The proceeds from the dance have been given toward the Student Council trip to New York City, during spring vacation.

In the sports line, the girls have played their final basketball games. The ninth grade came in first with two wins and the seventh grade came in second with one win. The boys have started their spring baseball practice at Albemarle.

Rivers Country ay School Opens June 29 in C.H.

Rivers Country Day School in Chestnut Hill will open a summer day camp for boys and girls on its grounds beginning June 29th and running through August 23rd.

It was at Rivers that the day camp idea had its impetus when 20 years ago, Brookline Day Camp was founded there by its Director of Athletics, Thomas W. Leydon, who will be on the advisory board of Rivers Day Camp. The camp, as was Brookline Day Camp, will be under the supervision of the faculty of the school, supplemented by experts in the various activities from other faculties and colleges.

The broad program of activities offered by the Rivers Day Camp will include: swimming, baseball, softball, arts and crafts, camp crafts, tennis, Indian lore, archery, dramatics, dancing, trips, and rainy day activities. The campers will be transported by cars and beach wagons from their homes to camp and back; they will be served a hot noon meal, cooked by the school's kitchen staff, which will be followed by rest hour.

Tea-Drinking London Turns To Coffee

In tea-drinking London coffee is now all the rage.

During the past year or so, in a city in which even Englishmen complained that it was impossible to get a good cup of coffee, over 100 smartly decorated coffee-houses serving Italian "espresso" and other kinds of coffee have opened up, according to Pan-American World Airways. And all of them are doing a land-office business.

Part of their appeal for Londoneers and for travelers alike —besides the good-quality coffee — is that they stay open late, till midnight and after. Heretofore, since London "pubs" and bars close about 10:30 p. m., residents and visitors who didn't belong to exclusive clubs had nowhere to go after the movies or theatre. Now they crowd into coffee-houses where they can get a variety of sandwiches, pastries and even a meal if they wish.

Pubs Go In For Coffee

The new fad is so popular that it has even shaken the complacency of the traditional pubs. Gradually more and more of them are installing espresso machines of their own — and these have found that serving coffee helps rather than hinders the sale of the traditional pints of "bitter," ale and larger.

Decoration in the coffee houses varies from traditional panelling to the ultra modern. One of the chic ones is El Cubano, on the Brompton Road near the famous store, Harrods. It is in the Mexican style; adobe walls, colored tables, a red-beaked toucan in a cage.

The coffee-houses, so far, have been started by amateurs. The wife of a one-armed Polish flier missed her continental coffee in tea-drinking London and convinced her husband to start one in Park Lane. Soon an interior decorator started another two doors down the street. In between was a French milliner — and the sream of people going in the coffee-houses to right and left convinced her to give up hats and go into cofeee. Now all three are crowded.

Coffee houses, as a matter of fact, have been a part of the London scene for far longer than tea-shops. Most of today's poshest London clubs started out as coffee-houses in the 18th century and before. Dr. Johnson was a coffee-house "regular" in his day. But heretofore in this century good coffee in London was to be found only in private houses, the best restaurants and private clubs.

Foreign Foods Aplenty

Foreign-food restaurants are nothing new in London. In the days when it was necessary to "make do" with a little the more exotic type establishments always seemed to make what little was available do considerably better than the traditional English restaurants.

Italian eating places in Soho compare with the best in Italy, or even New York, and there are at least two excellent Spanish restaurants in London's West End. Italian food has always been a favorite in the seat of the Empire and even smorgasbord is served in Mayfair hotel dining rooms.

Most American travelers who want English mutton and roast beef will be pleased to find that the headwaiters in London restaurants are again able to carve a roast. A hearty roast beef dinner these days will cost between $3.50 and $5 in one of the better restaurants with many tail-coated waiters in attendance.

London theatres this Spring will show the American influence in more ways than dress as the "King and I," "The Teahouse of the August Moon" and other American hits continue to enjoy success in the West End. "The Boy Friend," even though American theatre-goers may not be aware of it, was imported from London where the original English cast is still doing quite nicely by it. Only in London, a good seat for this hit sells for $2.50.

Racing Season To Start

In late May and June, although the theatre season will continue right through the summer, the English tend to move outdoors for their entertainment. The Derby at Epsom Downs and the Royal Ascot are the big events on the horse racing program in a country which supports thousands of turf accountants, legal bookmakers. The Royal Ascot is both a sporting and a social event because members of the Royal family usually attend this race.

London itself and the areas surrounding the city will have more hotels than ever before as a result of a hotel building and refurbishing program started last year. Some of these new middle class hotels, particularly on the outskirts of the city, charge as little as $2.80 to $3.50 a night for a room. In London a room with bath in one of the better hotels will come to about $9 and in one of the bigger houses the bill can run as high as $12 to $15.

Fiscal Problems May Bog Down Work of Legislature

STATE HOUSE, Boston—The coming days will clearly demonstrate whether or not the Senators and Representatives are intent on playing politics with the pocketbooks of Massachusetts working men and women.

There is a definite division between the responsible members of the newly installed House leadership which is handling financial affairs and the newer, younger, less experienced lawmakers who operate on the floor of the House of Representatives and make most issues party politics, regardless of the question.

There is no doubt but what some of the more liberal members of the Democratic party—those referred to on Beacon Hill as short term tenants in the Legislature — are determined that they will press for approval of a bill which would continue the 25 per cent cut in the basic state income tax so as to embarrass the Republican administration.

Of course, if the taxes are not provided and persons are let go from public service because there are not sufficient funds to pay the personnel roster, then the Democratic body which denies the cash for state operations is at fault.

RESPONSIBLE

Moreover, the responsible members of the Democratic party, led by Representatives John J. Toomey of Cambridge, Louis H. Glaser of Malden, Michael Paul Feeney of Boston, Harvey A. Pothier of Haverhill and John C. Bresnahan of Lawrence have refused to list themselves as dissenters to a recommendation concerning income taxes.

The Taxation committee, controlled by Democrats proposed that the 25 per cent cut in income taxes voted by the Herter administration last year, be continued.

While the Democratic controlled taxation committee proposed a cut in taxes on income the financially alert committee on Ways and Means ruled such a move was not financially wise.

PARTY SPLIT

Probably the most disastrous effect of this development on taxation is the complete split of sentiment in the Democratic party.

The Democratic party — at least the more conservative element—holds the reins over the legislative thinking, but within the past few days there has been a spurt of confidence by the less informed group headed by Lowell partisans with little knowledge of government, who have moved to wreck the conservative Democratic leadership.

It is almost certain that before the end of the current legislative session, one of the younger, more vigorous debaters of the Lowell delegations may be called to explain his personal views if he persists in placing his party leadership in an untenable position.

This young man has consistently demanded action on the floor of the House by his party which is contrary to the policies of the dependable Democrats.

COMMITTEES

In the present instance, as relates to taxation the Democratic controlled committee on Taxation voted to continue the 25 per cent cut in state income taxes called for by Governor Herter last year.

The Democrats have argued that the tax should not have been cut if not to be made permanent. Republicans counter that the cash was not needed last year, but is needed now.

In the Taxation committee the vote was a purely political vote designed to hurt Governor Herter.

The vote of the Democratic controlled ways and means committee was one determined by consideration of financial problems considered in the light of responsibility to balance the budget. No one dissented.

Chairman John J. Toomey of Cambridge, the Democratic Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means has refused to enter into any detailed discussion of the problem of income tax reductions at this time.

He is approaching the problem as a matter of saving cash for the taxpayer.

His committee voted without a signle dissenter in direct contradiction to the Taxation Committee.

Thus far this session the House Democratic leadership has been in controversy because of policies set by youthful and less experienced Democrats than those serving on the financial committee.

DID YOU KNOW THAT a young man can save several years of valuable time by enlisting in the Army immediately after graduating from high school? Employers do not favor hiring a young man in a responsible position until he has fulfilled his military obligation, and Selective Service is not calling men until they are over 21 years of age. By that time, a young man can have served a complete enlistment and be ready for civilian life.

Polio Vaccine Available Free To Children

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health has sent the following letter to the physicians of Massachusetts, over the signature of Commissioner Samuel B. Kirkwood:

"You have already learned through the press and otherwise that polio vaccine will be available without charge to first and second grade children throughout the nation if it is released for use. Many of you have volunteered to assist boards of health and school departments in giving this vaccine to the children.

"You have also had emphasised . . . that there will be polio vaccine for sale, if the product is licensed. No doubt you have wondered how this vaccine should be used.

"To meet the need for this guidance the Massachusetts Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics called together an Advisory Committee to suggest a program. This Advisory Committee has made the following statement.

I. The Committee understands that no vaccine will be released for use this year unless licensed by the National Institutes of Health.

II. The Committee understands that if the vaccine is released, the first and second grade children in all public, private, and parochial schools will receive vaccine supplied without charge by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

III. The Committee realizes that the commercial supply of vaccine available to private physicians will be insufficient for administration to all age groups during the current season.

IV. The Committee recommends that this commercial vaccine be used in the following groups:

First Priority: All kindergarten and preschool children over one year of age.

Second Priority: Pregnant women.

Third Priority: All school children in grades three through eight."

The Advisory Committee consists of the following members:

Conrad Wesselhoeft, M.D., President-Elect, Massachusetts Medical Society.

David McL. Greeley, M.D., Department of Pediatrics, Boston University School of Medicine.

Louis Weinstein, M.D., Division of Medicine, Boston University School of Medicine.

Charles A. Janeway, M.D., Department of Pediatrics, Harvard Medical School.

James M. Baty, M.D., Department of Pediatrics, Tufts Medical School.

John F. Enders, M.D., Director of Research, Division of Infectious Diseases, Children's Medical Center.

Stewart H. Clifford, M.D., District Chairman, American Academy of Pediatrics.

R. Cannon Eley, M.D., Chairman, Massachusetts Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics.

Edward Dyer, M. D., Secretary, Massachusetts Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics.

Samuel B. Kirkwood. M.D., Commissioner, Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

Roy F. Feemster, M.D., Director, Division of Communicable Diseases, Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

Johannes Ipsen, M.D., Superintendent, Institute of Laboratories, Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

What's Ahead In Transportation

A new transportation age is coming, with the initial innovations practically dead ahead. Here's how transportation will be — now, and in the dim, dim future.

Trains will be fast, comfortable and low-slung. The Talgo which sets the pattern is a Spanish train much lower than U. S. types. It's much speedier and cheaper to run with care longer and lighter than usual. The Rock Island's "Jet Rocket," will be the first of the U. S. Talgo-type trains.

There will be turbo prop planes this year (they have jet-powered propellers) but no jet transports yet. This spring Capital Airlines will become the first line in the U. S. to use them. Their top speed is 385 miles per hour.

Already here, and catching on fast are moving sidewalks. New York-New Jersey commuters can ride a moving belt sidewalk to their trains. The famous Grand Central Station-Times Square shuttle subway will shortly be replaced by a 15 mile per hour moving sidewalk equipped with benches for riders.

What about helicopters? The Air Transport Association has predicted that 6,000,000 passengers a year will ride in helicopters by 1960.

Commuters' trains of the future may turn out to be monorail trains riding suspended from an overhanging track. Travelling at 250 miles an hour may be possible.

And in the gee-whiz department, responsible experts have predicted that by the year 2000 there will be 1,500-miles-per-hour planes, each carrying 250 passengers; atom-powered planes and trains; electronic highways that control your speed and steering. Don't say "Bosh!" to all this either. You will sound just like Great-Grandpa when he saw his first horseless carriage.

o

DID YOU KNOW THAT the United States Army offers qualified young men, who are willing to enlist for three or more years, their choice of more than 100 technical schools. These schools prepare a man for a satisfying military career or for a lucrative civilian career after serving his enlistment period.

Project to Benefit United Nations Children's Fund

A large committee of interested Newton Parents, in cooperation with the School Department, the P.T.A. Council and the World Affairs Council, is at work to make the UNICEF benefit performance of Danny Kaye's "Assignment Children" a success. The Mayor of Newton, Howard Whitmore, Jr., as Honorary Chairman of the World Affairs Council, will explain briefly the purpose of the project at the opening performance at 10 a.m. Monday, April 18, at the West Newton Theatre; a second performance will be given on the 19th at the same time. "Hans Christian Anderson," another Danny Kaye film, will be shown on th sa me program. Tickets are being sold through the schools this week, but may be procured at the box office if th theatre has not been sold out on those two days.

The project to benefit the United Nations Children's Fund is headed by a committee of three, Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, Mrs. Ralph R. Shrader, and Mrs. James Zimmer, who also served on the Mayor's Committee for the Observance of U.N. Week last fall. It is an outgrowth of the educational program which at that time was conducted in all the public schools as part of the city's observance. In their Social Studies classes the Newton children heard that there are 600 million children in faraway lands who are hungry and sick; and that the money which they give to UNICEF will help in a tangible way, without consideration of race or creed, to relieve suffering among youngsters their own ages. When they learned that the pennies which they would spend for a comic book will give a child 6 glasses of milk in Korea; that the price of a candy bar will save a child from diphtheria in Chile; and that giving the amount spent on a "coke" will provide a child with 10 bowls of rice in India, they expressed their concern by making donations and organizing projects to raise money. The Council of Weeks Junior High School rented a UNICEF film which was shown to all social studies classes, and voluntary contributions from the students amounted to over sixty dollars; a group of sixth graders at the Bowen School distributed hand made pamphlets and then made a door to door canvas, which netted over seventy dollars; various church groups put on plays to raise money. A total of over three hundred and fifty dollars was forwarded by the UNICEF treasurer, Harlow S. Sylvester, to the United Nations Committee for UNICEF.

The benefit performance is the first project of the recently formed World Affairs Council and is the first showing in a community of the Danny Kaye film, which was made last summer on a 40,000 mile trip through the underdeveloped and underprivileged lands of our world. Through the cooperation of Edward Canter, executive of the American Theaters Corporation, and of Joseph P. Callahan, manager of the West Newton Theatre, it was possible for the committee to arrange the two shows, which will have not only educational value but will result in "UNICEF Pennies" going from Newton children to help the world's children. As Danny Kaye said the night when he received a special Academy award for "Assignment Children," "If through the medium of motion pictures we can make the world better understand the world's children, we are on our way to help the world understand itself a little better."

At the two performances, Boy Scouts, under the supervision of William P. Ziegler, will act as monitors. A group of Camp Fire Girls, under the direction of Mrs. Peter F. Coogan, and of Girl Scouts, under the direction of Mr. Frederick O. Dutton, will display posters and literature in the lobby; they will also be in charge of the official UNICEF containers used to receive additional contributions to the fund.

The committee in charge of the distribution of flyers and tickets includes the Mesdames Spencer F. Deming, Anton Fried, Reuben J. E. Guild, John B. Lengemann, John C. McClintock, Haskell Ostroff, Herbert H. Waterhouse, and Miss M. Louise Walworth. "Mothers", who are in charge of ticket selling in the elementery and junior high schools are the Mesdames Albert Beisel, Arthur S. Berberian, Henry Blake, James M. Cail, John F. Carr, Robert Cobb, Robert Coleman, Warren Dean, Herbert Downs, William Locke, Katherine Loughlin, Malcolm MacCalden, Frank Neal, Jr., Charles Olton, Pauline Patriacca, Bernard J. Rainville, Gordon Reynolds, Charles Robinson, Milton Schneider, George Sherman, Charles E. Smith, Abbott Spear, R. E. Sylvester, Robert Toher, Allard Valentine, Albert J. VanSteenbergen, Wilfred Werner, Harvey White, and Herbert Wiezel.

The Auburndale Woman's Club held its annual meeting and election of officers yesterday (Wednesday) at the 1812 House in Framingham.

A luncheon was served at 1 p.m., and the executive board presented a leather train case to the president, Mrs. Malcolm Jackson, who has just completed a two-year term of office.

Following the luncheon, the business meeting was called to order by the president, and the new slate of officers elected to serve for 1955-56 was read.

They are Mrs. J. Howard Littleton, president; Mrs. Richard E. Cleveland, first vice-president; Mrs. Thomas E. Crosby, second vice-president; Mrs. Byron H. Peirce, treasurer; Mrs. Albert E. The winner of the annual scholarship was announced as Miss Marjorie Breen of 116 Auburn street, Auburndale. Miss Breen was introduced by the chairman of the Scholarship Committee, Mrs. William P. Noonan.

The program concluded with a talk by Isabel Hickey, astrologer, who presented "Your Destiny and the Stars."

LOCAL PEOPLE INTERESTED IN U.S.O. ACTIVITIES

A number of Newton people, adults and juniors, are interested in USO activities. They make serious efforts to plan activities that help service men, especially those from out of town, to enjoy those dull hours that are apt to come up on week-ends.

One recent event which met with great success was a blind date contest at which Mr. and Mrs. George Saunders of 3 Cherry place, West Newton, were chaperons. The blind dates were Newton Junior hostesses: Nancy McDonald, Judy Stanley and Joan Uttaro. Their dates were Pvt. John J. Mosselem, Jr., Pittsburg, Pa; Pvt. Roy J. Hall, Santa Ana, Calif.; Pvt. Ernest A. Lucitte, Jr., Detroit, Mich.

The blind date started at the Totem Pole Matinee for which Ken Mayer, producer of the show, contributed tickets to the group. They also visited the Science Fair at Boston College and the General Motors exhibit in Wellesley. After a charcoal-broiled steak dinner the party wound up with an evening of dancing at the Totem Pole Ballroom. These boys left for overseas with great appreciation for the kindnesses of those who helped to make their last week-end in Massachusetts one of happy memories.

Another event attended by many Newton Junior hostesses was the April Fool Dance given by the Air Force at the Service Club, Hanscom Field, Bedford.

Societies and clubs from surrounding cities and towns do their bit by putting on Sunday night suppers and planning interesting programs to coincide with the USO activities.

What Shall We Eat... ...A Luncheon For Friends

Luncheons are fun times to have friends in and with a main dish that can be prepared early in the day and that takes some time to cook, the homemaker has a worry free period in which to get the rest of the meal ready with no concern about her main dish.

Cheese Fondue answers these requirements . . . it can be fixed ahead and takes awhile to bake. Not only this, but it offers good flavor, good nutrition, and good eating for guests . . . or for just the family too.

Flavor is provided by cheese, milk, eggs, and spices. These ingredients blend together to give a dish that has a pleasing flavor, not too bland.

Good nutrition receives a boost from many ingredients in a fondue. Milk, chese and eggs contain protein. They also give good amounts of vitamins and minerals, also provided by the bread.

And good flavor and good nutrition add up to good eating. Accompanied by a spick Tomato Sauce, an asparagus salad, rolls, butter, Baked apples, and a beverage, this meal serves well for company.

CHEESE FONDUE

2 cups coars, day-old bread crumbs.
2 cups milk
1½ cups grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash cayenne
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon butter
4 eggs, separated

Pull crumbs from day old bread, using fork. Scald milk and add crumbs, grated cheese, salt, mustard, cayenne, Worcestershire sauce and butter. Add slowly to beaten egg yolks. Bake custard cups in a moderate oven, 325 degrees, for about 45 to 50 minutes or bake large casserole for 1 hour to 1 1-4 hours, until fondue is set and golden brown. Serve with Tomato Sauce. USAF Explains New Program For 'Re-Treads'

The United States Air Force has announced a new re-enlistment program with special inducements, according to Sergeant J. A. Wilbourne, Air Force recruiter, at 15 Irving street.

Under the new plan former airmen who are qualified and technically trained in specific specialties, may now enlist in their permanent grade held at the time of separation and be currently promoted to any temporary grade held at that time, provided they enlist within six months from the date of their separation.

Under the former plan, airmen were required to re-enlist within 90 days.

The date of grade will serve as the date of enlistment under this plan.

As of this date there were 108 Air Force specialties included in the list of shortages now existing in the United States Air Force.

—o—

DID YOU KNOW THAT the U. S. Army Artillery mans the guided missile stations being erected around the major cities of the nation? Qualified young men may now enlist for direct assignment to the artillery.

TRAFFIC JAMS THE STREETS!

MUST THE MTA TAKE TO THE CHARLES RIVER?

Of course it's impossible for the MTA to use the Charles to get you to Boston and home faster, in rush hours!

But it's just as impossible to give you proper public transportation service as long as workers, commuting by automobile, insist on glutting the roads approaching Boston every morning and night.

The MTA has the vehicles to give you the best rapid transit service in the country. We can't as long as traffic-glutted roads paralyze bus and trolley car movement to and from rapid transit terminals and in the city. Except in tunnels or on the "L" we're as badly off as any highway vehicle — and these days that's pretty bad.

The great majority of those who work in Boston depend on public transportation systems for their regular travel to and from their employment. They suffer because a minority drive automobiles to and from their jobs.

Boston desperately needs a complete parking ban in all downtown streets. The present ban on some streets before 9:30 a.m. and between 4 and 6 p.m., would be helpful — provided it was strictly enforced. But this is not enough.

Establishing more parking will entice more people to join the automobile-commuting minority, creating worse jams on the approach roads morning and night. Clear the streets of the all-day parkers. Make room for shoppers, and those who want to come into Boston to buy and do other things during the day. Public transportation can take good care of the commuters, if it is given a chance to do so.

Here's The Answer for Those Who Must Drive from Outlying Points

Use MTA parking lots, spotted around the outskirts of Boston. Attendants will park your car and the MTA will whisk you into the city.

You can save as much as $130.00 a year parking at MTA lots and riding in and out of Boston by MTA rapid transit trains. You'll save time, too. Over 12,000 people are doing this every week and they like it. You will too! ALL-DAY parking, PLUS a round-trip ticket good ANYWHERE on the MTA costs you only 61¢. Spot the MTA parking lot nearest you. Help yourself to its benefits.

Music Festival of All Newton Music School on April 26th

The Music Festival to be presented by the Trustees and Parents Association of the All Newton Music School on Tuesday evening, April 26, at the Totem Pole, offers a variety of music interpretations which will be ably portrayed by several Newton groups.

Mrs. Constance Cover Wurster, a recent addition to the faculty of the school will be the featured soloist with the All Newton Music School Orchestra, which is conducted by Miss Irene Forte, and is composed of faculty, high school and adult pupils. Mrs. Wurster received a Bachelor of Arts degree, Magna Cum Laude, from the Colorado College and a Bachelor of Music degree from the Yale University School of Music. She is a winner of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs contest and was the soloist with the North Texas Symphony when it was on tour in cities throughout Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

D. Ralph Maclean will direct the Highland Glee Club which numbers over sixty members and is acclaimed as being an outstanding male singing organization in all of New England.

A Modern Dance Group from the Newton High School, which has been infrequently seen by Newton audiences will be an added feature of the evening. Miss Marilyn Bickford, dance instructor at the high school, a graduate of Sargent and a pupil of Jan Veen, will direct this portion of the program, accompanied by Miss Doily Marsh. The choreography done by the teacher and pupils shows a great deal of originality and youthful gaiety.

A highlight of the Festival will be the presentation of the Gutberg sisters, Ingrida and Karin, Latvian born duo-pianists who now live in Boston. They are graduates of Master Classes of the world famous Academy, the Mozartoreum of Salzburg, Austria, and reached a high position in European Musical Centers. Since their Boston debut in 1952 they have been enthusiastically received throughout the United States and Canada.

Following an intermission the remaining half of the evening will be devoted to dancing. The All Newton Music School has engaged Al Graceffa and his band of fourteen members. They are all Newton High School students and Al Graceffa frequently plays with Freddie Guerra's band, well known at the Totem Pole. A senior at the high school, Graceffa hopes to enter Boston University in the fall.

Tickets for this event may be obtained by calling Mrs. William C. Worth, Executive Director of The All Newton Music School at 398 Walnut street, Newtonville. Phone LA 7-1754.

WHAT'S THE WEATHER?

For more than six years, Newton High Schools meteorology club has been posting daily weather forecasts in the respective buildings around campus. During this period the average accuracy of these reports has been eighty per cent correct. Moreover, students have made, in many instances, more accurate storm forecasts than some local radio forecasters.

The meteorology club is under the direction of Dr. Albert Navez, who is quite a reputable weather forecaster himself. Within the past few seasons, the club has had many prominent speakers present at their monthly meetings. Among these were: Donald "Weather-Bee" Dixon, "The Old Salt", and Oscar Tenenbaum, Staff meteorologist at the U.S. Weather Bureau. Anyone interested in attending these lectures is encouraged to inquire about them and also cordially invited to attend.

FENCING EXHIBITION

On March 14, in the Girls Gym at Newton High School an interesting Fencing exhibition was given by five outstanding Fencers. One hundred and twenty-five people enjoyed the exhibition. After the competition there was a question and answer period, and a few people from the audience had a chance to try to fence.

The Master of Ceremonies was Ray Chambers who is a many times National and International competitor, and who holds mid-west rank in Fencing. He is also an outstanding scholar of the Rules and Regulations of Fencing.

The other participants in the competition were: Grace J. Marchant, Sally Chambers, Ed Samody, and Silvio Vitale.

Grace Marchant is a graduate of Newton High. She started Fencing in Europe and is now a member of the Olympic Squad. She held the New England Championship for several years.

NANCY WERNICK WINS

"The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow" in Newton High School is Nancy Wernick. She received the highest score in a written examination which tested the homemaking knowledge and aptitudes of the senior girls. She will compete in the contest to name this state's candidate for the title of "All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow." March 14 Dr. Barry awarded Nancy a golden pin.

What Shall We Eat . . . . . Tasty Easter Leftovers

Easter has gone, but often the remnants of its ham dinner are still with you and the problem of how to use those remnants can be a real one.

Here is a dish that requires a little time, but fills the bill for imaginative use of leftovers . . for use of them in a way that completely disguises their original shape and adds something to the flavor.

Deviled Ham Puff adds mustard and horseradish to the original smokesalt flavor of ham and brings in milk and eggs to blend the flavors together and provide extra protein in the dish.

The dish can be mellowing in the refrigerator after you've prepared it following breakfast and baking in the oven while you complete your morning routine. Then at lunch time, out it comes, piping hot and ready to be devoured. And devoured it will be, because it's a taste-pleaser that will really hit the spot.

This is a meal for company that will take little work as the salad and dessert are simple and the main dish is the only one which requires much forethought. But serve it to the family, too, and watch them ask for it again.

Deviled Ham Puff

- 8 slices day-old white bread
- ¾ pound cooked ham, ground
- 3 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon horseradish, if desired
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 cups milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Pepper

Let bread dry out and toast lightly. Cut crusts from bread and place crusts in a buttered baking dish, 9x9x1½ inches. Combine ham, mustard, and horseradish and spread evenly over crusts, then arrange the whole slices, cut in half diagonally, on the top. Mix eggs, milk, salt, and pepper and pour over bread so as to saturate the top slices; allow to stand for 1 hour; bake at 325° F. for 1 hour. Serve immediately. Makes 8 servings.

"Conquest of Space" with Eric Fleming will be shown Sunday through Tuesday. The co-feature will be "Elephant Walk", starring Elizabeth Taylor and Dana Andrews.

The box office opens at 6:30 p.m. and the show is continuous from 7 p.m.

Health for All

Drama has marked the long history of the fight against tuberculosis, but perhaps no development has been more dramatic than recent changes in treatment of the disease. Chemotherapy has entered the picture bringing with it new hope and new problems.

What is chemotherapy? It is a general term covering treatment of disease with drugs, and goes back to the alchemists of the Middle Ages in Europe. A long way back, you might say, from the modern scientist in his laboratory to Dr. Faustus muttering spells over strange mixtures in a smoky den. But like the researcher of today, the alchemist was trying to defeat disease, although his methods were not scientific. He believed that if he could only find the right mixture he could create the perfect substance he called "the philosopher's stone" — a drug so powerful it could cure every ailment, turn base metal into gold, and make the possessor of the secret all-powerful. Because of the little knowledge he possessed, he was respected and feared as a sorcerer, and his cures were looked on as miracles.

The modern scientist is not searching for the philosopher's stone, but, by thorough research, he is seeking and finding drugs to treat specific diseases. So much has been accomplished that we are sometimes tempted to expect miracles from him.

In 1944 an antibiotic, streptomycin, derived from a fungus, was found to be effective against tuberculosis. Since then other antibotics and synthetic chemical compounds such as isoniazid and PAS, short for para-amin-nosalicylic acid, have been added. But none of them is the complete answer to TB.

The problems of chemotherapy in TB are many. The germs may become resistant to one drug. The patient may not be able to tolerate another. To delay development of resistance, the drugs are usually used in pairs. The choice of drugs for the individual patient, the amount of the dose, the length of time treatment should continue—all these questions must be answered.

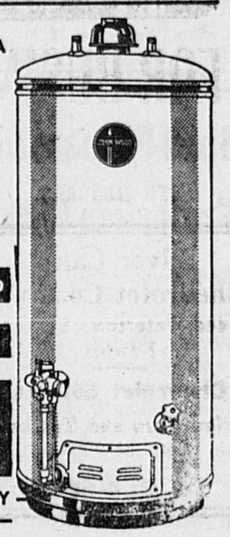

New drugs are constantly being sought to add to the number of possible choices and combinations. So far, a drug which can eliminate the germs without harming the patient seriously has not been found. The drugs now in use do keep the germs from multiplying so that normal body defenses can fight the disease or so that surgery can be used to remove damaged parts. There's no sorcery in it, and no miracles are being worked But chemotherapy is saving lives from tuberculosis every day.

WORTH A TRY

A campaigning senator is reported as confessing, apologetically, to his audience: "I was born over a drug store. On account of the labor and lumber shortage the year I was born, only a few wealthy Republicans would afford log cabins."

Here lies the body of Jonathan Gay;
He died maintaining his right of way.
He was right, dead right, as he sped along.
But he's just as dead as if he's been wrong.

How to Select Proper Shade Tree for Lawn

The current emphasis on planting only low-growing trees in suburban areas is "folly," according to a tree authority.

"A little tree is not a shade tree," says Dr. R. P. Marshall, director of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories. "It is a mistake to urge new property owners to stereotype their homes and landscaping with trees that will never lift their crowns more than 20 or 30 feet high."

Dr. Marshall believes small trees should be mixed with bigger ones, as nature has done it. The best trees to plan are those native to your region. A tree should be selected with these things in mind:

(1) Will it have adequate room when it reaches its ultimate size? (2) Will grass grow under it and will it be a tree that does not continually drop fruit, twigs and bark? (3) Will it have beauty in full leaf, autumnal coloration and attraction when its branches are naked (4) Will it withstand storms and its upkeep (pruning and spraying) be not excessive? (5) Will it give good shade?

Small trees, Dr. Marshall holds, have their place, especially the flowering dogwoods (every plot should have one), birches (if planted within their range), sorrel (for late bloom and autumn color), but the stalwart oak and maple, elm and ash, hickory and linden "must not be forgotten." "Lifting one's eyes to the top of a mighty tree can be ennobling to man's mind," says Dr. Marshall. "Little minds look down. We must not set a style in trees that will lose this exhilirating majesty of nature."

These are recommended lawn trees for different heights:

Small (to 30 feet tall)

Flowering dogwood, Magnolia, Washington hawthorn, Japanese maple, Flowering crabapple, Sorrel, Native birches, European white birth.

Medium (to 50 feet tall)

Red maple, Sour Gum, American hornbeam, Sweet Gum, Yellow wood, Ginkgo, White ash, London Plane, Native sycamore, Pin oak, Linden, Thornless honey locust, European beech.

Tall (above 50 feet tall)

American elm, White oak, Red oak, Scarlet oak, Sugar maple, Horsechestnut, Cucumber magnolia, Tuliptree.

Best Food Buys in April

Every homemaker keeps her eyes open for good food buys. She'll find these in April. Pork and pork products, beef, fresh and frozen haddock, halibut and shrimp, canned tuna, eggs, milk and other dairy products. Also, fresh and processed oranges and grapefruit, canned snap beans, canned sweet corn, raisins, rice, small prunes, lard and, in some areas, lamb and dried beans.—CHANGING TIMES

Powerful Sixes, V-8 Engine Offered in 1955 Chevrolets

The "dream car"—styled 1955 Chevrolets on display at Feely Chevrolet Inc., 70 Chestnut street, represent the most comprehensive model chane in the company's history with greater power, improved riding and handling qualities and overall new mechanical design.

Every major part of the car has been re-resigned in a broad research and development program which combined a thorough re-engineering job and tremendous plant expansions.

Outstanding among the new features are the longer and lower silhouette; a 162-horsepower V-8 engine and more powerful, improved sixes; stronger all-in-one body and frame design; new front and rear suspensions for easier riding and handling; greater glass area and tubeless tires for added safety; more electrical power; cowl-type "dry air" ventilation and optional all-weather air conditioning; easier steering; smoother power application with a Hotchkiss drive; an overdrive option; and more station wagon choices.

Stand-out features of the new Chevrolet bodies are their low silhouette and vertical windshield pillars. All roofs have been lowered along with hood and belt lines to emphasize the low-slung appearances. Sedans are two and a half inches lower, station wagons as much as six.

New for 1955 among the 14 bodies of the One-Fifty, Two-Ten and Bel Air series are the two-door station wagons. The full line-up includes two and four-door sedans in all series, two-door station wagons in the One-Fifty and Two-Ten, four-door station wagons in Two-Ten and Bel Air, a utility sedan in the One-Fifty, a club coupe in the Two-Ten, and sport and convertible coupes in the Bel Air series.

A wider variety of colors is available. Of 14 solid color options, 10 are new. All but one of the 21 two-tone combinations are new. A special two-tone option on Bel Air convertible and sport coupe extends the top color on to the rear deck and quarter panels. There are 190 possible color choices among the 14 models.

The new Turbo-Fire V-8, first V-8 offered by Chevrolet in 35 years, is the product of years of research and hundreds of thousands of miles of testing. Of valve-in-head design, it is precision balanced and has the gas-squeezing compression ratio of 8 to 1 and 265-cubic inch displacement. Exceedingly compact, it has a bore of 3.75 inches and a stroke of only three inches. The short stroke reduces friction and increases efficiency, engineers say. A special 180-horsepower V-8 is optional, combining a four-barrel carburetor and dual exhausts.

The re-designed six-cylinder engine built exclusively for Powerglide automatic transmission generates 136-horsepower. The standard six has a 123-horsepower output. Both sixes are more efficient and quieter because of changes which include new water and fuel pumps and a larger fan.

Supporting the fresh styling trend, body and frame are tied together in a construction which gives greater rigidity and resistance to twisting. The frame has 50 per cent more resistance to twisting that before though it is 18 per cent lighter. This is accomplished by integrating the front suspension cross member into the frame as a rigid cowl, adding stronger side members and improving attachment of the rear cross member and engine mounts.

Revamped front and rear suspensions assure added riding comfort, handling and roadability. At the front is the advanced version of ball-joint design with a control arm geometry that eliminates virtually half thhe "dive" that accompanies brake stops. A new, more durable lightweight bearing material reduces lubrication points from 16 to 4. For stability, rear springs are mounted outrigger style along the frame after the fashion of the Chevrolet Corvette sports car. Leaf springs are nine inches longer and slightly wider than before. The rear axle has greater capacity and the clutch is enlarged a fifth for greater durability.

Tubeless tires are an important safety feature. Safety and greater visibility result from the larger glass area where there is a 19 per cent increase in the "Sweepsight windshield" alone. Glass area in the four-door sedan totals 24½ square feet, an increase of more than 18 per cent over 1954. Every car window is made of safety plate glass.

A 12-volt electrical system provides more power for growing demands of accessories. This system is standard on eights and sixes and assures greater generator efficiency and higher starting motor speeds.

An arch-shaped plenum installed in the cowl and extended to the frame on each side acts as a structural brace and also houses the "dry air" ventilation system. It channels fresh air from a slotted cowl vent. The all-weather air conditioner offered as an option with the V-8 engine this year is the most compact in the industry. The compressor is no larger than a football and is equal to 24 household units. Regardless of the elements, it places weather-making control at the fingertips of the car's occupants.

The recirculating ball-nut gear principle has been adapted from power steering and combined with a relay type linkage to provide smooth and effortless steering. An improved version of power steering is also optional at a lower price.

Replacing the former torque tube drive, the Hotchkiss drive on 1955 Chevrolets delivers power more smoothly to rear wheels and allows for the low-slung car design.

For the first time, Chevrolet offers an automatic overdrive option on the V-8 and the 123-horsepower six. It involves substituting the 4.11:1 ratio high performance rear axle for the 3.7 ratio rear axle. Chevro-revolutions per mile for apprelet engineers say it reduces engine speed 22 per cent or 615 ciable gasoline savings.

Chrysler Sales Records Broken

All sales records in Chrysler Division's 31-year history were broken in the first quarter of 1955 with the delivery of 44,115 new Chrysler and Imperial cars to customers, reports E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

In the first three months of 1955, Chrysler Division dealers sold 44,115 cars, up 70.1 per cent over first quarter sales of 25,939 in 1954.

Further proof that Chrysler's new features and Forward Look styling are popular with the public came in with news that sales in the final 10-day period of March reached a high of 6,120 cars—up 95.9 per cent over the same period last year when 3,124 were delivered.

Chrysler sales are in an accelerating upward trend, Braden pointed out. March deliveries of 16,700 cars were up 23.3 per cent over the preceding month, February, and up 77 per cent over March, 1954.

Production capacity now is the only restriction on greater sales, Braden added, and when Chrysler Division's new multi-million - dollar manufacturing plant in Detroit is completed in July production will be increased by 40 per cent to approximately 1,200 cars per day.

News that an all-time first quarter sales record had been posted brought cheers from 200 assembled Chrysler sales executives and field men who were meeting in Detroit to hear the Division's sales, advertising, merchandising and service plans for the balance of 1955.

For 1955 Buick presents a completely new line of cars in four series, featuring all new styling, higher compression V-8 engines, and a revolutionary new variable pitch Dynaflow transmission which greatly improves performance. The new Buicks may be seen at Richard Buick, Inc., 237 Chestnut st. This company is being headed by Phillip Epstein, president and treasurer, who is assisted by his son, Richard S. Epstein. A garage with factory trained mechanics is maintained, headed by Archie Howell, Jr., service manager.

Buick's advanced new styling features a new front end with a new wide-screen grille, new rear fenders with long, flowing lines thart give the trunk compartment a longer, lower look, new wheel discs with locomotive hubs and massive new taillights combined in a single bezel with the backup lights. Interiors also have been improved with many color combinations in luxurious new fabrics of nylon and cordaveen.

The new Twin Turbine Dynaflow with variable pitch stator blades improves performance on the low end and in passing.

The new Dynaflow operates on the same principle as the variable pitch propeller in an airplane. Just as an airplane pilot sets the propeller pitch for increased engine erformance on take-off, the driver, by pressing the accelerator to the floor, can change the angle of the vanes in the stator to a high pitch for fast acceleration, either from a standing start or for passing.

The new device works silently and smoothly, with no jerks or interruptions of power from the engine to the rear axle.

For all normal operation the new Dynaflow works the same as before. Only when the driver wants the increased performance and presses the accelerator clear to the floor does the pitch of the stator blades change.

The new Buicks come in 15 six- passenger body styles, mounted on two wheelbases with two horsepower ratings. The horsepower in the Roadmaster Super and Century Series has been increased to 236. In the Special Series it has been boosted to 188.

Both the Roadmaster and Super Series are mounted on a 127-inch wheelbase, and the Century and Special utilize a 122-inch wheelbase, the same as last year. Overall length remains the same, 216.8 inches for the Roadmaster and Super and 206.3 inches for the Century and Special.

The compression ratio has been increased to 9-to-1 on the Roadmaster, Super and Century Series, and to 8.4-to-1 in the Special.

Tubeless tires are standard equipment on all models, except those equipped with wire wheels.

In addition to the new grille, the front end styling for 1955 includes a new bumper, new headlights and a new hood ornament. The new grille and the new, wider bumper give the front end a more sturdy appearance, yet retains the Buick identity.

The grille itself is of a honeycomb design set in a curving grille frame. Bumper bombs are located on top of the bumper near the outer edge of the grille. Leading from each of the bombs is a bumper rail which wraps around the outside of the front fender, parallel with the top of the bumper. A new emblem, incorporating the Buick tricolor is set in the center of the grille with wings extending horizontally toward the bumper bombs. Two air scoops are located in the bumper directly beneath the bumper bombs. The license plate frame is mounted on the bumper directly beneath the grille.

The hood on the 1955 Buick has been lowered slightly by recessing the center section. This improves appearance and gives the hood added rigidity. The hood ornament consists of four concentric rings with a "V" passing through them.

Front fenders feature a wheel cutout with the lower portion behind the wheel swept back slightly. Ventiports have been restyled with four ports on the Roadmaster, Super and Century, which use 236 horsepower engine, and three on the Special with the 188 horsepower engine. Previously four ventiports were reserved for the Roadmaster only.

Buick's new rear fenders, with their long, flowing design, give the rear compartment a longer, lower look without adding any length to the car. The top fender line /ows straight back to the rear where it is capped by a chrome tail and backup light housing.

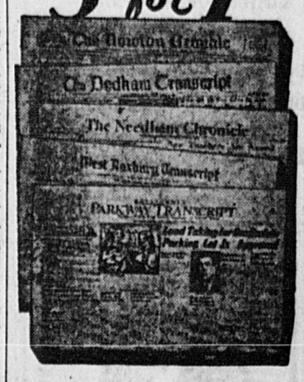

The top half of this housing, in which is set a combination, tail, stop and directional signal light, is swept back with the backup light in a circular housing in the center. A reflector is located below the backup light just above the rear bumper.

The taillight assembly, together with the new rear bumper which is tailored to the contours of the rear end, gives an apeparance of grace and beauty unequalled in Buick styling.

According to American Cancer Society statistics, of every four persons who get cancer, one will be saved, but three will die.

Naming of Convention Delegates Behind Democratic Row: Dever Will Promote Jefferson-Jackson Fund Raising Dinner

It took a Supreme Court justice to insist that the battle for the control of the Democratic State Committee be settled in the only way it can be resolved—through an election held by the committee members.

After maneuvering and manipulating for more than two months, the opposing factions must now mobilize their strength for a showdown at a meeting on June 4. The political stakes will be high, even though the committee itself amounts to little as a political organization.

Former Collector of Port William H. Burke, Jr., of Hatfield and John C. Carr of Medford, who has served as committee chairman for the past five years, the rival contestants for the chairmanship, seem evenly matched at this point. The outcome of their clash may depend on developments within the next few weeks.

The man who wins the unusual fight will have an important voice in selecting the delegation which will represent Massachusetts at next year's Democratic national convention. That is the real reason for all the political pulling and hauling and the bitter struggle to head an organization which is broke and in debt.

Famous World War II Veteran and Movie Star to Address Democrats

HAROLD RUSSELL

It was announced today by the executive board of the Newton Democratic Club that a distinguished guest and speaker at the joint meeting with the Democratic City Committee on Wednesday, April 27 will be the famous World War II veteran and movie-star, Harold Russell. This follows last week's announcement that Governor's Councillor Endicott "Chub" Peabody would also address the combined meeting.

Familiar to all through his inspiring portrayal of the amputee sailor in the motion-picture "The Best Years of Our Lives" — a performance that won him two Academy Awards—Harold Russell is a living example of complete victory over what might have constituted a major handicap. The only two-term National Commander in the history of AMVETS, he has become the best known disabled veteran of the Second World War, and as such, has dedicated himself to the spiritual uplifting of all handicapped persons. In 1949 he was chosen by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the ten outstanding young men of that year. His primary current endeavors are as the vice-president of the World Veterans Fund, an adjunct of the World Veterans Federation of which he is a leading member. This organization represents fourteen million exservice men from 29 nations and was founded on the principle of propagation of peace with freedom and prosperity throughout the world.

In this capacity he has travelled throughout Europe, Africa and the Near East, visiting the capitols of England, France, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Holland, Yugoslavia, West Germany, Israel, and Egypt. Through a unique program of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, an 11-year-old Korean girl has been "adopted" by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nachman of 233 Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands.

By their "adoption," the Nachmans contribute a monthly sum towards the child's support through the Foster Parents' Plan, which recently extended its activities to Korea from Europe.

A brief history of Chung Kyung Ja, the Korean girl they are aiding, follows, as forwarded by the Foster Parents' Plan:

Kyung Ja was born in Seoul. She has a sister, aged seven. Their father is dead. The mother re-married several years ago and went away with the younger child, leaving Kyung Ja with her aunt. Nothing has been heard of the mother since the war, and it is not known if she is alive or dead.

The aunt has four children of her own and has a hard time providing for Kyung Ja, although she gives her affection. The child knows only too well

9 Days Remain for Car Sticker

Registrar of Motor Vehicles King reminds the motoring public that there are only nine more days left in which to comply with the Massachusetts Inspection Law.

Vehicles must display a white April, 1955, inspection sticker on the lower right-hand corner of the windshield on May 1. If the vehicle is equipped with a wrap-around windshield, the sticker must be placed on the lower edge as far to the right as possible and still be visible to the front.

"Go to your neighborhood official inspection station today! Avoid the last-minute rush. Registry personnel and police will be on every highway early Sunday morning, May 1. Drivers of cars which have not been inspected will be prosecuted. This year, conviction in court for failing to comply with the inspection laws will result in the assessment of three points," cautions Registrar King.

Taxpayers' Ass'n

Urges Cutting Surplus Funds To Ease Tax Rate Increase

A surplus of a quarter-million dollars is enough to cover any municipal emergency until tax revenue rolls in, and the rest of the surplus funds should be used to keep down the local tax rate, the Newton Taxpayers' Association stated in the April issue of its bulletin.

"At tax rate time," said Taxpayers' Topics, "the amount of surplus voted by the aldermen affects the tax rate substantially. We disagree with all those who contend that a minimum of $500,000 should be held on hand at all times."

Repeating its stand of past years, the Association termed a $250,000 surplus as "sufficient for emergency." A half-million was called "most ample" and $750,000 "definitely excessive." Keeping a full million was listed as "outrageous."

Last year, the bulletin continued, the city kept a surplus of about $600,000 at tax rate time, mainly because of predictable expenses for projects already "in the works."

"This year no major drains on surplus appear to be anticipated now. Also, the tax bills go out earlier, so the critical time involved for emergency is much less. Surplus should be used as a shock absorber, not as a road block. The Association therefore says again, a $250,-

Say 'Island' Blocks Turn By Trucks

Newton was described as having "pulled a boner" by constructing a fire station that ladder trucks would have trouble getting out of, during a debate Monday night by the aldermen on the installation of traffic signals at the three new firehouses.

Alderman Winfield C. Anderson first raised the question of whether a truck would be able to leave the Newtonville station on Crafts street and make a left turn into Watertown street, where there is an "egg-shaped" traffic island. He doubted that a long truck could get around the island.

Agreeing, Alderman Leo M. Cannon, "I think when they put that building in at Crafts and Watertown streets they pulled a boner." He argued that it should have been placed slantwise on the corner lot so the trucks would not have to make any sharp corners.

Location of the concrete island, surmounted by a traffic light, came up in a discussion of signals for the fire stations under construction on Elliot street, Newton Highlands; Willow street, Newton Centre; and Crafts street, Newtonville.

The lights, costing a total of $18,800, were eventually referred back to committees for study after a sometimes stormy and often confused discussion.

A motion by Alderman Anderson for further study of the Newtonville lights was beaten

Household Rubbish A Fire Hazard

Household rubbish is the main target of Spring Clean Up in Newton.

And while most folks don't think of the many useless things they've got stored away around the house as rubbish — that's what it is and it's a major fire hazard Fire Chief John E. Corcoran warned today.

He explained that rubbish itself does not cause fire, except in some cases of spontaneous ignition. But it is the kind of fuel that fire loves and all it needs is any stray spark to start it off.

There are many different kinds of household rubbish, but these fast-burning items are among the most dangerous: old linens, cast-off clothing, mattresses, old furniture, curtains, draperies, lampshades, magazines, papers, linoleum and rags.

The Chief advised everyone to check for quick-burning rubbish in closets, attics and basements—these are the likeliest places for home fires to start according to the reports of the National Fire Protection Association.

down by a narrow 9-8 margin, but the aldermen blocked any action with a charter objection.

The charter protest, which may be brought by any alderman on an appropriation matter automatically postpones a vote until the next regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The two other signals were also sent back for further deliberations after it was discovered that the Street Traffic Committee had not considered the installations.

Location of all three light projects was outlined for the city by the State Department of Public Utilities, and the city has no choice on where to put them if they are installed at all.

The lights at the Newton Centre station, scheduled for the intersection of Lyman, Willow and Beacon streets, were described as "a large expense for very little benefit." Equipment coming out onto Willow street—which is not very heavily traveled—makes so much noise that anyone passing can hear the trucks, argued Alderman William A. Diman.

A light will have to be placed in front of that station no matter what is done with the other signals, said Alderman Edwin A. Terkelsen. And since the street is already torn up now, he continued, it would save unnecessary expense by laying conduit for the wires now.

"Why should we worry about tearing up a street when the Edison and gas companies do it every day," retorted Anderson. "Sometimes we pave a street and within 24 hours they start digging it up."

But although the Willow street light was voted back into committee for study, Public Works Director Willard Pratt was instructed to install pipes for the wiring under the street, just in case the light is eventually built. Pratt explained that the pipes would cost very little, but tearing up the street could run into a considerable amount of money.

Newton may be sticking its municipal neck out as far as being liable for damages is concerned by not erecting the lights, offered Alderman Charles H. Cosgrove. He said the city might be sued if a truck coming out on a fire call should run into an auto in front of a station which has no signal lights.

Anderson's charter objection to the Crafts street installation was his second of the night, and his third in two meetings. Two weeks ago he blocked a vote on changing a parking meter zone on Washington street, between Richardson and Church streets, Newton, and Monday night his protest stalled any vote on approving the appointment of Dr. Richard C. Schofield as dog officer.

000 surplus is sufficient at tax rate time."

The taxpayers' group, the bulletin reported, is sponsoring a change in the set-up of the Registrars of Voters to "straighten out some of Newton's practice with respect to legal requirements."

Under the Taxpayers' Association recommendations the registrars would operate under a different section of the General Laws. This would give the board more specific powers than it holds at present.

Further, the assistant city clerk would be appointed by the city clerk, instead of by the Board of Aldermen. Formerly authority for this appointment rested with the city clerk, but the aldermen took over three years ago when Monte G. Basbas was named as aide to the then city clerk, Frank M. Grant.

The assistant city clerk, Philip Berquist, would be reappointed to his post, the recommendations continued, and he would also be elected as clerk of the Registrars of Voters. The final recommendtion in the Taxpayers' proposals for "a physical separation of the election-registrars' function from the regular city clerk's activities."

By following this outline, said the Association, Newton would avoid the creation of a separate Election Commission, "which would involve more initial cost and allow less flexible use of the clerical force as the election requirements ebb and flow."

The recommendations would work better than a separate new department, argued the Taxpayers' Association. "preserving the advantages of our present set-up with an improved and more efficient actual handling of the election services."

The bulletin stated, "A single responsible head in charge of routines, interpretations and general supervision would be of distinct advantage to the voters. The proposal would prevent the needless expense of both an assistant city clerk and an election commission executive. It would provide more opportunity for training and upgrading with the City Clerk's Department."

These recommendations have been forwarded by the Taxpayers' Association to the aldermen and are now being studied by committees.

what it means to go without the things that more fortunate children take for granted. She never ceases to grieve for her mother and is a sad, uneasy child.

Kyung Ja is a clever child with many abilities. She is good at fine art and natural sciences and she hopes to study theology later and become a woman priest. She is always anxious about her school expenses as sometimes her aunt cannot pay them. In Korea education is in theory free, but in fact the teacher's and supplies must be paid for by the students.

The war disrupted the lives of the aunt's family as it raged about Seoul and they have not had a chance to restore their position. The uncle is a retired priest, the aunt a college graduate, but she had been ill for a long time with an internal disease and cannot work.

Your "adoption" of Kyung Ja will be truly appreciated by the child and her aunt. She will no longer have to worry about her school dues as PLAN aid will take care of that problem. The child will also be certain of having enough to eat and some warm clothing, through your generous interest. Together with this vital material aid your friendship will bring to Kyung Ja a measure of security such as she has never in her short life known.

where non-professional library workers are needed. To meet this demand Newton Junior College now offers a course which will prepare young women for these positions.

In this two-year course at Newton Junior College students will have a liberal arts education, with English, psychology, and social science required. During the first year the class in Library Science will include simple library cataloguing, general work in preparing books for the shelves, ordering techniques, and book-lettering. Much attention will be given to the general organization of a library, including a working knowledge of the Dewey Decimal Classification System and general reference materials. The handling and use of other materials such as pictures, recordings, and films will get proper attention and study. Laboratory work in the libraries of Newton Junior College, Newton High School, and suburban communities will be arranged to fit the students' schedules.

For further information about this college program and the opportunities that lie ahead, plan to meet with Miss Katherine Curtis, Assistant to the Director, Newton Junior College. For an appointment, call LAsell 7-6267.

Everything in Readiness for House To House Cancer Drive Next Tuesday

Police Chief Philip Purcell, 1955 Cancer Crusade Chairman for Newton, today hailed the recent victory over polio which has bene brought about at long last by the announced success of the Salk vaccine.

"Not only will the great conquest of this terrible crippler remove fear from the hearts of parents everywhere," said Purcell, "but perhaps even more importantly it gives us new hope that the day will soon come when other dread diseases will meet their master. Dr. Salk and his associates, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the thousands of scientists and medical men who have contributed to this striking victory deserve the grateful thanks of all humanity for their achievement. Once again, the far-reaching effects of medical research plus adequate funds and public backing, has been clearly demonstrated."

In commenting on the Cancer Crusade which culminates in an every-household canvass from 6:45 to 8:15 p.m. next Tuesday (April 26) Chief Purcell stressed the need for wholehearted cooperation of Newton's citizens in order that the battle against cancer might be fought all-out on the research front. This year the American Cancer Society seeks to raise $24,000,000, of which $600,000 must come from Massachusetts and at least $35,000 from the City of Newton. "We have always found our Newton people most generous to the annual appeal for cancer funds," said the City's chief law enforcement officer, "and it is our hope and belief that they will redouble their efforts in this war against the mysterious and dreaded disease which remains America's number two Killer. Our many volunteer workers are ready to go, their enthusiasm at a new high due to new hope inspired by last week's news."

Fathers, Mothers, sons, and daughters, all good neighbors, will visit every house in Newton on next Tuesday night, April 26. They will leave important life-saving information which is one important phase of the crusade. They will ask contributions; no amount will be refused —large or small. Special self-addressed envelopes will be left under door or in mail box of those families who are not at home.

Additional key workers were announced today by Chief Purcell to join the many others announced last week to head activities in the various sections: Newton. Wd 1, Mrs. Robert Blaney, 47 Lombard street; Co-Chairman, Newton, Wd 1, James E. Murphy - Chairman. Newtonville, Pct 1: William R. O'Connell, 9 Fair Oaks avenue—Chairman; Pct 5 - Geo. W. There Is Hope

News of the triumph of the Salk Vaccine over polio brought a warm glow to the hearts of all of us. Somehow, we all felt that we'd had a small part in it, no matter how small.

The news has aroused hope of another kind, expressed by Michael T. Kelleher, state chairman of the 1955 Cancer Crusade, when he declared:

"What research has done for polio, research can do for cancer.'

For the fight against cancer stands in much the same position that the fight against polio stood a few years ago.

Much is known. Much more remains to be discovered.

The scientists closest to the cancer fight are convinced that with continued research, the battle against the disease will be won. Like the polio scientists of a few years ago, they refuse to say how or when.

Already, the cancer fight has made great strides. More is known about the disease now, discovered in the past few years, than mankind ever has known before. Lives are being saved today through advances in knowledge and technique placed in the hands of our physicians by the researchers.

None of those closest to the battle lines is willing to predict that the cancer fight will be won overnight. As Dr. Sidney Farber of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation in Boston declared recently: "It is a battle that will be won on many small fields. It will be won by no one man or no one institution."

But the victory over polio shows that research, even against odds that seem insuperable, can result in glowing triumphs.

The victory over polio is a signpost toward victory over other diseases, cancer foremost amongst them.

Today, the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society is seeking $900,000 to carry on the fight during the coming year through research, education and service.

The greater part of this money, together with funds raised all over the nation, will go to support scientists in their laboratories, exploring many paths that help create more knowledge. Out of this knowledge will come the right combination of facts to conquer cancer. Of this our scientists are convinced.

All they ask is to be enabled to continue their patient researches toward that end. It is up to us, the members of the public, through our contributions to the Cancer Crusade, to assure them this support.

On the evening of April 26, between 6:45 and 8:15 p.m., in Newton, Cancer Crusade night will be observed when volunteers hope to canvass every home. Remember, when you are approached the victory over polio that has been won and the victory over cancer that still needs winning.

Political Highlights

Political observers will be watching to see how far ex-Governor Paul A. Dever goes in his efforts to keep Carr in the chairmanship and whether he makes an all-out drive to line up votes for the Medford man.

Persons close to Dever have been aiding Carr since the fight started. Attorney James W. Kelleher, a member of Dever's law firm, represented Carr in the Supreme Court proceedings. But up to now Dever himself has not intervened openly in the situation.

Carr may have injured his prospects of retaining the chairmanship by blocking an election of officers as long as he did, although the State Committee bylaws clearly indicate one should have been held last June.

Early last month the indications were that Carr would have had at least an even chance of defeating Burke for the chairmanship, if an election had been held at that time.

That opinion is based on the fact that when the Carr and Burke factions held meetings on the same afternoon, the attendance at the session called by Carr in Boston was slightly larger than at the meeting of the Burke group in Springfield.

Since then, however, Burke repeatedly has expressed his willingness to submit to a new State Committee election, while Carr has opposed any election at all, insisting that none could be held. That may have made an impact upon some of the committee members.

It was Carr who carried the matter into the Supreme Court, and Democratic leaders have been fearful that the spectacle of a knock-down political row in the State's high tribunal would have done considerable harm to their party.

That was why Governor's Councillors Patrick J. McDonough and George A. Wells issued their demands that the matter be withdrawn from court and settled by the committee members. With tempers wearing thin, they were apprehensive of the explosions which might have occurred.

Carr and Burke are both professional politicians who have been battle-tested in numerous campaigns. Their fight has now been shifted back into an arena with which they are completely familiar, and they are now likely to concentrate on bolstering their own candidates.

Democratic State Committee Secretary Edward P. Gilgun, one of the principals in the contest for political power, offered one word of encouragement for Democratic voters who may have been alarmed by the battle within their party.

Gilgun pointed out that a similar fight occurred back in 1948 and in the subsequent election ex-Governor Dever and former President Truman carried the state by record-breaking pluralities.

The inference is that the Democrats thrive on family quarrels. Some party members, however, are doubtful as to the accuracy of that appraisal.

* * * *

Democratic Speaker Michael F. Skerry of the Massachusetts House of Representatives has gone to such lengths to avoid any action savoring of strong-arm methods that a danger has developed the legislative sessions over which he presides will get out of control.

Skerry by nature is a quiet-mannered, softly spoken person. He believes that his No. 1 responsibility is to be entirely fair with all the members of the House. He has refrained from cracking the whip under circumstances when most of his predecessors would have been quick to do so.

The result has been that Skerry himself has taken an unusual amount of abuse from members of his own party, much of it from a Democratic legislator from his own city of Medford.

He has stood calmly and quietly on his rostrum listening to attacks against him which would have prompted almost any other Speaker in memory to hammer down his gavel and seat the legislator making them.

Some of this feeling was aroused early in the session when a group of legislators of Italian descent joined the Republican House members in defeating an order calling for an investigation of the State public works department headed by John A. Volpe, himself a distinguished Italian.

The rejection of that measure was actually of no great consequence. But instead of letting it drop, certain Democratic House leaders, of whom Skerry was not one, voiced slurs against their Italian colleagues, causing a feud which apparently is still continuing.

Unless Skerry exercises a much stronger hand than he has to date in curbing some of his own party members, the House sessions are likely to assume uproarious proportions.

Skerry's task, of course, is not an easy one. He is presiding over a Democratic House, with the rest of the State government under Republican control, and he has no patronage with which to appease balky members who stray from the reservation.

But he does possess potent authority, when he is standing on the Speaker's platform, in controlling what goes on in the House.

* * * *

Ex-Governor Paul A. Dever, still the most powerful individual Democrat in Massachusetts even though he has been out of office nearly 28 months, returned home this week from Florida after a serious illness and a death in his family.

Dever will shortly undertake to promote the fund-raising $100-a-plate Democratic Jefferson-Jackson dinner, originally scheduled for Monday of this week but postponed until early June because of the former Governor's illness.

A portion of the money realized from the dinner is to be used to pay off the deficit remaining from Robert F. Murphy's gubernatorial campaign of last autumn and to replenish the Democratic treasury in the State.

Not only is the Democratic State Committee itself broke, but it has not yet paid its full quota for last year to the national committee. The State Committee actually has been functioning for the past several weeks on a $1500 loan made to it by Dever so that it could keep going.

It's always much easier to promote a dinner for the party in office than for the one out of power, and the task confronting Dever will be far from a sinecure.

Whether he can bring together all the elements in the Democratic party and rally them in a common cause behind the June dinner remains to be seen. If he can't, no one else can.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Judge Jack Holt listened in Pineville, La. to the complaint of Mrs. Nona Vance that Elmer A. Gallipau had failed to paint her house as he agreed and to the counter charge by Gallipeau that the reason he didn't do so was that the hair restorer payments Mrs. Vance had given him as payment failed to produce any hair. The judge finally called the case a draw and ordered the two contestants to pay equal shares of the court costs.

A LICENSE MATTER

Editor, Newton Graphic:

A bill (H-1871) sponsored by the retail liquor dealers bo.rd of trade would pull the rug out from under the police and licensing authorities. This bill was turned down by the Committee on Legal Affairs after a hearing, but their report was overturned by the House and Senate.

The proposed law would change Section 34A of Chapter 138, the liquor control act. This section at present penalizes any minor who misrepresents his age in order to buy a drink. The first change is to provide that such conduct "may" be penalized rather than that it "shall", thus weakening the on misrepresentation.

The second change is more complicated. It makes it criminal for a youth under 21 to "accept service" of liquor, whether he buys it or an adult buys it for him, and whether or not he makes any representations at all. This is a basic change. In the past the law has held the licensed seller solely responsible for the sales which he makes, with the single exception of those instances above mentioned when he was the victim of deception. It was assumed that he sought his license with full knowledge. He is not required to make a sale unless he wishes to do so.

If the police discover a youth under the influence, they can bring him before the court or licensing board and require him to divulge where he obtained it. This will no longer be possible under H-1871. The youth can refuse to answer on the ground that it would tend to incriminate him. Thus the chief result of the law would be to eliminate the principal witness in any complaint against the seller.

Theoretically it might be still possible to accuse both buyer and seller, if a detective could hide under the bar and be a witness to the act. Some well intentioned legislators voted for the bill with the idea that by making drinking criminal, it would discourage young people from taking a drink. I fear it will do just the opposite. Many will be led to do it just for kicks, and it will me smart to break a law that is practically unenforceable. The chief result will be to revive the speak-easy, in which police will be excluded, or an alert will be given if an officer enters.

There is a serious problem in this matter of youthful drinkers. A boy of 20, particularly if he is away at college or in the armed service, feels that the distinction between him and the 21 year old is an arbitrary one, not justified by valid reasons. In New York and some other states, the age has been reduced to 18. The physical differences at that age are more apparent. If the law makers wish to permit these older youths to indulge, it would be better to frankly lower the age limit, than to undermine the entire law.

RICHARD H. LEE,
Senator Middlesex and Suffolk District.

WAR SCOURGE

On this tenth anniversary of the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the following excerpt from a speech written the day before his death is particularly appropriate.

"Today we are faced with the pre-eminent fact that, if civilization is to survive, we must cultivate the science of human relationships—the ability of all peoples, of all kinds to live together and work together in the same world, at peace.

"Let me assure you that my hand is the steadier for the work that is to be done, that I move more firmly into the task, knowing that you—millions of you—are joined with me in the resolve to make this work endure.

"The work, my friends, is peace, more than an end of this war — an end to the beginnings of all wars, yes, an end, forever, to this impractical, unrealistic settlement of the differences between governments by the mass-killing of all peoples.

Today as we move against the terrible scourge of war—as we go forward toward the greatest contribution that any generation of human beings can make in the world—the contribution of lasting peace, I ask you to keep up your faith. I measure the sound, solid achievement that can be made at this time by the straight-edge of your own confidence and your resolve. And to you, and to all Americans who dedicate themselves with us to the making of an abiding peace, I say:

"The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith."

JEROME GROSSMAN.

GLAD TO HELP

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Because of the space received in the Newton Graphic during Boys' Club Week we want you to know that we have made many new friends for the boys of the Newton Boys' Club.

You realize as well as we do if boys receive the proper type of attention it helps to develop a better boy. Through your newspaper we have developed a feeling among the boys that they can get attention without doing unlawful acts.

We are on our way with our Drive for funds and are very helpful of making our quota.

Thank you for your very kind help.

Executive Director.

- Clean-up Home Check List -

A clean home is a fire safe home.

Most housewives probably don't realize this, says Fire Chief John E. Corcoran, "but we firemen know for a fact that most home fires would never happen if everyone kept their homes and yards clean and rubbish-free."

How fire-safe is your housekeeping?

Chief John E. Corcoran recommends this Spring Clean-Up list — test yourself:

1. Trash and rubbish — do you regularly dispose of old linens, cast-off clothing, mattresses and old furniture, curtains, draperies, lampshades, maragines, papers?

2. Outside — do you keep the grounds around your house free of dead grass, weeds, trash and dried brush?

3. Cleaning materials — are your dust mops safely stored and oily rags kept in safe metal containers?

4. Machinery — do you keep your home tools, motors and appliances serviced and clean?

5. Electricity — do you use 15 ampere fuses . . . and do you properly replace worn or damaged cords?

6. Painting — do you keep wood surfaces in and out of the house painted . . . and do you remove and replace old woodwork and fencing?

7. Smoking — do you have plenty of well-designed ash trays always handy for smokers?

8. Roof—is your roof in good repair; is it protected by fire resistant asphalt shingles, metal slate, tile or asbestos roofing?

9. Valuable rubbish — do you cooperate with charity drives for paper and trash; salvage your cast-off clothing, furniture, etc., or contribute it to rummage sales (don't forget to tie papers in neat bundles).

10. Furnace and chimney — do you have your chimney and heating system repaired and cleaned at least once a year?

Fire Officials List Approval Of Tank Signal

An audible signal which tells the safe fill level of a fuel oil storage tank, previously listed as unsafe by the State Fire Marshal's Office, has been redesigned and now meets the approval of fire officials.

According to a state bulletin released by Newton Fire Chief John E. Corcoran, the "Echo Vent Signal" manufacturer "has made sufficient and proper adjustments to correct the then existing defects." In December, the old model of Echo Vent Signal had proven unsatisfactory, and fire chiefs were instructed not to allow installation of the device in their communities.

The manufacturer of the signal has recalled all previous models from public sale, and has notified state authorities that he is willing to replace all of the earlier models in use.

Now available, the bulletin continued, is an approved anti-flooding device for ranges, space heaters and pot-type burners. The device, known as "Glidden Safe-T-Flow Valve," is designed to maintain a constant oil level at the burner and to prevent "an abnormal discharge of oil." It gives proper protection against flooding, as is now required by the Board of Fire Prevention Regulations.

Chief Corcoran also drew attention to the laws governing use of explosives.

"All explosives must be stored in an approved magazine under a license from the licensing authorities of the city or town where located. Explosives must be transported in a vehicle approved by and under a permit from the State Fire Marshal. No person may do any blasting without first obtaining a permit from the head of the Fire Department where the blasting is to be done. Persons desiring to do blasting in the Commonwealth must first file a bond with the clerk of the city or town in which the blasting is to be done."

Chief Corcoran urged parents away from all blasting operations and to report any loose dynamite blasting caps they may see lying around to a policeman or fireman or other law enforcement officer, so that they may be safely removed by a competent person.

"Any violation of the explosive laws," he continued, "should be immediately reported to the local police or fire chief for corrective action."

Newton Riflemen End 1st Season With 7-2 Mark

Newton High's riflemen, champions of their division, reached a new high for the year in beating Concord 881 - 844 in the last regular match of the season, but then had an "off-day" in dropping the league title to perennial champion Malden High.

For the first time this year, two Tiger sharpshooters hit 180 or better scores in the Concord match. Ronnie Grammont set a year's high of 186, and Capt. Art Norley reached the magic circle with an even 180.

The following day, the Orange and Black had a bad case of "stage fright" at meeting Malden. This is Newton's first year with an official rifle squad, while Malden has a tradition of great teams. The victors nevertheless rang up a score of 890, higher than Newton shot all year, but the Tigers sagged badly to make the contest a runaway for Malden. The Orange and Black nipped Malden by one point in the prone shooting, then fell far off its usual performance in the standing shots.

With the end of the season, Newton loses Capt. Norley, Don Loring, Fred Strong and Donna Hudgins, but retains a good nucleus with which to build a very strong team again next year. With a strong first year performance under their belts, the Tigers hope to be even better in 1956.

Writers Club to Fete N.H. Woman

Mrs. John R. Horgan of 109 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands, president of the Agnes Carr Writers Club of Boston, will be guest of honor at a luncheon to be given by the officers and member of the board of the club Wednesday at the Pioneer Hotel, Boston.

Members of the board include Mrs. A. B. Leahy of Newton Centre; Mrs. Allan McIntosh, Newton Highlands; and Mrs. Irving E. Rollins, Roslindale. Miss Agnes Carr, honorary president, will read several of her poems.

Parents Want Children to Obtain College Training

A questionnaire, distributed recently to members of the Auburndale P. T. A., has revealed that 75 per cent of parents of that district want their children to have four years of college education, although 25 per cent of the parents actually had completed college.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles O. Richter reported on the results. The survey, conducted last spring, asked for parents' opinions of the school system. The breakdown of the answers is an "opinionnaire" rather than an evaluation of the system, Mr. Richter pointed out.

Among the facts brought out after a careful analysis of the questionnaire, were the following:

Parents felt more emphasis should be placed on the "language arts", handwriting, communication and spelling. Many felt the need was for more guidance in personal problems, in teaching children to get along with one another and in providing more outside trips. An overwhelming number were of the opinion that the school program has sufficient flexibility to suit the needs of the average child, while a majority felt that it was flexible enough also for both the slow and more rapid learner.

They voiced satisfaction with Auburndale schools and with the physical facilities of the the size of classes. They felt that, on the whole, the schools, achieve their basic goals, develop inquiring, minds and individual capacities, and provide a sense of security.

About 75 per cent felt that discipline was "about right," with 15 per cent desiring stricter discipline.

On the question of homework, 58 per cent felt there should be homework on the elementary school level, with more voting to start homework in the fourth grade than in the fifth and sixth.

Mr. Richter humorously remarked that homework achieves two ends: it produces a quieter home, and introduces to education a grimness familiar to the older generation.

Unemployment Panel to Speak Here

A new packaged program for controlling unemployment costs sponsored by the Newton Chamber of Commerce in cooperative with the Associated Industries of Massachusetts and the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security, will be presented on Thursday, April 28, at 2:00 p.m., at the Newton Y.M.C.A. before business men of the Newton area.

The program consists of a panel of three experts in unemployment compensation who present three talks on keeping U. C. taxes to an absolute minimum. The hour long session, with a question period following, was initially presented at A. I. M.'s mid-winter Seminar for industrial executives at the University Massachusetts in February.

Presented as a public service at no cost the program has three parts. The first is entitled "U. C. Benefits — Who Gets Them and Why," which disdiscusses the basic principles of unemployment compensation, eligibility and benefits. The second part is called "Footing the Bill—How and By Whom," which goes into charges, the trust fund, reserve account system, quarterly statement, etc. The concluding section is headed "Unemployment Taxes —a Controllable Expense," which informs the employer of good administrative procedures, such as record keeping, and the proper method of hiring and firing employees.

Members of the panel are Bertram F. Collins, director of the A. I. M Unemployment Compensation Department; John R. Power, staff consultant with the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security; and Edward F. Barker, in charge of the informational service of the Division of Employment Security.

Reservations may be made by contacting the Newton Chamber of Commerce, LA 7-4650.

Rawson Measure On 'Stickers' Is Signed Into Law

House Bill 141, which was sponsored by Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton, was signed last week by Lt.-Gov. Sumner G. Whittier as acting governor, and it has become Chapter 266 of this years Acts.

The measure provides that "stickers" shall not be distributed within 150 feet of the entrance to a polling place. Under previous laws, it was lawful to give out the stickers up to the door of voting places.

"This gave an unfair advantage," said Rep. Rawson, "to the 'sticker' candidates over other candidates who had ben lawfully nominated. It also caused confusion in many localities where 'sticker' candidates have been common."

Rep. Rawson has been trying for several years to eliminate this "election abuse." As chairman of the Election Laws Committee in 1953 and 1954, he steered the bill successfully through the House both years, but the Senate killed the bills.

ENJOY PROGRAMS

The "Music In Everyday Life" class at Newton High School recently enjoyed two consecutive programs given by two noted authorities in the field of Radio and Television. The guest speakers were Avner Rakov former program manager at WBZ, and Terry Cowling, who is President of the Cambridge School of Radio and Television.

Mr. Rakov spoke on the importance of music in Radio and T.V. He gave a brief outline of the role of a program manager and then went on to answer questions submitted by the students for an open forum. Mr. Cowling gave a similar lecture but gave much additional information on the subject of Disc Jockey Shows, which are certainly popular with teenagers.

Both programs were evaluated as extremely informative and enjoyable, Such guest lecturers are a frequent part of the program offered in this particular music course which is under the direction of Wesley Merritt and Henry Lasker.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

In the year 1954, according to reports of the Radio-Electronics TV Manufacturers Association, some 2,000,000 television picture tubes were produced for the replacement market . . . to take the place of burned out TV tubes. Further figures give these facts: there are some 33,000,000 TV receivers now in use. Of these more than 5% burn out picture tubes each year. Up to now, about 7 million of the sets in use are showing pictures on a replacement tube.

All these figures make the picture tube a very important part of YOUR television picture. You'd probably like to know, for instance, how long you can expect your tube to last. The original estimate by manufacturers on the life of a tube was 1000 actual viewing hours. This estimate has turned out to be a little low. Some sets in service for five years (at more than 1000 viewing hours a year) are still using the same picture tube. You can't expect that five year period as an average, though. But you can add up your average monthly viewing hours . . . then figure roughly what the life expectancy of your tube should be, figuring about 2500 viewing hours as an average.

Auburndale P.T.A. Elects New Officers for 1955-56 School Year

In its April meeting, held at the Murray Road School, the Auburndale P.T.A. announced its officers for the 1955-56 school year. After a report by John Sheehan, chairman of the Nominating Committee, the following were elected: A. G. Asaff, President, re-elected for a second year; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Richard Mitchell (for Burr School), Mrs. Donald Winslow (for Williams School), Malcolm Floyd (for Murray Road School); Treasurer, John A. Shaw; Secretary, Mrs. James H. Burns. The P.T.A. this year adopted a new policy of designating its Directors as committee heads. Directors from Burr School were: Paul Deats (Chairman of Program) and Mrs. William Atwood (Legislative Chairman). Directors from Williams School: Mrs. William Mark (Chairman of Membership) and Mrs. Thomas Hickey (Chairman of Hospitality). Directors from Murray Road School: Harry Ham (Chairman of Buildings and Grounds) and Mrs. Philip Stoner (Chairman of Health and Safety). Director at-Large and Chairman of Publicity, Mrs. Ruth Jackson. Director-at-Large and Chairman of the Trade Shop, and of the Ways and Means Committee, are to be named at a later date.

Following Election of Officers, the program was turned over to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles O. Richter, who headed a panel discussion of the results of a survey of parents conducted last spring. This survey invited parents to designate their opinions of the school system in detailed breakdowns, and should be entitled, in Mr. Richter's words, an "opinionairre" rather than an evaluation of the schools. Assisting Mr. Richter on the panel were Dr. J. Bernard Everett, Director of the Division of Instruction; Miss Charlotte Forgeron, teacher-in-charge at Murray Road School; and John Sheehan, Auburndale P.T.A. Vice-President.

Of the parents who replied to the questionnaire, about 25 percent had completed college or gone beyond, and 75 percent want four years of college for their children.

Auburndale parents varied considerably on their feelings as to whether proper emphasis is being placed on itemized subjects of study, but on the whole indicated satisfaction. The chief field in which parents felt more emphasis should be given was that of the "language arts" —handwriting, communication, spelling, etc. Many felt that there should be more emphasis on guidance in personal problems, in teaching children to get along with one another, and in providing more outside trips.

An overwhelming number of parents were of the opinion that the school program has sufficient flexibility to suit the needs of the average child, while a majority felt that it was flexible enough also for both the slow and more rapid learner. They voiced satisfaction with the physical facilities of the Auburndale schools and with the size of classes (27-28 is average in the Newton schools). They felt that, on the whole, the schools achieve their basic goals, develop inquiring minds and individual capacities, and provide a sense of security. About 75 percent felt that discipline was "about right," with 15 percent desirous of stricter discipline.

On the question of homework, 58 percent felt there should be homework on the elementary school level, with more voting to start homework in the 4th grade than in the 5th and 6th (the questionairre did not provide space for a choice lower than 4th grade on this question). Mr. Richter humorously remarked that homework achieves two ends: it produces a quieter home, and introduces to education a grimness familiar to the older generation.

It was announced that the next P.T.A. meeting, Family Night, formerly scheduled for May, will be postponed to early June.

DENISE MURPHY, a senior at Mount Alvernia Academy, Chestnut Hill, who is the recipient of scholarships to Stonehill College, North Easton, and Seton Hill College, Greensburg, Pa. These scholarships were won through competitive examinations.

Newton Art Association

The Newton Art Association held its fifth annual "Artists at Work" night at the Newton Centre Women's Club. The affair was well attended by the public and resulted in many interesting pictures. On display was an exhibit of paintings by those members demonstrating. The methods used included oil, water-color, poster paint, pencil, pastel crayon, and sculpture.

H. Story Granger painted a fall landscape; James Bonnar, a covered bridge; Jo Barker White, a red barn, Dr. Carleton Whitney, a landscape; Esther Connolly, a still life; and Fred Thompson, an under-sea fantasy. Roy Randall painted a moonlight seascape; Grace Stone, a still life; Priscilla Ordway, a marine abstract; Margaret Stone, wild flowers; and Helen Cleaves, a pencil drawing. Martha Pate demonstrated a colorful circus theme; Gretchen Cook, a crayon landscape; and Robert Wilde entertained with some very clever clay modeling. Those working on portraits were Ruth Palmer, in pastel, Julia Clear, in color crayon, Frances Mordicai, in water-color, and Mrs. Essen, also a portrait from life.

The hospitality committee included Sophina Coty, chairman, Beatrice Hurwitz, Thelma Yanco, Chester Reed, Mary Bonnar, Katherine Holgate and Dr. S. B. Osborne.

The next meeting will be on Thursday evening April 21st at the Newtonville Public Library when James K. Bonnar will be the guest artist. Mr. Bonnar is a former president of the Newton Art Association, and is currently president of the Copley Society of Boston. He will demonstrate by painting a New England scene in oil.

Three guests will serve as panelists in a discussion on "Good-neighbor tendencies in toddlers, teen-agers, and adults" at the regular meeting of Temple Reyim Sisterhood, West Newton, Wednesday afternoon, April 27, at 1 p.m. at the Temple.

Dr. O'Rourke, State Supervisor of Elementary Education, holds various degrees in education from the State Teachers College at Salem, and from Harvard University. She has been a member of the faculties of the State Teachers Colleges at Fitchburg and Lowell.

Parents will most assuredly enjoy Dr. O'Rourke's enlightening talk and this most interesting film. Also on the program will be the annual election of officers and the scholarship award.

Fun and surprises are awaiting all at the Cabot School Scholarship dance which will be held at the Claflin Auditorium on Saturday, May 7. Through the courtesy and kindness of Claflin's principal, Mr. Harry Anderson, the dance committee was able to secure the Claflin Auditorium so that many more people, who are clamoring for tickets, could be accommodated.

Those who attended last year's dance are eagerly anticipating another hilarious evening. Also, those who could not come and who heard of the fun they missed vow that they will not be left out this year.

- - - The Independent Voter* - - -

By REPRESENTATIVE IRENE K. THRESHER

The independent voter claims that he votes for men and ideas, and not for a party. Professor Mark Howe of Harvard recently made a statement at a large meeting in Newton, explaining the point of view of the independent voter. He said, "I believe in being independent in voting. I voted for Herter for Governor, because I admire him as a man and a leader, but on the rest of the ballot I voted Democratic."

Is this responsible voting? The professor admires the man and believes in his ideas but he ties his hands by giving him a Democratic House, so that he cannot carry out his ideas. If you admire a man and want him for your leader, you should make it possible for him to carry out his policies. So whether you vote Republican or Democratic, at least be consistent and give the man of your choice a chance to operate efficiently. The perfect example of a case in point, is evident in Massachusetts this year, with the re-election of Governor Herter and the election of a Democratic House. The political control is divided, and every major issue becomes a political football, instead of being decided on its own merit.

For instance, this year the General Court spent almost a whole week arguing the wire-tapping bill, out of all proportion to its importance. Governor Herter vetoed this bill last year, so the Democrats were anxious to jockey him in to the position of having to do it again this year, since it was thought that this would put the Governor in the position of being opposed to civil liberties—a far-fetched argument.

Another example of political maneuveing was the debate on the bill, filed by a Democrat in the House, to reduce the income tax by 25 percent this year, although the Governor had stated in his budget message, that the budget of $300,000,000 could not be balanced if there was any reduction in taxes. So this bill for a reduction was completely political and irrational, because that very same Democrat filed other bills which, if passed would add another $40,000,000 to the budget. He was not really interested in economy and tax reduction—he just wanted to make a political play which he expected to get away with, because of the Democratically-controlled House.

Another example of political time-wasting are the orders, which the House Rules Committee filed to investigate various phases of Governor Herter's administration last year, such as the staffing of the Lemuel Shattuck Hospital and the building of the Norfolk State Prison most of which was actually built under the Dever administration). Another order was to investigate the use of an educational fund appropriated to the Departments of Education and Mental Health. As a former member of the Committees on Education on Public Welfare and on House Ways and Means, I was able to prove that there was no such appropriation, and that it was plainly only a political move and in consequence that order was dropped.

There are also various other "orders to investigate," which are purely political and very time-consuming. My point is, that this would not have been tried, if the same party were in control of the executive branch and the legislative.

If the voters did not like what Governor Herter did for two years and felt that he should be investigated, why did they re-elect him? But the independent voters admired and re-elected him, and then they did not give him the tools with which to work namely a Republican House, to help carry out his future plans. This is the same problem President Eisenhower is facing on the national level.

If the independent voters elect the man they admire, whether Republican or Democrat, and give him a legislature of his own party to work with, and then do not like what he does, they can go to the polls two years later, and change the whole administration. But I plead with them to be consistent and make government responsible.

Another point to emphasize with the independent voter, is the importance of voting in the primaries, where the initial choice of candidates is made. If this voter stays away from the polls at this time, and does not ask for either a Republican or a Democratic ballot, he may be given some weak candidates to choose from, because he has not exercised his franchise at this first opportunity. He then has to make his choice from among candidates offered to him by other voters.

This is the year to impress upon the independent voters, the inconsistency of their position. They want good men doing a responsible job, but they have the perfect example this year, both on the State and national levels, of time-wasting and political maneuvering, because they themselves, — the independent voters — cast their ballots without thinking of the consequences. To be a responsible citizen, every voter should exercise his political franchise at every opportunity offered to him. Only in this way can democracy really work. The United States prides itself on its two party system, and does not want to have groups splintered off in all directions. Our system has made America great. Let us keep it that way.

Big Circus Event Due In Boston May 10 for 6 Days

The largest herd of performing elephants ever assembled will be among the scores of beautiful and thrilling attractions when Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus opens its 1955 season in Boston's Garden on May 10.

To stage this massive production, John Ringling North imported 20 new baby elephants from India and added to his already vast adult herd.

"Holidays", most glittering of the extravaganza created for the 1955 edition of the Big Show, will present a glorious kaleidescope of colors, costumery and lavish floats. Hundreds of human and animal artists will participate in this pageant dedicated to the festive days on the American calendar.

The aerial spectacle this year will feature bevies of sultry beauties revelling on high in a romantic aura of South Pacific charm. Beautiful Pinito del Oro, Spanish mistress of the swinging trapeze, will be the central figure of a stunning sky ballet pirouetting to the lilting strains of "On Honolulu Bay."

The stirring patriotic finale, entitled "Rainbow 'Round the World", will bring a final burst of color and beauty to this latest entertainment triumph of John Ringling North.

In addition to producing the four enchanting spectacles, Mr. North composed all of the music for them.

A host of new acts appearing in America for the first time will thrill and amaze spectators this year.

Outstanding among these will be the death slide by Takeo Usui on a wire stretching from the ground to the dome of the Garden and Delia Canestrelli, who performs a thrilling high ladder and globe rolling number.

The Cordons, masters of the long whips; Evy Karoly, Hungarian bareback sensation; The Seguras, superb springboard specialists; the Marilex plate spinners and jugglers; The Naukos, unicycle jumpers; Octave De Jonghe's handsome hunting dogs; Attilana, Spanish wire queen; the Oliveras, high wire acrobats; The Adanos, achieving unbelievable juggling feats, and the Carmenas in hand-to-hand and head balancing, are other new attractions appearing in America for the first time.

Held over by popular request are the Three Nocks, Swiss stratosphere artists, who will again do their chilling feats on high swaying spars. The Palacios, Sabrejets and Falcons, world-famous flying quartettes, will again flash their superb artistry.

Pinito del Oro, Josephine Berosini, high wire ballet mistress; The Rixos, high ladder equilibrists; Burton and Son, equilibrists; Logano, aerial contortionist; Miss Mara, trapeze heel-catch marvel; the juggling Cupers, and Evy and Everto, wizards of the anglocycle, will again appear in their distinctive acts.

In addition there are Luis Munoz and Tonito, top-notch wire performers; the four tumbling Whirlwinds; the pyramiding Fredonias; the acrobatic Yong Brothers and Sisters; the clever Wedanis, featuring a child equilibrist; the Incomparable Unus, the man who stands on his forefinger; Antoinette Bisbini, blonde trapeze thriller; the cycling Radinos and the Renellys and their amazing work on the double trapeze.

Heading the holdover animal acts are Trevor Bale's jungle-bred tigers; Alphonse De Jonghe's humanized chimps; Paul Fritz' lions and Albert Rix' bear performers.

Rawson Requests Lab. Technician School Controls

Legislation to place strict control over schools training medical laboratory technicians was urged recently at a hearing before the Committee on Public Health, by Rep. George E Rawson of Newton, who is clerk of a special commission investigating such schools.

"There is deep concern," the Newton representative reported, "among the medical profession, heads of hospitals and others whose mission is the saving of life and health, becase of inaccurate tests made by unqualified laboratory technologists. The fault lies in the training. There is no public supervision of the schools which train them; anyone can start and operate such a school.

"The medical laboratory technologists," explained Rep. Rawson, "are the technicians who make laboratory tests of samples, specimens and tissues for hospitals and laboratories. Physicians and surgeons are absolutely dependent upon these tests in making proper diagnosis for the treatment of their patients."

The only schools which have been approved by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, a branch of the American Medical Association, are those operated by 20 of the state's leading hospitals, continued the local legislator. Among those approved is the school conducted by Dr. David Skinner at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Two years of college, with course in the basic sciences, are required for entrance to this school, and graduates are qualified to serve in any hospital, Rawson said.

There is "another good school" which admits high school graduates whose marks have averaged 85 per cent. This is an 18-month course, while the Newton-Wellesley school lasts a year.

The other school could meet the A.S.C.P. standards by having two years of college as an entrance requirement "and ought to do so," urged Rawson. "The commission found a number of inferior schools which should meet the requirements or cease to function."

Legislation recommended by the commission includes establishment of a board to license these schools; setting up an outline of subjects to be covered, including laboratory work; admission after Sept. 1, 1956, only of high school students with an 85 per cent or better average; requiring one year of college training after July 1, 1957, and two years in 1958; and meeting minimum requirements of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals after July 1, 1960.

"The commission believes," said Rawson, "that if these recommendations become law, a very bad situation will be cleaned up."

SPRING GARDENING TIME IS HERE!

Low Modern Homes Need Fine Lawns as Frame

Lawns have become more important than ever in the home landscape.

Modern home design has increased the importance of the lawn to the home landscape. The house with low spreading lines finds a harmonious frame and foreground in the flawless green carpet upon which it rests.

Without care a fine lawn is impossible, wherever it is attempted. With care, there are several fine lawn grasses available to Americans, the most widely used being blue grass. Since the earliest days, Kentucky blue grass has been the chief reliance for lawns in the northern states.

Its rugged persistence in overcoming obstacles to its growth may sometimes encourage neglect. Its beauty, hardiness and quick response to favorable treatment have kept it in first place against many rivals for more than a century.

Good treatment is much the same for all lawn grasses. In soil requirements they are similar to other plants. The soil should be porous, to provide good drainage, and should contain organic matter to hold in storage water and plant food for the plants to use. These qualities should be checked, and if necessary improved, before any seed is sown.

Through late summer or early fall is the best time, most new lawns are made in the spring. As soon as the ground has thawed out and is dry enough for working, seed for a new lawn may be sown.

The first step is to apply pounds of balanced commercial plant food. Three or four lbs. of plant food per 100 square feet is usually sufficient. Half of this may be spread evenly over the area and spaded under. The lawn should then be raked smooth and leveled before seed is sown.

The remaining half of the plant food may then be mixed with the seed and both spread together, preferably with a fertilizer spreader, which will apply it evenly at the rate recommended by the supplier. The seed and plant food should be raked into the top soil. Then use a lawn roller or tamper to compact the soil. This will assist germination and the early growth of seedlings.

The soil should not be allowed to dry out until the seed has germinated, even though this requires frequent sprinkling. If sowing is delayed until warm weather, it may be necessary to cover the surface with straw or similar material to shade the surface and check drying, while admitting both air and light.

After the grass gets a good start sprinkling should be less frequent, with more water applied at a time. Established lawns should be watered when they need it, with a thorough soaking.

The Novices's Guide to Planting Fruit Trees Successfully

1. Dig your hole roughly a foot larger than the spread of the roots. Loosen the soil at the bottom of the hole at least another foot deep and mix with this soil a pail of damp peat moss or a little "Lectro-Loam," synthetic soil conditioner if your soil is clay.

2. Place a stake in the planting hole before setting the tree so you won't damage the roots later. Set the stake with about a third of its length below the final soil level.

3. Add a mound of topsoil to form a cone in the bottom of the hole and set in the tree with the trunk directly over the cone. Spread the roots evenly over the cone and cover them with top-soil. Don't ever put dry fertilizer in the planting hole, it is likely to burn the roots! Fill the hole with a half strength solution of Miracle-Gro and rake the rest of your dry topsoil into the hole, leaving a depression to hold water.

4. Prune the top of the tree to bring about a balance with the roots and to eliminate sharp angle crotches where branches join the trunk, as these might split with a heavy load of fruit. Select a few well formed side branches on different sides of the trunk and several inches apart. Cut these branches back to a point just above a bud on the outer side of the branch. Select one of the top upright branches and cut it back about a third. Cut all other branches close to the main trunk.

5. Fasten the tree loosely to the stake with a couple of figure 8 ties of rubber or cloth. An old piece of garden hose and a strong wire will do wonderfully. Keep your tree well watered the first year, and sit back and enjoy it for a lifetime.

Something New for Garden Lovers—Make Your Own Humus this Easy Way

Every amateur gardener wants his flowers and vegetables to look as seed packages and catalogues picture them. But he's so often disappointed when they don't develop that way at all. Frequently the reason is a lack of adequate soil humus.

Called the closest thing to a "cure-all" for ailing gardens, humus adds body to sandy soils and makes clay soils crumbly and easy to work. In both cases, humus increases the capacity of soil to hold moisture around the roots where it's needed.

Amateur gardeners can easily make their own humus thanks to a unique material—calcium cyanamide. Until now available only to farmers and professional growers, it is nature's aid for building soil humus fast. Known as Lawn and Garden Cyanamid, this material rapidly changes crop refuse, including leaves and grass clippings, into rich, loamy humus—much like a virgin soil. Moreover, it does this right in your garden area where you want it. So don't burn or throw away that valuable plant refuse, making it necessary to buy and haul in all sorts of expensive substitutes.

Good soil is not dead like it appears, but very much alive with millions of beneficial microbes in every shovelful. To keep alive and increasing, they must have a diet of both nitrogen and lime. Cyanamid contains both in the proper amounts, so the organisms can manufacture the rich humus in the soil which all plant life requires for healthy development. Fortunately, too, the growth-stimulating nitrogen in this material is of an organic type so that it doesn't wash out with the first heavy rains—lasts all season long. No more early wilting and fading away!

Converting organic refuse such as last year's flower or vegetable stalks, leaves and grass clippings into humus can be accomplished in a remarkably short time. Here's all there is to it:

Measure your garden area and simply spread evenly by hand or fertilizer spreader one pound of Cyanamid for every 75 square feet. Apply it right on top of the remains of flowers, vegetables, grass or leaf mulches—wherever you intend to plant or seed. Then turn the Cyanamid along with the crop refuse under to a depth of 5 to 8 inches a week or more before planting or seeding.

Try leaving a small portion of your garden without this treatment and watch what a difference those happy, well-fed soil organisms make in the size and beauty of your flowers and vegetables.

AMATEUR GARDENERS can easily make their own humus thanks to a unique material—calcium cyanimide. Until now, available only to farmers and professional growers, it is nature's aid for growing humus fast.

Family Rose Garden Is Investment in Living

Wide advances in rose culture in recent years, makes the family rose garden an investment in living. For families that like beautiful cut flowers in the home, as well as on the property, a modern rose plant is a sound outlay that will return during the first year far more in cut flowers for table decorations than the plant costs originally. A two-dollar rose plant, for instance, will return from a dozen up to a hundred or more blooms, depending on the variety.

Rose plants producing a conservative average of three or four dozen blooms annually thus will return 9 to 12 dollars the very first year in terms of retail values for the blooms alone. With proper care, the second year's production will be at least half as much again, and it will continue to increase for at least three or four years before beginning to level off.

In a property with limited space, a garden 9 by 12 feet can produce sufficient blooms for cutting and still have many left in the rose garden. Spaced three feet apart, this will provide for twelve plants. However, larger gardens are desirable for their great beauty where space permits. Since new varieties are introduced each year, it may be desirable to start with three or six plants and then add two or three of the best varieties annually. Variety in color is advisable, including white, pink, yellow and red, as well as their intermediate shades, such as orange. Most reliable new roses today are tested for growth in various parts of the country before offering them publicly.

Roses will grow well in a variety of soils from sandy loam to fairly heavy clay. To start a garden spade up the soil well to a depth of about a foot. A location at one side of the lawn where grass formerly grew is usually excellent. Peat Moss should be added if the soil is very sandy or heavy clay, otherwise leave it alone. The spot may be either sunny or shaded for part of the day, but not full shade. Select a site that is well drained. The rose plant is unusually adaptable and will thrive in many locations.

By fertilizing after the first flowering period the plants will carry some flowers all summer and then produce another bountiful crop of blooms in the fall.

House and Garden Meet

Today's patio is any place where house and garden meet and mingle. The modern idea is that gardens shall contribute charm to the home, and be intimately associated with everyday living. They will be enjoyed most when near to the center of social activity, rather than hidden behind wall or hedges.

Every home can and should have a patio. A paved area close to a door is preferable, where you can take a sun bath. Flowers like sun-baths too. Those who prefer shade can hoist a garden umbrella. A patio without flowers around it will never seem complete, and among them should be fragrant flowers. Most fragrant of all is the sweet tobacco, nicotiana affinis. This is the old fashioned kind, which is far more fragrant than the improved varieties, as is so often the case.

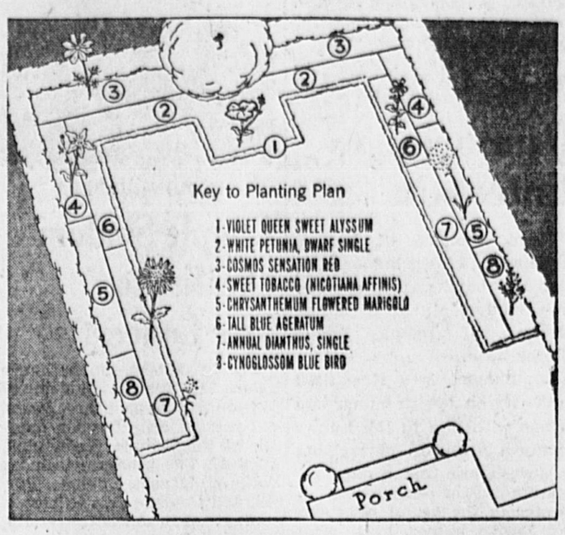

The illustration shows a patio planting which can be made easily even by the inexperienced, from the seeds of annual flowers. All subjects are easily grown from seed sown directly where they are to grow. The planting is arranged with low growing plants in the foreground, taller ones behind. The color scheme is based upon harmony by contrast, with complementary colors placed together, where each will enhance the beauty of its neighbors.

Annual flowers grown from seeds blossom from early summer until frost comes, if the faded flowers are kept picked off, and reasonable care is taken of the plants. With them can be planted both bulbs and perennials, to give a continuous display of bloom from the time the ground thaws out until the autumn freeze-up. Annuals never outgrow their place, no matter how small the area. They are always in scale, making both house and grounds seem larger than they would, were larger and taller plants set out, soon to become overgrown for their locations.

Remember that annual flowers need sunshine. Avoid planting a garden where the tops and roots of trees, hedges, or shrubbery shade the flowers, and compete with them for nourishment and moisture in the soil.

A location on the north side of the house is not likely to be favorable for the garden illustrated unless it is placed beyond the line to which the shadow of the roof extends in midsummer at 10 a.m. The location should also be free of shade from trees and other buildings at least six hours a day.

More Tips for April

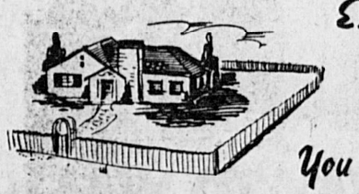

- Spray your Peony shoots to protect them against peony blight and repeat the process weekly until May.
- Remember that your Azaleas and Rhododendrons are acid loving plants. Keep the soil in which they grow at the proper acid content by applying Mir-acid as needed.
- Even in this busy season, take time out to think and plan. You can be rewarded by an unbroken succession of blossoms throughout the Summer, Fall and Winter if you will heed the simple rule of planning first—and acting so as to accomplish your plan.
- It is a popular fiction that April is the month of showers. Indeed, after the snows of Winter, a few drizzly days may appear to be furnishing an ample supply of moisture for your plants, trees and shrubs. Don't let it fool you. Keep track of the actual moisture in the soil and make sure that there is enough to support the supreme effort that every living plant is making to burst into glorious bloom for your enjoyment.
- Your plants require moisture during the growing season. If the rains do not come you should supply the equivalent of an inch of water a week. Do not "sprinkle", but soak the soil thoroughly. If you do not have a canvas soil soaker, tie a heavy cloth over the nozzle of the hose.
- Try edging a flower border with a combination of strawberries and perennial candytuft. Maybe that seems like a strange combination — but you will fiend it highly satisfactory both to your eyes and your palate.

Six Rules For The New Home Gardener

The "plant-it-yourself" trend in home gardening has grown rapidly in recent years. Many more home owners are pouring over nursery catalogues for tips on planting and beautifying their yards.

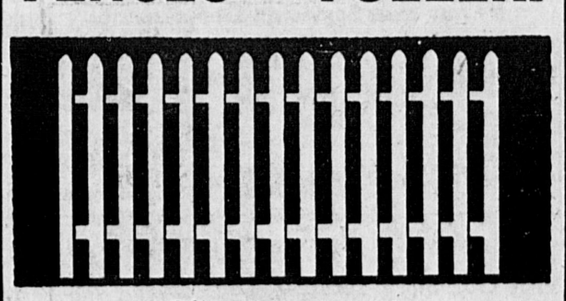

Following are six rules designed to assure both happier gardening and more beautiful properties:

1. Start with a good plan. It is often said that "it is not a home until it is planted" but it is just as true that "beauty is planned." Usually, a rough drawing to scale of the property, showing size of lot, shape and height of buildings, as well as locations of walks and drives and other permanent features, can be taken to a landscape nurseryman who will show what and where to plant.
2. Plant one area at a time according to the plan, getting the "feel" of what you want as you go along.
3. Take advantage of the natural features of your landscape by standing in different locations and observing the rest of the property for spots that need a touch of color, or evergreen treatment or screen to shut out the least desirable view, etc.
4. Plant things that do not require much maintenance.
5. At the same time give proper care to what you already have planted, as you proceed with your planting plan.
6. Consult with other successful home gardeners in your neighborhood, and observe their properties for hints you can use.

Frank Shapiro of Boston, well-known Jewish humorist, is slated to be the guest speaker this Sunday, at the Breakfast Meeting of Temple Reyim Brotherhood.

Newton at 87% Of Easter Seal Campaign's Goal

Newton has raised $7208 — or 87 per cent of its goal — in the 1955 Easter Seal Campaign, Miss Ruth Burns, local campaign treasurer and assistant treasurer of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, announced today.

At the same time, Chairman John I. Ahern, who is vice president of the New England Electric System, reported that state-wide contributions to the annual appeal of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped has reached a total of $222,835, which is 70 per cent of the goal. He said the campaign books would be kept open for those persons who have not contributed.

The Easter Seal campaign supports rehabilitation centers in Worcester, Springfield and Boston, and provides an equipment pool, camp vacations for crippled children, job placement for crippled adults, a homebound program and individual case work services.

Lag in Installing Parking Meters Called 'Affront'

Failure to install parking meters—authorized nearly two years ago by the aldermen—was termed "a personal affront to the board" by Alderman Winfield C. Anderson at Monday night's aldermen's meeting.

The meters, ordered for the railroad side of Washington street, between Church and Richardson streets, Newton, have never been installed, pointed out the Ward 7 alderman-at-large.

Speaking on a proposed change in traffic regulations to remove the meter zone and allow two-hour parking there, Alderman Anderson also criticized the Street Traffic Committee for taking a report of last year's committee wholesale without making an investigation on their own. The committee favored changing the zone from meters.

Anderson argued the committee has missed noticing that a return to the pre-meter parking rules in this section would allow angle parking, which has been outlawed in that specific area.

After Anderson pointed this out, the measure was referred to the Claims and Rules Committee for study. Board President Wendell R. Bauckman suggested that the committee add a restriction to the change to allow only parallel parking.

Cabot, Ward School Additions To Be Franklin 'Compromise'

Newton's revolutionary Franklin School addition in West Newton, hailed by some school authorities as the answer to low-cost classroom construction, will be the model for additions to the Cabot School, Newtonville, and the Ward School, Newton Centre.

A total of $27,025 for preliminary expenses—plans, specifications, contract documents, borings at the sites—was appropriated at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Alderman H. Eugene Jones, chairman of the public buildings committee, said the two projects would be a "compromise" between the Franklin School's demountable, five-sided classrooms and what is demanded by the building codes. His committee, he stated, has been holding back the appropriation until the citizens' advisory committee on construction projects was ready to operate.

"This is part two of this year's bust-out school program," explained Jones. A four-room expansion of the Pierce School, West Newton, was approved earlier since that school would have a severe overcrowding problem in September unless work started at once.

The three school projects were estimated to cost close to $650,000 by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. in his budget address, although expenses may be sharply cut by applying the Franklin School design in the other areas.

Mayor Whitmore said the Cabot School addition, composed of four classrooms and an auditorium-playroom, would cost about $300,000, including land taking. At the Ward School, where two classrooms and a combination auditorium-playroom would be built, the price would be close to $250,000.

Boy Scout Exposition Opens Sat.

Final preparations have already been made for one of the greatest Boy Scout Expositions ever offered by Norumbega Council to open this Saturday, at 1:30 p.m. Harry Shain, exposition chairman, and George Shannon, Norumbega President, say the Scouts have developed some very unusual exhibits for the exposition and many units from Newton, Wellesley and Weston will exhibit.

"Scouting, the Great Adventure" is the theme of the exposition this year, and families will have an excellent opportunity to see real scouting in action. In almost 100 booths, the scouts will actually work and demonstrate their projects from model railroads to building bird houses. Stage shows at various intervals during the afternoon and evening will be presented by the scouts. The doors will officially open at 1:30 p.m. and close at 9:30 p.m.

Over Two Thousand Youngsters at World Affairs Council Benefit

Over two thousand Newton school children and adults attended the two special vacation morning showings of Danny Kaye's Achievement Award film "Assignment Children" at the West Newton Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., honorary chairman of the World Affairs Council, spoke at the opening performance welcoming the young citizens of Newton to the benefit for the United Nations Children's Fund.

Stephen Richmond, a student at Newton High School, on both mornings told what UNICEF pennies would do to cure disease and prevent starvation in the underprivileged countries of the world. The following telegram from Mrs. Guido Pantaleoni, president of the United States Committee for UNICEF, was read: "The youth of Newton, in attending the first benefit showing of "Assignment Children", give us heart-warming reassurance of their concern in UNICEF'S humanitarian programs in behalf of all the world's children. Congratulations and good luck."

Before and after the performances, Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls displayed UNICEF posters and collected voluntary contributions to the fund. The Girl Scouts were representatives of Troops 31 and 102, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Berberian and Mrs. Joseph Manning and included Carol Berberian, Patricia Greene, Deborah Greene, Barbara Parkhurst, Barbara Axt, Nancy Clair, Diana Lees and Judy Manning. The Camp Fire Girls were Marjorie Hayes, Carol Lyons, Jane Renker, Patsy Blake, Joan Dougherty, Anita O'Donnell, Pamela Rurnick and Sandra Gam. Posters showing that the price of an ice cream cone will protect a child from tuberculosis in Egypt that the money spent for a "coke" will provide a child with 10 bowls of rice in India, and that the price of a candy bar will save a child from diphtheria in Chile, were made by the Odako Camp Fire Girls. The donation boxes were made by the Tonda Kada Camp Fire Girls and the Hard-working Bluebirds. During the show the following Boy Scouts of Troops 7, 7c, 24 and 33 of Auburndale and West Newton acted as ushers: Jim Hainer, John Crosby, Ed Moody, Richard Vecchione, Michael Boucher and Richard Denty.

The project sponsored by the Newton World Affairs Council, the School Department, and the P. T. A. Council, was the first of its kind in the United States, and will be used as a model by other communities in the state. So great has been the response of this city to the appeal to help the children of the world through the non-political UNICEF, that William H. Wragg at the Newton Centre Savings Bank has been appointed treasurer to receive additional contributions.

Danny Kaye doesn't want any child to starve; neither does the city of Newton.

Newton Coun. K. of C., Hold Degree Ritual

District Deputy Michael A. Cataldo, assisted by his staff, conferred major degrees for 52 candidates Sunday of Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, at the K. of C. Home, Southgate park, West Newton. The class of candidates was named for Brother Sabean of the Working Boys' Home. About 300 members attended.

Wilfred Derby, deputy grand knight, and Sal Simeone, chancellor, were in charge of the ceremonies for the second degree. Leo S. Gagnon was class moderator.

Among those present were former State Deputy James Flanagan, Past District Deputy Raymond A. Perry, and District Deputy Joseph Santosuosso.

Taxpayers' Praise NewtonRevaluation

Praise for "the new look" in procedures of the Newton Assessing Department, which has been quietly revising assessments throughout the city to even out valuations, was listed in the April issue of Taxpayers' Topics, monthly publication of the Newton Taxpayers' Association.

Two years ago, the bulletin pointed out, the Association was beating the drums to have an outside firm survey the entire city and overhaul the valuations. But in view of "the strides made by the assessors in the past 18 months, such an investment need not be considered until the assessor's current program is completed in 1956, at which time the situation can be reviewed again."

"More equitable valuations" has been a pet project of the Taxpayers' Association for many years. "Outmoded office procedures, geared to the slow pace of the 1930's, were inadequate to deal speedily with the rapid expansion in real estate transactions plus the sweeping changes of values in all real estate which occurred in the latter part of the 1940's and early 1950's," reported the Association.

"Moreover, much of the assessing personnel was new and unfamiliar with assessing practice at the local level. Result: discrepancies were rife; revaluation became a definite aim of the Association, and members will recall the positive steps we took to push it along.

"Your Association is now glad to report that the department has successfully revamped its procedures so that the assessors have time to assess rather than do office work. The personnel is seasoned. Revaluation is under way. We believe that the department can begin to point out with pride—instead of having the Taxpayers view with alarm—the new look in local assessing procedures."

The bulletin noted, "Your Association's aim has been equity in valuations. It is our hope that the assessors are in a fair way now to closely approximate that goal."

A bill is being sponsored by the State Federation of Taxpayers' Associations to allow communities to seek aid from the Commonwealth in setting up local assessing procedures. Urging support of the measure, the local taxpayers' unit declared, "Its enactment will tend to produce uniform assessing practices across the Commonwealth, the fairness and advantages of which need no stressing."

Data compiled by the state group to back up its arguments for the bill reveal, the bulletin said, "that in a list of representative municipalities Newton's ratio of assessed valuation to sales prices in the single family house field is highest, followed by Cambridge."

Fashion Show Friday Night By Church of Messiah Club

Even a late spring can turn milady's fancy to thoughts of new clothes, and what better place for fresh ideas than a fashion show! The Tuesday Evening Club of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, will present "Fashions by Plotkins" tomorrow (Friday) at 8:15 p. m. in the parish hall.

A Ways and Means Committee project, the show is co-ordinated by Mrs. Robert Athas. Working with her are Mrs. Albert Marshall, ticket chairman, and Mrs. Kenneth MacLeod, stage manager. Make-up is being done by Mrs. John Anderson.

Mrs. Richard Packard is the commentator, while Mrs. Bryant Reed and Mrs. John Rooney will act as hostesses at the door. In charge of tickets at the door are Mrs. A. K. Taylor and Mrs. Albert Marshall. Mrs. R. Curtis Reed is responsible for the refreshments served during the evening.

Models, chosen from the Club membership, are the Mesdames John Anderson, D. J. Bailey, Edward Maloof, Philip Stoner, Henry Read, William Mason, John Wolbert and Ray Simpson. Helpers for the models include the Mesdames Richard Crosby, Robert Cunningham, Alan Eldredge, Verne Hillman, Albert Marshall, R. Curtis Reed, Lewis Stafford, Murray Waldron and Wallace Woodworth.

Flowers are being provided by Brasco of Waltham, and Mrs. Charles Higgins will make up the corsages to be given to all guests. Mrs. R. R. MacLean Jr., has done all the poster work and publicity is in the hands of Mrs. John Rooney. The Plotkins' consultant is Miss Lorraine Green.

Tickets will be available at the church doors or may be obtained from any Club member.

Hold Kindergarten Registration at The Rice School

There will be an advance registration for children planning to enter kindergarten in the Rice School in September 1955.

To be eligible, a child must be 5 years old on or before January 1, 1956. Parents are requested to bring:

1. Birth certificate or Baptismal record as proof of age.
2. Statement of vaccination against small pox.
3. Statement of immunization against diphtheria.

The registration will take place on May 2 and 3 at the Rice School from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.

DID YOU KNOW THAT the policy of the U. S. Army Recruiting Service is to discourage young men from enlisting until they have graduated from high school? It's true. In fact, the recruiters have been instructed to advise young men to go to college if they are in a position to do so.

Health for All

PREVENTING TUBERCULOSIS

TB is your problem.

But, you say, you don't know a single person who has tuberculosis. Are you sure? How do you know? That's just the trouble with this insidious disease. It can hide for long periods behind a mask that imitates health.

If TB were like measles, it would probably be under complete control today. Medical science can plot the course of measles from the time of infection through the incubation period to the outbreak of the familiar symptoms. Within a specified time the disease is cured, and the patient is immune to another infection, Not so with tuberculosis.

In the first place, infection with tuberculosis germs does not necessarily mean that disease will break out at all. You can be exposed to TB, take in a good dose from someone who has the disease, and yet be able to fight the germs to a standstill. Months, even years later the disease might start up either because of a new invasion of germs or because the body's defenses against the old infection have weakened. Even then tuberculosis may not declare itself openly. It can be active for some time without obvious symptoms.

Since a person who has TB may not feel ill, he may go about his business and pleasure ar usual. Of course, he will be getting steadily worse and spreading his germs to those about him, although he looks as healthy as ever.

Another way tuberculosis differs from many other infectious diseases is that one outbreak doesn't always end the story. The cured ex-patient has to make an effort to stay well, for his disease can start up again if he is careless with his health.

There are no red spots to identify those who have active tuberculosis. You may or may not be one of them. But it is your responsibility to know. You can know for sure by having a regular physical checkup by your physician and a chest X-ray as often as he advises.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

What Shall We Eat . . . . . Saturday Sandwiches

Saturday is the day the whole family is around for lunch . . . the day for cleaning and other household tasks. It's a day that you usually want a lunch that's simple for you to fix . . . or simple enough for the family to fix themselves.

High Hat Sandwiches answer both of these requirements. A lunch of sandwiches, celery and carrot sticks, and chocolate milk shakes for both a beverage and dessert will appeal to the school-age child as something to eat. It's simple and fun enough to prepare that you won't need to push for your son or daughter to help or go solo on its preparation, either.

This lunch not only is fun for the school-age child, but it also provides good food and contrast in texture and flavor. Cheese and the milk and ice cream in the milk shake give protein, vitamin A, and riboflavin. The cheese is the final accent to the sandwiches, adding mellow touch that both blends and contrasts the flavors already provided by the ham, tomato, and onion. Serve these sandwiches for lunch and you'll have a favorite family menu on hand ready for any day that is extremely busy or active.

HIGH HAT SANDWICHES

6 rusk or toast rounds
½ cup sweet pickle relish
2 large tomatoes, sliced

Top each sandwich with onion slice and a slice of cheese. Slip under broiler; broil until cheese is melted. Serve hot, garnished with stuffed egg halves and parsley. Serves 6.

Miss Wise had lived for nearly seventy years at 38 Richardson street, which originally was the home of Caroline Morgan and John Fisk, who were married in 1860. She was a devoted member of the Eliot Congregational Church, but had been unable to attend regularly the past few yearrs.

The only near relatives are John Fisk Ford of Cambridge, Mrs. John Dunnell and Raymond Dunnell of Bernardston, Miss Malle F. Wise and Mrs. Edna Wise Hamilton of Toledo, Ohio.

Funeral services were held at her late home Thursday, the 21st, at 2:30 p.m., with the Rev. Ray A. Eusden officiating. Interment was in the Morgan lot in Newton Cemetery.

Plan Drive for Used Clothing

The Girl Scout Junior High Planning Board made plans for a drive to collect clothing and articles for use at Metropolitan State Hospital.

This drive will be held from April 25-29.

This is one of the service projects being carried out by the South Side Junior High Planning Board, with Miss Grace Billow as advisor.

To Consult on Magazine Matter

The National Headquarters of the American Junior Red Cross in Washington has invited Miss Edith Rideout of the English Department of Newton High School to consult with Mrs. Lois Johnson, the Editor of their Junior Red Cross publications — the "News" and the "Journal."

The meeting will take place this week in New York, and Miss Rideout will assist Mrs. Johnson in devising ways of making the magazines meet the needs and interests of present day students.

Fashion News from Paris

Biggest silhouette news — in fact, fireworks — from the Paris showing are Dio's A-line and Balenciaga's tunic. Elizabeth Madeira and Margaret Thompson Biddle, who covered the showing for the Woman's Home Companion, predict that these silhouettes will affect American clothes for some time to come.

Several variations of these silhouettes are illustrated in the May Companion. One of the most dramatic examples of Dior's A-line is an ensemble combining a long jacket which gradually widens from a narrow, high-buttoned top to broad hemline. The long jacket is set over a wide pleated skirt and sleeveless tunic top. The edge of the jacket acts as a cross-stroke of the "A."

Two versions of Balenciaga's tunic trend are shown in the Companion. One, a dress with a long tunic and slim skirt, is executed in bright red linen with a self-belt at the back. Its unadorned square neckline is new too. The other version, a beige lace ensemble, combines a straight coat over the slim beltless, sleeveless dress — very elegant with a huge black tulle hat.

Give Your Child A Play-Safe Test

Will your school-age child know how to play safely this summer, even when you're not around, even when the gang dares him to take foolish risks? You can soon find out, by giving your child the Play-Safe Test — a quiz developed in cooperation with the national sponsors of the Play-Safe Program and published in the May Woman's Home Companion.

The quiz includes such typical questions as these:

When climbing down a tree or ladder, should you: (a) climb down frontward; (b) back down; (c) jump down and get it over with?

Hiking down the road, Tommy walked on the left, facing traffic. Was he right or wrong?

The 14-question test will warn your child and show you if he needs further guidance. If he flunks even a single question, the Companion suggests that you review your own method of teaching him safe practices, and recommends these five guide-rules:

1. Channel his interest into activities within his capabilities.
2. Give him the right equipment, provide a safe place to use it — and keep it in good repair.
3. Teach him how to use the equipment; practice with him.
4. Teach a healthy respect for the sport; only dubs take chances.
5. Take his minor cuts and bruises with sympathetic calm (so he won't hide them from you) — learn to patch them up effectively.

Workbench Is A "Must" for The Handy Man

No matter how new or old the home, a workbench is a "must" for maintenance, fix-up and build-it-yourself projects.

Having a workshop, or just a workbench, doesn't require wealth, technical training or high talents. Anyone who can hammer a nail and saw a board can build a bench and use it.

First, the location should be chosen. There are several possibilities—the basement, garage, morner of the recreation room, or a building separate from the house. Lighting and ventilation are important in making the right choice of location.

The workbench itself is the heart of a workshop, and it can in fact be a self-contained workshop. Some lumber companies sell workbenches that are ready to install, and of course all sell the materials needed for making one.

A modern toolboard that is simple as ABC to install and use may be obtained from lumber yards. "Peg-Board" panels have fixtures designed for holding tools. They fit into the numerous holes which have been ...nched into the panel. A mod... toolboard like this is an ... companion piece for the study workbench. The two together form the nucleus of a fine workshop.

Home owners miss great enjoyment if they haven't their own workshop. Besides the great economy in having one, it furnishes a worth-while, creative hobby. Spare time spent in building and using a workshop is plus time in enjoyable living.

Abolish War, MacArthur Urges

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y. — "We should now proclaim our readiness to abolish war in concert with the great powers of the world," declares Douglas MacArthur in the May Reader's Digest.

War is no longer a means of settling international differences, MacArthur holds. The enormous potential of destruction to both sides, because of nuclear weapons and other "triumphs of scientific annihilation," makes disaster inevitable for winner and loser alike.

If this certainty of mutual ruin means that war can now be outlawed, "the greatest advance in civilization since the Sermon on the Mount" may be at hand, MacArthur believes. To abolish war "would not only create new moral and spiritual values—it would produce an economic wave of prosperity that would raise the world's standard of living beyond anything ever dreamed of by man."

MacArthur says the present tensions are being kept alive by two "great illusions": the Soviet belief that the capitalist nations are preparing to attack, and the free world's belief that the Soviets have the same designs.

Yet the peoples of the world, whether free or slave, do not want war and are all in agreement on the need to abolish war, the general emphasizes. "The leaders are the laggards. They debate over a hundred issues that stem from the threat of war, but never in the chancelleries of the world or the halls of the United Nations is the real problem raised . . . They increase preparedness by alliances, by distributing resources throughout the world, by developing deadlier weapons and by applying conscription in times of peace . . . But never do they dare to state the bald truth, that the next great advance in the evolution of civilization cannot take place until war is abolished . . . This is the one issue which, if settled, might settle all others."

Ceilings Low? Screen Must Be Smaller!

Lower ceilings dictate changes in the height of certain home furnishings or they may be out of proportion. An example is the folding screen, the usual height of which is 6 feet. In a room having a ceiling height of 7 or 8 feet, a screen this tall looks gigantic.

A shorter screen will not only look better but will cost less. It's a good workshop project, even for the amateur, for modern panel materials and tools make a screen an elementary undertaking.

The principal ingredients are 1 by 2-inch hardwood lumber of good quality and sufficient panel material to cover the framework. Hinge three or four sections together, after building each separately.

Here are a couple of tips on making the screens interesting in appearance—also useful:

Suppose you have a three-panel screen for a child's room. On the upper portion of one section apply some blackboard paint after an initial coat of clear sealer. For another section use a Masonite "Peg-Board" panel, which has dozens of perforations. It will make a wonderful bulletin board for the youngster.

Devote the third section to a snapshot gallery. Simply attach the pictures with rubber cement. As an alternative, paint Dutch designs on the panel or apply suitable decalcomanias such as story-book characters.

CD Gives Ways to Provide Water After Disaster Strikes

In the event of disaster you could get along for quite a while without food, if necessary, but you must have safe water or its equivalent, to drink.

Every family should have in their home a three-day emergency supply of drinking water.

These instructions have been widely publicized by the Federal Civil Defense Administration and State and local civil defense agencies.

BUT IN THE EVENT of a sudden sneak attack you might be caught without this all-important supply on hand. Normal water supplies might be abruptly disrupted. What happens then?

There are ways of obtaining substiute supplies of fluids, FCDA points out. Right in your home. And it isn't in the least bit complicated. For example:

1. Water in the hot water heater can be used for drinking purposes.
2. You can allow the ice cubes in your refrigerator to melt.

Then there is milk. It serves as a substitute for water and provides required fluids for the body.

Fresh fruits contains a large proportion of water. The same is true of other bottled and canned beverages, such as soft drinks, fruit drinks, and liquids from water-packed fruits and vegetables.

However, these are only substitute sources, the FCDA emphasizes. Every family should keep available at least one gallon of water for each member of the household. This would represent a three-day supply.

IF AN ENEMY ATTACK should occur, there would be possible blast damage to water mains, as well as contamination of the supply through leaking sewage, poisonous chemicals, radioactive materials, or disease organisms from biological warfare attacks.

In storing water for emergency use, FCDA advises, only thoroughly cleaned containers should be used. Glass jugs used for storing liquids should be protected with wadded newspapers, excelsior or other packing materials against blast or shock.

Because of the growth of algae (tiny aquatic plants), water may develop objectionable tastes if stored over a long period of time, FCDA health officials state. Storage in a dark place will help slow the growth. Water storage containers should be rinsed and refilled every three months.

Safety First Rules For Ladder Users!

Painting ranks high on the list of most popular "do-it-yourself" activities. Before October, more than five-million homeowners will paint all or part of the outside of their dwellings themselves.

With an often surprising disregard for personal safety, intrepid brothers and sisters of the paint brush will be clambering along roof tops, leaning out of windows, and scampering up and down ladders, all to the tune of 20,000 falls resulting in personal injury each year — most of them serious or disabling.

In its recent two-year survey of "do-it-yourself" activities and their relationship to home accidents, the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company discovered that of more than 650-000 fix-it accidents a year occurring among private-dwelling families, 300,000 or nearly half fell into groups in which a ladder would ordinarily be used. Painting accounted for a high percentage of the ladder group of mishaps.

Here is a list of suggestions often disregarded by more experienced painters and sometimes unfamiliar to amateurs which will help you to work on ladders or scaffolding with safety and confidence:

In painting an average two-story house you will need at least a 28-foot extension ladder for the upper story. The lower story can be handled more rapidly with two 6-foot stepladders and an 8-foot extension plank at least two inches thick and 12 inches wide. Also be sure to use a pot hook for holding the paint bucket. Wood clamps will be needed for securing planking to stepladders.

The right work clothing is important. Regulation painter's overalls and jumpers are recommended for safety and comfort, and because they provide convenient carrying space for necessary tools. Always wear shoes with stiff leather soles when working on ladders or scaffolds. Smooth rubber soles may be a slipping hazard and they are tiresome to the feet.

Safety check your ladders before each use. Place every type of ladder so that its feet rest on a firm, level surface. The foot of a straight ladder should be placed away from the wall at a approximately one quarter of the ladder's length. Stepladders should beopened fully so that side braces latch.

Always climb a ladder slowly and steadily. Any shifting movement or sway is an indication that it is placed improperly. Work only within convenient arm's length of the ladder without bending the body to right or left.

—o—

Thirty-nine per cent f the deaths and 35 per cent of the injuries due to motor vehicle accidents last year occurred on Saturdays and Sundays.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Bill to Overhaul the Pension Law for State, City, Town And County Employees Faces Hot Battle in Legislature

One of the hottest fights of the year will be waged in the State Legislature over a far-reaching bill which would drastically overhaul the pension law covering state, city, county and town employees.

The measure, which is the product of a lengthy study by a special commission, has so many ramifications that the fact that it would restore modest pensions to the legislators themselves may be all but overlooked.

Belief that the bill might be slid through quietly and with little commotion because of the desire of the House and Senate members to regain a portion of the pension privileges they lost at the 1952 special session is now gradually fading.

Originally it was thought that the proposal to place the legislators in the pension system would have a greater chance of adoption because it was tied in with a plan for revamping the entire pension law. Now, however, it appears that assumption may be erroneous and that the legislative pension phase of the scheme may be rejected because of the opposition to the overall plan.

Tells of Oak Hill's Growth in 20 Years

Growth of Oak Hill during the 20 years that the Oak Hill District Improvement Association has been in existence was summarized at Monday night's annual meeting of the Association in the Countryside School.

Despite the steady drizzle throughout the night, a good attendance heard the report of the area's growth read by Henry S. C. Cummings, first secretary of the group.

In 1935, Oak Hill was a community of 397 homes with a population of 1200. Its property was valued at $3,533,000 by the city and returned taxes amounting to $112,025. There were 100 children of pre-junior high age, and Oak Hill had only two classrooms and a kindergarten in a building where the present fire station is located. About 20 youngsters attended school there.

By comparison, said Cummings, there are today 1437 homes with a population of 4302, of which 2805 are registered voters. The property value in Oak Hill's Precincts 4 and 7 is $16,830,000, giving Newton a tax return of $748,935.

Four schools have been opened in Oak Hill over these 20 years — Countryside, Memorial, Oak Hill and Spaulding — and the Meadowbrook Junior High School is under construction. These represent an investment in school property of $4,618,000 to accomodate the 1406 youngsters now attending grades up to junior high. A canvass of next year's enrollment of 4-year-olds shows 267 will enter the school system.

To further illustrate the growth of Oak Hill, Cummings continued, only 28 building permits were issued in 1935 and last year 190 were granted out of nearly 400 for the entire city.

He recalled that 20 years ago a member of the Newton Planning Board said that the whole secret for the development of Oak Hill was a matter of drainage. Oak Hill was termed a "natural area" for a municipal center, and playgrounds were

Two From Newton Active In Study of Teachers Colleges

REP. IRENE THRESHER

DR. HOMER ANDERSON

Dr. Homer W. Anderson, former superintendent of schools here and Representative Irene K. Thresher (R-Newton), have played a prominent part in the appointment of a Chancellor to head the administration of the ten Massachusetts State Teachers Colleges, in a report made by a special legislative commission filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives last week.

The Chancellor would "carry on a program of improvement and growth" at the institutions, including a self-liquidating program of dormitory and student center construction which would match instructional facilities with adequate provision for out of class hours of students. He would be appointed and be directly responsible to the State Board of Education.

The commission, headed by Sen. Philip A. Graham (R.-Hamilton), chairman, and Rep. Irene K. Thresher (R-Newton), vice chairman, was established in 1953 to review the entire teacher training program at the State Teachers Colleges.

Findings of the commission, based on a study of the colleges by Dr. Homer W. Anderson, former superintendent of schools of Newton, and independent study by the commission, were summarized as follows in the report:

FINDINGS

1. The 10 State Teachers Colleges represent a large investment by the Commonwealth which should be fully utilized because of the increasing need for teachers and for higher education, in general.

2. These colleges offer a sound program of professional and general education which should be kept flexible for changing needs.

3. It is important to maintain the physical plant, faculty-student ratios, libraries and labora-

62 NHS 'Exchangers' Return From Colorado and Delaware

Newton High School's student exchange program for the 1954-55 school year came to an end yesterday (Wednesday) when 32 boys and girls returned home in the morning from Boulder, Colo., and 30 others arrived that night from Wilmington, Dela.

The Boulder group, under faculty leaders Kenneth P. White and Mrs. Margaret Erskine, had left for Colorado Friday, April 15. Their schedule allowed them a day of sightseeing in Chicago, and the group arrived in Denver Sunday morning, April 17.

The return trip on the "City of Denver" express — same train they took on their outward travel — got them to Chicago early Tuesday morning and allowed time for a tour of the Museum of Science and Industry in that city.

Events scheduled in Boulder included a welcome planned by the Chamber of Commerce and students from Boulder High School; a Get Acquainted party at the home of Elaine Clough; a trip to the mountains by bus up Boulder Canon, to Nederland, Central City, Idaho Springs, and Lookout Mountain; a trip to Estes Park, lunch served in American Legion Hall, and talks on water diversion project and National Park Services; a covered dish supper with Travelcade parents; a tour of National Bureau of Standards; party at the home of Bob Emerson; a visit to Denver University and a tour of the City of Denver; guests of Elks Lodge; a tour of University of Colorado Campus; steak fry on top of Flagstaff arranged by the Chamber of Commerce;

First Annual Parish Family Reunion to Be Held Tonight

Plans already have been completed for Our Lady's First Annual Family Reunion. The gala event will be held tonight, at the Totem Pole Ballroom, Norumbega Park. Monsignor Walter J. Furlong heads the Reunion Committee of 350 active parishioners. He is being assisted by the four district supervisors: Nicholas Murphy, Francis Murphy, Mrs. Alice Wilcox and Miss Mary Quinn, and ten district chairman: Joseph Chevarley, Miss Mary J. McCarthy, Mrs. Alice Hodgson, Edmund LeBlanc, Miss Catherine Murphy, Lawrence Coletti, Joseph McPherson, Mrs. Marie Terry, Herbert Austin, Miss Margaret Magoley, James Murpy, Sr., Miss Eleanor Gallagher and Wilfred Dery.

The Family Reunion was conceived by Monsignor Furlong as a means of getting the priests and members of the Parish to know each other better — and to have a good time in the process. A great outpouring of old friends and parishioners is expected. Many old parishioners who have moved away from the Parish have indicated their intention of attending this First Family Reunion. All will have an opportunity of meeting many former curates of the Parish who plan to be present for the occasion.

The setting for this Parish event is ideal — the Totem Pole Ballroom, generously contributed by Mr. Gill, the owner, where comfortable chairs and lounges are in abundance for those who like to sit and talk or listen; and ideal dance floor and an ample stage. The 'teen-agers have not been forgotten, for there will be a special dance floor for them in the Normandie Room. The entertainment will be exceptionally good, with Freddie Guerra's Orchestra playing (the regular orchestra for the Totem Pole — also a WBZ-television feature). Mr. Gill is inviting Frankie Lester to entertain, the Dornan Brothers will present their interesting act; and through the

Women's Auxiliary Is Formed to Aid In Endeavors of Little Leaguers

The Women's Auxiliary of the Newton - North - West Little League was formed at the first meeting on September 15, 1954 and elected as its officers, president, Mrs. Phyllis Gallagher; vice president, Mrs. Joseph Cuniffe; secretary, Mrs. Catherine Gill; publicity, chairman, Mrs. Lillian Sahlin.

An executive council was formed with a representative from each of the eight teams in the League as follows:

Representatives from the West: Pirates, Mrs. Edith Hathaway; Red Legs, Mrs. Lillian Meade; White Sox, Mrs. Katherine Sherman; and Orioles, Mrs. Dorothy Boucher.

Representatives from the North: Yankees, Mrs. Rita Beauregard; Indians, Mrs. George Kerr; Dodgers, Mrs. Kitty Jordan; and Cardinals, Mrs. Thomas Brown.

One of the main purposes of the Auxiliary, though it is completely independent, is to back up the men in the wonderful work they have been doing in forming the Little League, organizing the teams, getting the necessary sponsors and handling all the details which are part of the work of any organization. The women felt that they could help in several ways. Being with their sons and hearing the boys' discussions the women felt that they could ably present the child's point of view and also present their opinions as mothers. Also, they felt that by contacting mothers

The Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen-Age Road-e-o will be held at 9:30 a.m., this Saturday, come rain or shine! The driving skill tests will be conducted on Elm street, Newtonville.

The lucky high school qualifiers who won their positions by topping the list of scores in the written examinations are the following:

Written examinations submitted by over 100 students showed overall high scores, indicating that the average teenage driver is very alert to registry rules and regulations.

Robert Vaughan, general chairman, said the winner of Saturday's contest will receive a $25 savings bond. The fortunate finalist will also represent Newton in the state finals to be held at Mechanics Building, Boston at a later date.

Scholarships totaling $3,000 await state finalists in the national contest at Washington, D. C.

Edward Kraft Heads Reyim Brotherhood

Officers and board members for the coming year were elected at the last Breakfast Meeting of Temple Reyim Brotherhood held this past Sunday in the Temple vestry.

Dr. Davis Perlmutter, past president of the Temple and chairman of the nominating committee, presented the new slate, which was voted unanimously.

The new officers are: president, I. Edward Kraft; first vice-president, Myron Idelson; second vice-president, Arthur Galer; third vice-president, Milton Korngut; financial secretary, Edward Wasserman; recording secretary, Dr. Theodore Weisman; corresponding secretary, Ralph Karsh; treasurer, Aaron Bell; and sergeant-at-arms, Sol Chipman. The new members of the board of directors are Saul Cohen, Moe Aranow, Milton Geffen, Hyman Wyman and Max Podell.

Dr. Herbert N. Shepard, president, conducted the business meeting at which announcement was made of the "Appliance Giveaway" to be sponsored by the Brotherhood, in cooperation with the "Give and Earn" Project, to aid the Temple's Religious Schools. The winners will be drawn at a dance at the Temple on June 5th.

Guest speaker at the breakfast was Attorney Frank Shapiro of Boston, noted authority on Jewish humor.

Mr. Shapiro spoke of the origins and development of Jewish humor, punctuating his remarks with suitable anecdotes and stories. He said that "Jewish humor is illustrated and reflective of Jewish Life" and that much of it stems from the ghettos of Europe.

He pointed out how important it is to understand our roots and "the period of richness of spirit" in which our grandparents lived. He showed that Jewish humor is divided into many categories: jokes about "Galitziennahs", "Litvaks", business men, doctors and many other classifications. His illuminating and humorous talk was enjoyed by all.

Identification Tags to Be Ready Soon

Colonel John J. Maginnis, State Director of Civil Defense, has endorsed the plans for making Official Civil Defense Identification Tags available to all children and adults in the Commonwealth.

The identification tags are authorized by the Federal Civil Defense Administration and are an important safety measure for every-one. They provide quick identification which would be helpful in case of accident, sudden illness or any emergency, including air attacks.

Each tag is permanently stamped with the wearer's name plus the name and address of the person to be notified in an emergency. The wearer's birth date and religious preference also are stamped on the smooth metal tag which is carried on a non-tarnishable chain.

Through special arrangements, instructions for ordering Official Civil Defense Identification Tags may be obtained at displays which are now in many gracery stores.

Civil Defense realizes that individual identification tags are needed and only recently has secured the help of a large food manufacturer in distributing the tags on a nation-wide, "at-cost" basis.

To Speak at Union Church Sunday

Dr. George W. Webber, dean of students at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, will speak at the Union Church in Waban at 11 a.m., Sunday, May 1. Dean Webber will speak of the East Harlem Parish of New York. A group of Union Seminary students moved into this area several years ago to see if the Protestant Church could render significant Christian service in such a crowded and underprivileged area. The work there has been progressing in a most encouraging way. This will be a fascinating story and all are welcome to come.

Comparatively little objection has developed thus far to the suggestion for making the legislators eligible for pensions. The retirement allowances they would receive would be no different from those of civil service employees, and the deductions from their pay would be the same.

But a terrific fight will be waged over the proposals for repealing the Heart Law, for reducing veterans' pensions and for generally trimming down the retirement privileges of most public employees.

Democratic legislators will undertake to amend the bill, and if they are not successful in that attempt will seek to defeat it. For that reason it is unlikely it can survive its trip through the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives.

Few legislators relish the idea of voting themselves even small pensions while at the same time taking away any of the privileges enjoyed by other groups on the public payroll. That, in effect, is the predicament in which the lawmakers find themselves.

The recommendation for wiping out the Heart Law is almost certain to be turned down. That law simply assumes that heart condition suffered by a police officer or firefighter has been incurred in the performance of his duty.

It doesn't actually add anything to the pension of a member of a police or fire department. It merely relieves him of the necessity of proving that his heart condition is related to his work.

While there may have been some abuses of that law, most legislators consider it fair to assume that a police officer or firefighter with a heart condition incurred it from the strain of his duty and not at home watching television or washing dishes for his wife.

Veteran groups will make an all-out battle against a revision of the special pension rights of ex-servicemen. That group is not as large as is generally imagined, and it is gradually becoming smaller. It actually includes only World War I veterans who were in the public service prior to 1940. Most of those persons have been in the public employ so long that the legislators would be reluctant to trim down their pensions.

Some portions of the report by the commission which made so lengthy a study of the pension laws are so complicated that even the commission members themselves have difficulty explaining them so that they can be clearly understood.

It appears that persons who work from 35 to 40 years for the State or a city or town would get a bigger pension than at present but that those who work smaller periods would receive lesser retirement allowances.

The idea of encouraging public employees to remain on their jobs and of giving them larger pensions for doing so seems to be a good one, but it might have a greater chance of acceptance if it did not at the same time take something away from other groups.

One phase of the pension report, which will receive strong backing, calls for the imposition of penalties upon persons who retire from the public service on disability pensions because they supposedly are no longer able to work and then obtain comparable jobs in private industry.

That is an abuse which has long needed correction. It seems ridiculous that an employee should certify under oath that he is physically and mentally incapable of performing the job he holds and then, after retiring, do work just as strenuous as he had been doing.

The existing law supposedly prohibits that, but there are no teeth in the statute, and it is not enforced.

Under the bill which shortly will come before the full Legislature, a person who retired because of disability in the future would be required to submit periodic sworn statements showing his earnings.

If his income exceeded a designated figure, a deduction would be made from his pension payments, and if he failed to file the required statement, his pension would be stopped until he did so.

That would not halt the existing abuses because it would not affect persons already retired, but at least it might prevent them from increasing in the future.

Some law of that nature eventually will be adopted, but whether it will be enacted this year is uncertain because of the conflict which will occur over other sections of the proposed new pension law.

Republican members of the State Senate have been holding up a bill, which would wipe out the additional compulsory automobile insurance charged levied against drivers under 25, and they will not decide what action they will take on it until Governor Herter returns from Nevada and they have had a chance to confer with him.

A measure passed by the House would wipe out entirely the surcharge against the young automobile operators and place them on the same footing as all other drivers.

Sponsors of that move argue that by next January the merit system will have been in effect for two years and that sufficient data should have been accumulated to rate all on their highway records and the demerits assessed against them during that period.

Several Senators assert that this does not take into consideration the fact that many teen-age drivers may not have had their licenses two years.

One compromise under consideration would amend the House-approved bill so that it would provide that drivers under 25 be required to pay an additional insurance surcharge only during the first two years they hold their license.

Such a measure under the scheme now being discussed by some Solons would not become effective for a year and would be of no immediate help to young men with good highway records.

This is what the legislators term a hot issue because of the voting strength of the drivers under 25. The battle on it probably will develop in the Senate early next week.

Don't Scare the Snake

Now begins the season of outdoor living; of walks in the woods and camping trips. It is a time when many amateurs discover that the world of nature is full of hazards to life and limb, not the least of which is the wily snake.

There have always been two schools of thought on the proper etiquette when meeting a snake which might be poisonous—if you aren't an expert, it's safest to regard any snake as poisonous. The first school says, run as fast as you can in the opposite direction. The second school favors standing stock still in hopes the snake will think you are a stone. Some confirmation of the second opinion now comes from science.

It seems that fear in both the rattlesnake and his victim makes the effect of the bite worse. The muscles that wring the venom glands and eject the poison are controlled separately from the biting muscles. A snake that is not very frightened might bite without wringing its venom glands hard enough to eject much poison.

As for the victim, if he is very much afraid, fear will affect his heart action and speed up absorption of the venom.

If you must be bitten by a snake, you will be luckier if it comes on a part of your anatomy where absorption will be slower because it is padded with fat and far from vital organs. Again it is wise to select a very young or very old snake. The young ones have shorter fangs and produce less venom which is less toxic. Old ones may also secrete less and weaker venom.

Since you may be a poor judge of snake age and too upset to arrange for the snake to bite you in the right place and, in addition, both you and the snake might be scared to death, the wisest precaution is to have a snakebite kit when you tramp in areas where snakes abound. If you are bitten, follow first-aid instructions and then get the doctor at once for anti-snake serum.

What Shall We Eat... ...A Springtime Lunch

Spring has certain things that are characteristic of it and one of these is asparagus because this vegetable is never more apparent in food stands than at this time of year and it is one of the signs of the season. It's also the time to take advantage of asparagus because it has such a short season that you should use your ingenuity to get asparagus on the menu as often as possible at this time.

Asparagus is good alone or combined with a cream sauce, brown butter, herb butters, or with cheese sauce. These dairy products are excellent company for asparagus and they seem to bring out the rich, good flavor of asparagus and also they bring added food value to the meal, particularly in the case of sauces which use lots of milk and/or cheese.

Asparagus with Cheese and Mushroom Sauce serves as an admirable luncheon dish and provides in itself both the protein dish and the vegetable part of the meal. It can serve as a meal for the family or for company. And it isn't difficult to prepare while the results are very gratifying.

ASPARAGUS WITH CHEESE AND MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 lb. fresh asparagus
1 teaspoon salt
½ pound mushrooms, sliced, or
1 (8 oz.) can

Cook asparagus until tender in boiling salted water. Saute mushrooms in the butter for about 5 minutes; blend in flour, add milk and cook until sauce thickens. Add cheese and seasonings, and stir until cheese is melted. Place drained cooked asparagus on buttered toast and pour hot cheese and mushroom sauce over it. Serves 6.

TO FILE BILL AGAIN

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Last Fall I filed as House Bill 240, a resolve for a study to be made by a Special Recess Commission of the laws regulating the sale, rental, leasing and use of fire arms, and the possession and use of dangerous weapons. The commission was to consist of two senators, three representatives, the Commissioner of Public Safety, the Director of Law Enforcement of the Department of Natural Resources, and three members to be appointed by the Governor to represent the Mass. National Guard, the Mass. Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs and the firearms business respectively. The commission was to be directed specifically to study the well-known Sullivan Law of New York, which has worked satisfactorily in that state for many years.

The bill was given a unanimous favorable report by my Committee on Public Safety and was personally endorsed by Public Safety Commissioner Otis Whitney, as urgently necessary legislation. However, the committees on Rules and Ways and Means, to which such bills are required to be referred, recommended that it be turned over to the newly established Legislative Research Bureau for study and report to the next session. Last Friday evening it attempted to substitute the bill for their report, but failed because a combination of those two powerful committees is too much to overturn on the floor.

Both General Whitney and I are very much disappointed at the result. The Legislative Research Bureau has yet to prove itself as a substitute for a recess study made by conscientious legislators and experts whom the Governor may appoint. House 240 called for such experts to be named.

The present firearms law has been amended many times, is outmoded and contains many loop-holes. Out of the confused situation many unfortunate incidents have arisen. The publica interest and public safety involved here are too big an issue for a newly created bureau to handle successfully.

While the matter is settled for the 1955 Session, I fully intend to file this bill over again for next year. There is much good legislation on our statute books which has required more than one session to pass.

George E. Rawson,
Representative,
4th Middlesex District

Clean-up Do's and Don'ts

Spring clean-up around the house is largely a do-it-yourself job—but there are some things an average householder is better off not trying to do himself, warns Fire Chief John E. Corcoran.

Here is Chief Corcoran's list of "do's and don'ts" for Spring Clean-Up in Newton.

DO clean out closets, basements and attics—get rid of cast-off clothing and linens, broken furniture, papers, rags and the winter's accumulation of trash;

DO paint or replace old wood inside and out;

DO straighten up your yard—clear out last summer's dried grass and weeds and any other quick-burning trash.

DON'T attempt to do any electrical work yourself—leave new wiring, servicing of appliances and replacing of frayed cords to competent electricians;

DON'T tinker with your stove or furnace—have them cleaned, inspected and repaired by trained service men;

DON'T bring flammable cleaning fluids into your home—use only safe fluids or send your things out to the cleaners;

DON'T—by all means—give fire a place to start which, says Chief Corcoran, is the whole point to Spring Clean-Up.

Collision of Automobiles Injuries 4

A head-on collision of two cars on the Worcester Turnpike Monday morning resulted in four people being hospitalized with one of them on the danger list at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The police traffic division reported six other persons injured in four rear-end collisions in Newton during the weekend.

Suffering a possible fractured skull is Mrs. Eliza Johnson, 46, of Ball street, Roxbury, a passenger in the car which jumped the center reservation and smashed into a car driven in the opposite direction.

The operator of the car, Mrs. Mary Dodd, 36, of 147 Winthrop street, Roxbury, and her husband, Arthur Dodd, 50, along with Murray Kline, 308 Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, operator of the other car, were also taken to the hospital. Mr. Kline suffered a possible fracture of the right leg.

For more than an hour after the collision, traffice was tied up and was rerouted into Hammond Pond Parkway until the two autos could be towed away. Sgt. William H. Dowling and Inspector John J. Salemme investigated the accident. Newton and MDC police removed the victims to the hospital.

In a rear-end collision at Hammonds Wood Road and Beacon street, Newton Centre, Sunday evening, Lillia M. Pond of 80 Lincoln street, Norwood, and Marion N. Fessenden Boys To Appear in Original Musical

"A Tooth For Paul Revere" by Stephen Vincent Benet, adapted to music by Robert A. Gibson, a member of the faculty of The Fessenden School, West Newton, will be presented tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday evenings by the pupils of the school.

Benet's short story, on which the musical play is based, is a phantasy of the beginning of the American Revolution and has a unique charm for boys in its stirring conception of our country's earliest days.

This will be the fifth musical play which Gibson has written for boys. The first, "Treasure Island," was presented in 1947, followed by "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" in 1948, and "Rip Van Winkle" in 1949. For the school's Fiftieth Anniversary celebration in 1953, Gibson wrote "Now and Then," showing Fessenden as viewed by three generations. The catchy tunes and lyrics of these shows have greatly appealed to the boys, as has the idea of taking part in original plays based on stories they know, and singing songs scored within the range of their voices. They feel the excitement of a "first performance," often starting rehearsal on a song minutes after it is completed and mimeographed.

The cast for "A Tooth For Paul Revere" is under the direction of Robert S. Parsons and Arthur P. Clarridge II. The chorus and soloists have been trained and are directed by William H. Crook, head of the music department. The scenery was designed and painted by Daniel C. Brown, art instructor, and members of the art club.

In charge of costumes are faculty members Mrs. Walter G. Robinson Jr., Mrs. Doris Kennedy and Glenn Keplinger, and of properties, William S. Goodhue. Accompanists on two pianos are William C. Dickey of the music department, and Mr. Gibson; on the snare drum, Raymond E. Hunkins, teacher of instrumental music; and on the recorder, Robert Groves, a member of the Fourth Form.

The cast includes: Jonathan, James Carty; Aunt Liza Butterwick, Randolph Lewis; Barber, John Chickering; Customers, Seward Pulitzer, Louis Fuller, and James Wilmot; Lige Butterwick, Edward Grew; Apprentice, John Macomber; Barkeep, Peter Forrester; Tory, Alfred Page; Whig, Louis Fulder; Hepzibah Hitchcock, Michael Doherty; British Soldiers, Albert Schomp and Norman Harris; A Son of Liberty, Edwin Child; Paul Revere, William Haynes; Old Lady, John Chickering.

The musical numbers are: "We, the People," Glee Club; "Listen, Children, You Shall Hear," Aunt Liza and Glee Club; "My Most Special Pleasure," Barber; "Oh, Brave and Simple Men Are We," Britisn Soldiers; "It's a New Country," Paul Revere and Lady Customer; "What Is In The Air Around Us," Glee Club; "I'd Rather Be A Farmer," Lige; "Old Sam Adams Had a Bulldog Face," Jonathan; "It's a New Country," entire company.

Movie Premiere Shown on New Giant Screen

An exciting new era in motion picture presentation capped New York's brilliant entertainment season with the gala world premiere of "Strategic Air Command" at the Paramount Theatre on Times Square in New York City Wednesday evening, April 20th. This Paramount film, starring James Stewart and June Allyson, was shown on the $100,000 giant curved screen installed at the Paramount Theatre for the new presentation of the horizontal double-frame VistaVision system developed by the Paramount Studios.

As the largest theatre screen in the world, it permitted the presentation of an image at least 64 feet wide and 35 feet high. And when used in conjunction with the horizontal double-frame VistaVision projection process, the screen provided a picture of unsurpassed clarity, stunning brilliance of color and an exciting sense of audience participation in the story unreeled on the mammoth screen.

Saluting Newton's Dealer of the Month

WENTWORTH-JENNINGS, INC. LINCOLN-MERCURY

LYMAN VILES
WENTWORTH-JENNINGS
1180 Washington Street
West Newton

"SAFE BUY" Used Cars are a specialty of the house as far as Wentworth-Jennings, your Lincoln-Mercury Dealer in West Newton is concerned. Lyman Viles, president, assures Newton residents of the best buys on the market today. Service with this reliable concern is always done by factory trained mechanics on the premises.

"LET'S GET ACQUAINTED"

Most people approach the purchase of a used car with the same sensation of fear and trepidation that the bride has when she takes that long, slow walk down the middle aisle. Running through his mind are all the tales of woe, real and imaginary, that people who buy used cars get into. Now that is all very unnecessary, particularly in this city, because we are blessed with the finest group of dealers in the state.

We have been in business in Newton for forty years. We value our reputation highly and when we sell a used car we want it to go out the door right. If we don't sell our used cars, very shortly we wouldn't be selling new cars, and if we plaster the town with substandard, misrepresented used cars, very shortly we wouldn't be selling used cars. When we tell a prospective buyer that a certain car is a good car, we mean just what we say and it IS a good car. Our warranty means just what it says with no double talk and we are not at all hesitant about backing is up. When we get an off-color car that has been beat up and abused all its life, out it goes, wholesale. We recently sold a brand new Roadmaster to a man who had bought used cars from us for twenty-three years running. He started back in 1932 with a twenty-five dollar jallopy, drove it three years, figured he had twent-five dollars worth, came back and bought another. He is a bit older now and the last car he bought, the new one, cost over four thousand dollars. The point is that he got his money's worth from all of the used cars he bought from us. In turn, we would like to see all our customers as faithful as he, and we strive to give each and every customer the maximum value for his money and a car that will serve him well and suit his needs.

A large proportion of our trade-ins are Buicks, of course, and we have a varied stock of almost every year and model imaginable. We are selling new Buicks at a pace undreamed of even two years ago and when we take in a non-Buick trade, we are extremely choosy. If a car is not in really tip-top shape, we pass up the deal, it saves us a lot of headaches. For example, here are a few of the real beauties in our stock right now. They are all fine cars, priced to sell and sell quickly. A '46 Pontiac convertible that is in surprisingly good condition for a car of that year; it should make some youngster happy. A '51 Dodge Meadowbrook sedan that has only eighteen thousand miles; a nice shiny black '52 Chevvy two-door that it outstanding, and two '53 Mercury convertibles that are out of this world. Then there is a '52 Pontiac hydramatic sedan with only twenty odd thousand miles, and a six-cylinder '53 Pontiac sedan that looks and goes like new. We have a '52 Ford with Fordomatic that has unusuallly low mileage and came from one of our Buick customers; a handsome '53 Ford sedan, and even a '53 Chevvy three-passenger business coupe that was owned by an old bachelor who didn't like people. He liked his car though, and it shows it. Come in and look around, we know the sheep from the goats, our salesmen are polite and hard working and, above all, honest. They will take good care of you. If you like, do the Graphic a favor and mention to us that you read our invitation in their fine paper. Here is a final though to chew over, you can get more value for your dollar in a used automobile today than you can for any other commodity in the market.

Trial of 3 Men Postponed To June 7

A postponement to June 7 of the first degree murder trial of three men, who were quickly rounded up after a Newton murder last February, was announced Monday. The date of the trial previously had been announced as May 17. The trial date change was made public by District Attorney George E. Thompson.

The trio indicted on a total of 13 counts, including one of first degree murder, are Arthur L. Devlin, 31, of 252 Ash street, Waltham; Henry P. Arsenault, 28, of 25 Pond street, Natick; and Russell P. LeBlanc, 24, of 74 Exchange street, also of Waltham. They will go on trial for their lives before Judge Charles Fairhurst.

The defendants were arrested February 4 after an alleged holdup attempt of the home of Henry Mintz, of 341 Waverley avenue, during which Mint's son-in-law Merrill Lovinger, was fatally shot.

According to police, the young Cambridge attorney was shot by Arsenault during a scuffle in the Mintz's diningroom after the defendants had entered the home.

Machine 'Brains' Topic for Paper At NCEA Meeting

The ethical problems caused by the use of mechanical "brains" will be the subject of a paper to be read by Irvin Duclos of South Natick before the Philosophy Section of the New England Unit of the National Catholic Education Association meeting at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, Saturday.

Duclos, a graduate of Laval University, Quebec, and former instructor in philosophy at Seton Hall College, N. J., is a technical assistant at Raytheon's electronic manufacturing division. He will present a paper on "Cybernetics", the science dealing with control and communication in human brains and complex electronic calculators. J. Paul Fitzgerald of the faculty of Newton College is chairman of the philosophy section meeting.

Also meeting at the college will be representatives of the classics, history, science, theology, English and education departments of the New England Catholic colleges. In charge of arrangements is Mother Mary Quinlan, R.S.C.J., Dean of Studies at Newton College, and secretary of the executive committee of the New England Region of the NCEA.

Rev. Armand Desautels, president of Assumption College, Worcester, will preside at the general assembly in the afternoon. Also speaking at this session will be Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, president of Merrimack College, vice-chairman; Rev. Joseph Fitzgerald, S.J., president of Fairfield University; and Rev. Bernard Holmes, O.S.B., of St. Anselm's College.

This will be the first time that all the sections of the local NCEA group meet together for their annual assembly. Over 500 educators are expected to attend the day-long sessions on the Newton campus.

May Fellowship Day of Council Of Church Women This Mon.

May Fellowship Day and the Annual Meeting of the Newton Council of Church Women will be held this Monday, at 2 p.m. in the Newton Methodist Church, Centre and Wesley streets, Newton Corner.

Mrs. Hugh L. Robinson, president of the Council, will preside at the business meeting preceding the program. Brief annual reports will be given by the officers and chairmen, a proposed change in the by-laws will be presented by the chairman of the By-Laws Committee, Mrs. Anthony Jaureguy, and election of officers will be held.

The speaker at the program will be Mrs. Ralph R. Shrader who will talk on the subject of "The Modern Miracle," the concern of America for the world's children as expressed through the work of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). Mrs. Shrader was a member of the World Affairs Council UNICEF Committee which promoted the benefit showing of Danny Kaye's "Assignment Children" in Newton two weeks ago. In addition to telling what UNICEF is and what Newton has done to promote knowledge about it and contributions to it, Mrs. Shrader will point out the role church women can play in the fields of mental health, legislation, housing, racism, and crime and delinquency.

May Fellowship Day, observed in hundreds of communities throughout the country has as its purpose the enhancing of fellowship between church women, and consequently developing more cooperaton and understanding for joint endeavor. The twenty-three member churches in Newton exchange ideas and participate in common causes not only to strengthen themselves but also to promote projects which can be done better together than separately.

Hostess for the tea following the meeting will be Mrs. Frederick A. Hawkins, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newton Methodist Church, assisted by the mesdames John Flynn, Thomas Hogg, Charles Smith, and George Strandberg, and Miss Ethel Smith.

Collection Cans For M. S. Drive Now in Stores

A number of civic-minded Newtonites have joined the fight against multiple sclerosis by distributing canisters in stores for the newly-formed Women's Division of the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Leo Becker, the women have placed canisters in neighborhood stores as reminders to local contributors to drop in their loose change.

Money accumulated in the canisters will help to expand research and support multiple sclerosis clinics, such as those recently opened at the Boston Dispensary and Massachusetts General Hospital.

Newton "canister captains" are Mrs. Leonard Nectow, Newton Centre; Mrs. Harry Blank, Waban; Mrs. Samuel Perry, West Newton; Mrs. Maurice Foster, Newtonville; and Mrs. Milton Korngut, Newton.

tories to continue meeting accreditation standards.

4. Massachusetts will need an average of 3300 new teachers a year for the next several years to meet increased school enrollments and to replace teachers leaving the profession in this state.

5. Private colleges must expand their output of teachers to 1300 a year and the State Teachers Colleges must increase their graduates to 1100 or 1200 a year.

6. Programs to encourage liberal arts graduates to enter teaching will increase the teacher output by private colleges, but will not eliminate the need to expand enrollment at the State Teachers Colleges.

7. Classroom capacity at the State Teachers Colleges is not overloaded, and is being expanded to 6300 from the present 4400 at reasonable cost.

8. To attract students and to make full use of classroom facilities, non-instruction capacity such as dormitories and student centers can be constructed without cost to the state on a self-liquidating basis.

9. The greatest need of the colleges is a strong, unified administrative framework directly under the State Board of Education.

The State Teachers Colleges are located in Boston, Bridgewater, Fitchburg, Framingham, Lowell, North Adams, Salem, Westfield, Worcester, and includes also the Massachusetts School of Art in Boston.

In addition to Sen. Graham and Rep. Thresher, the membership of the commission includes Rep. Robert X. Tivnan (D-Worcester); Mrs. Louis E. Fletcher of Needham, state education chairman of the League of Women Voters; Dr. William E. Park of East Northfield, vice-chairman of the State Board of Education; Mrs. Alan R. Morse of Brookline, board of the Massachusetts Council for Public Schools; and Mr. Sidney Osborne of South Deerfield, union superintendent of schools.

In its report the Commission declared:

PROBLEM ACUTE

"Year by year, the problem of finding enough qualified and well-trained teachers to staff the classrooms in the public schools of Massachusetts is becoming more acute. We are not alone in this experience. It is true of the entire country.

"This shortage of qualified teachers is occurring at a time when competition between various professions which appeal to college graduates is at a high pitch. It is also a time when teachers must be recruited from among those born in the low birthrate years of the depression.

"At times, the search for teachers has been a virtual scramble by local officials. Many methods have been used to fill positions, including the recall of retired teachers to active work, encouraging liberal arts majors to become interested in teaching and appointment of substitute teachers in large numbers. However, to only a small degree has there been expansion of facilities for teacher training. There is still a shortage of qualified teachers which grows worse as enrollments increase in the public schools.

"It is clear that the maximum teacher training facilities of both the teachers colleges and the private colleges must be utilized if an adequate supply of trained, qualified teachers is to be provided to staff the public schools of the Commonwealth and to meet the needs of our children.

STATE RANKS LOW

"The commission has also looked ahead to the years when the bulging enrollment in the elementary schools would reach the college level. We found that Massachusetts ranks low in the opportunities for state-supported higher education available to its high school graduates compared with what is provided in other states. We were convinced that students graduated from the state teachers colleges were given a sound, basic education at the college level. An overwhelming percentage (70%) of these graduates go into the teaching profession within the state. These facts made it apparent that it would be unwise to abandon any higher educational facilities at this time.

"No final estimates can be made of the number of new teachers who will come from various programs now underway. They will help, but will not substitute for an expanded teachers college program. After exhausting the possibilities of adding to teacher ranks from liberal arts colleges and training programs mentioned above, the teachers colleges must remain a basic source of trained teachers.

"Examples of the state teachers colleges where dormitories are necessary include Framingham, where a domitory is needed for women, at Bridgewater, where dormitories are needed for both men and women, for both men and women at Worcester. The capacity at Boston will be sufficient without dormitories because of the large population within a reasonable radius.

"Assuming an increased capacity of about 2000 students, the teachers colleges would be able to turn out 400 additional teachers a year. This 400 added to the approximately 750 presently being graduated would result in a total of 1100 to 1200 new teachers produced each year for the public school classrooms of the Commonwealth. However, the schools would have to count on 1300 or more teachers coming from private colleges in future years and the Commonwealth would have to depend on attracting nearly as many as we do now from other states, unclassified sources, and through reinstatements.

FACILITIES NEEDED

"There is no question that additional facilities of all three types must be built as soon as possible if the teachers colleges are to be a dependable source of teachers adequate for the needs of the Commonwealth. The commission is offering a 'minimum' or conservative program of expansion which can be justified by an educational yardstick.

"It is quite apparent that there are weaknesses in the present organizational set-up. The solution is clear. The commission believes that the administration of 10 separate institutions with more than 4000 students enrolled and an annual operating budget totalling close to $3,000,000 is of such importance and complexity as to require a separate administrator reporting directly to the Board of Education.

"It is not our purpose to further fragment the administration of the state's educational responsibilities. We propose to retain the Board of Education as the overall policy-making group for the entire Department of Education instead of creating a new and separate board as suggested by Dr. Anderson.

"In a sense, the state teachers college are an operating function while the other duties of the department are largely advisory and supervisory. We believe that within the department, the operating and supervisory functions should be separated. In actual fact, these functions have been separated and a special division has handled the administration of the state teachers colleges since 1952. We do not propose to change this separation. The position of Director of Teachers Colleges is now vacant and we propose to improve the status of this position with a new title, commensurate with its importance compared with other department functions.

$14,000 SALARY

"To carry on a program of improvement and growth in the state teachers colleges, we recommend immediate authorization and appointment of a Chancellor of State Teachers Colleges to be named by the Board of Education and to serve at a salary of $14,000 a year.

"As chief administrator of the colleges, the Chancellor would have a small immediate staff. A central staff would be important to handle the budgets and the needs of the various colleges from an overall point of view. He should be in direct and frequent contact with the presidents of the individual colleges and should be chosen for his background as an educational administrator and for his general knowledge of educational finance.

"It will be the responsibility of the Chancellor to further implement the recommendations of this report and the Anderson report and to make a continuous study of the needs and resources of the teachers colleges.

"He would be a central figure in the program for construction of self-liquidating dormitories and student centers as well as other capital outlay programs.

"Legislation to provide scholarships at the state teachers colleges has been given preliminary approval by the legislature. This is a step in the right direction to strengthen the student recruitment program of the colleges which must be vigorously prosecuted by the Chancellor through guidance workers in the public schools and other public relations efforts.

"He would devote his attention to the question of changing the names of the various colleges to something more attractive, unified catalogs, changes in entrance requirements and salary schedules for college personnel.

JOB DIFFICULT

"The job of rehabilitating and enlarging the teachers colleges to increase enrollment in order to provide for the teachers needed by the Commonwealth is difficult. It will require the support of the Governor, the Legislature, the continued backing of the State Board of Education and the approval of the citizens of Massachusetts. But most of all, it will need a strong and able educator and alert administrator who can lead the way and bring to reality the goals set forth in this report."

Gives Warning Against Trash Burning Here

Get rid of rubbish and trash regularly and often, Fire Chief John E. Corcoran urged today in a spring clean-up message to householders.

But don't burn trash unless there's no other way you can dispose of it, Chief Corcoran warned. For those who have no choice but to burn their rubbish, the chief had this advice:

First get a fire permit from the fire department. Then pick a spot well away from the house and garage and clear a strip of earth around the pile to be burned. And be just as careful where you place wire and sheet metal trash burners.

Don't try to burn too much at one time. Have a few pails of water ready and a rake or wet broom. When you're done, soak embers with water; stir to be sure all embers are wet. A gust of wind can fan up embers that are seemingly dead. Make sure that all fires are thoroughly out before you leave.

recommended to be located within 10 minutes of children.

The Oak Hill District Improvement Association came into existence April 8, 1935, and held its first open meeting three weeks later with Wendell R. K. Mick as president. Speaker at that inaugural session was Sinclair Weeks, then mayor of Newton and currently secretary of commerce.

Achievements of the Association over its two decades of existence included bringing into the district bus transportation, branch library facilities, a fire station, and postal service to outlying areas. The Association helped eliminate heavy trucking over the main streets, use of the area for such business purposes as a gravel pit, establishment of a cemetery and construction of an airport.

The group encouraged the city to improve its sewerage facilities, water pressure and voting facilities, and citizens of Oak Hill have given their fullest support to community and municipal activities.

Cummings noted two former officers of the Association are now serving in important elective positions — Wendell R. Bauckman, president of the Board of Aldermen; and Arthur G. Heaney, state representative.

Officers elected for the coming year included Franklin G. Flaschner of 109 Osborne path, president, founder and first president of the Oak Hill Park Association; Ian D. Malcolm of 118 Wiswall road, first vice-president, principal of the Spaulding School in Oak Hill; Eric H. Hanson of 239 Wiswall road, second vice-president; Robert M. P. Kennard of 244 Dudley road, treasurer; Jack M. Roberts of 210 Upland avenue, secretary; and Doane Arnold of 134 Vine street, auditor.

Directors elected were James H. Zimmer of 24 Shady Hill road, Newton Highlands; James E. Murley of Murley lane; Morton B. Braun of 217 Country Club road; Roger S. Hamilton of 40 Bound Brook road, Newton Highlands; and John B. Stetson of 80 Dedham street, Newton Highlands.

Speaker for the evening was Rev. Gordon Herict, former captain in the Royal Air Force, world traveler, explorer of the upper Amazon and a leading authority on Latin America where he drilled oil wells and served as financial advisor.

friends of the pupils of Warren, and especially those who find it inconvenient to visit the building during school hours, an opportunity to become better acquainted with the teachers of their children and see some pupils at work in various activities.

Though length of interviews must be limited, teachers will be in their classrooms throughout the evening to meet parents. There will be interesting displays of work done by pupils in their regular classes, as well as many exhibits of special projects undertaken by boys and girls of Warren.

DUNCAN COTTING, second right, and Eric H. Hanson, right, both of Newton are shown with the committee that is arranging for the annual Spring dinner-dance of the University of Maine Alumni Association of Boston, to be held this Saturday evening at the M.I.T. Faculty Club, 50 Memorial Drive, Cambridge. Mr. Cotting resides at 166 Dickerman road, Newton Highlands, and Mr. Hanson, 239 Wiswall road, Newton Center. Shown above, left to right: Thomas Desmond, president, and E. C. Sherry, committee chairman, both of Wellesley; C. Roger Lappin, Lexington; Mr. Cotting and Mr. Hanson.

Auxiliary-

of all the boys in the League and interesting them in the work that is being done they could contribute largely to the success of the program. With 160 boys enrolled in the Newton North - West Little League, the membership of the Auxiliary should be 160 and it is the hope and aim of the members who have worked this year that the mothers of all the boys playing ball will feel the responsibility and desire to want to help.

Another and one of the most important purposes of the group is to raise money to help defray the expense of the Little League. Although each team has a sponsor who finances the team, there are many other expenses involved in the operating of the League. Perhaps the most outstanding and expensive project to date, is the building of the Newton - West Field on land that was generously donated by Herbert Gill. It is located on Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. The men have worked hard, have solicited materials and work from interested and enthusiastic citizens and the field is nearing completion and it is hoped can be used at the beginning of the season.

The field will be complete with dugouts and will be one of the best Little League Fields in Massachusetts. This project clearly shows the wonderful spirit of the men and the cooperation and help from members of the Newton North who have their own field at Albermarle, also that Little League is generally considered one of the most worthwhile and democratic organizations in a community. Regardless of race or creed any boy in the 8 - 12 age group is given a fair tryout and a chance to play ball.

Though the Auxiliary is new a considerable sum has already been raised for the coming baseball season. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Kitty Jordan, a food sale was held at the Cabot - Claflin Trade Shop by women many of whom had no connection with Little League but just a sincere desire to help in what they considered to be a worthwhile cause. A second food sale was held at the Davis School and was run completely by Mrs. Catherine Sherman. Still a third food sale was held in Newtonville with joint chairmen, Mrs. Nonie Litchfield and Mrs. Louise Pugliese. The most ambitious project to date is the big dance coming up next Friday night, April 29th at the Normandy Room in Auburndale. Mayor, Howard Whitmore, Jr. and Mrs. Whitmore plan to attend. City Recreation Commissioner and Mrs. C. Evan Johnson will be present. Mrs. Rita Beauregard as the chairman has done an outstanding job in planning an evening that should be pleasant for Little Leaguers, their parents, High Schoolers and anyone interested in having a good time. It is hoped it will attract many family groups and the dance will be a combined modern and square dance. Mr. Albert Haynes, who is the caller at the Wayside Inn square dances, with his orchestra will provide the music. There will be door prizes which have been contributed by generous merchants in the city, and there will be a raffle. Tickets may be bought at the door. On May 14th there will be a Children's Show at the West Newton Theatre under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lilla Curley.

The ideals of Little League are closely followed by the coaches and managers with emphasis put on good sportsmanship. Newton boys have earned a reputation as good winners and good losers. The team that went to Williamsport in '53 and last year's all stars that just missed out on "going all the way". These boys tied the Needham team that went on to Williamsport and played 4 extra innings only to lose by a few bad breaks in the game but the boys showed their good sportsmanship and covered their disappointment and Newton can be proud of the boys that have represented this city in competitive tournament play. The boys have respect for the men who work with them and are proud of being Little Leaguers and strive hard to prove themselves in good deportment. This creates pride, ambition and self-respect which, after all are the true values of good citizenship.

rear of the Davis School. Last summer their headquarters were destroyed by vandals and the current program is being conducted in various buildings throughout the city including the Davis School, West Newton Library, Warren Jr. High School, Y.M.C.A. and the Unitarian Church.

The land on Cherry street was purchased last year, plans were formulated and the building fund drive launched. The estimated cost is $60,000 which, because of recent advances in labor and material is greater than anticipated. Although construction begins with the groundbreaking ceremony, the interest must of necessity continue, as many additional contributions will be needed to complete and equip the new structure.

It is anticipated that plans for the fall will be rolling at high speed. The need for this building is intensified from all sides and, with more space affording a diversification of activities under one roof, these needs will be met. Among others, the boys', women's and Senior Citizens' groups will have the opportunity for expansion and further growth and development.

"Our door is always open" has long been a slogan of the Centre. By fall they will have a new and permanent door, with the latch string always out.

Much thought and planning has gone into this new building. It was designed by Albert M. Kreider, well-known Newton architect. The Newton firm of H. H. Hawkins and Sons is to be the builder and will commence work with this ground-breaking ceremony.

Invited guests for this event include State Senator Richard H. Lee, Representative Irene K. Thresher, Representative Arthur G. Haney, Aldermen Charles H. Cosgrove, Joseph B. Davis, and John P. Nixon, Rev. Dr. Ross Cannon Rev. John Ogden Fisher, Rev. Louis E. Ford, Rev. Russell E. Gunldach, Rt. Rev. John J. O'Kane and H. J. Pettengill.

Wednesday evening, films for women's groups were shown, and Herbert G. Dunphy, M.D. spoke tonight (Thursday), Gerald C. Garcelon, M. D. will talk to representatives from men's organizations following the showing of two films especially designed for men's groups.

The program was arranged by the Newton Cancer Education Committee with Frank Battles, Jr., as chairman and the following members: Miss Moira Sullivan, Rev. Edgar F. Helms, Frank McElroy, Mrs. Ann Miller, Miss Theresa Strong, Mrs. Edward F. Roberts, Mrs. Frederick Newcomb, Mrs. H. E. Iverson, Mrs. Robert E. McCourt, Mrs. Terese D'Abre, Mrs. George S. Wattendorf and Mrs. George Eames.

Any program chairman or representative of a Newton club or organization is urged to attend. Following the programs, delegates will be invited to arrange a program for their groups for the coming year.

New Shell Furnace Oil with FOA-5X

Filter screen using ordinary heating oil after one month looked like this.

Filter screen using NEW Shell Furnace Oil with FOA-5X after entire heating season is clean as a whistle.

Now every gallon of Shell Furnace Oil contains FOA-5X—a special added ingredient that stops filter screen clogging. Shell laboratories with their years of experience and research have now introduced FOA-5X to the public. Yet Shell Furnace Oil with FOA-5X costs no more than ordinary heating oil.

Exchange-

School Dance; a trip to Wyoming, lunch served at Wee-da-woo Park; evaluation of exchange program.

The Newton-Wilmington School and School Exchange, led by Miss Mabel Turner and Warren Loring, left Patriot's Day for Washington, D. C. After sightseeing trips in the Capitol, the exchangers traveled to Wilmington, where they were greeted at their host school — Alexis I. duPont Special District High School.

Scheduled events for the week included orientation program at the Soda House, Carpenter Estate; assembly to welcome visitors; lecture on Winterthur Museum; barbecue supper and entertainment at home of George Maurer; program by Delaware University Band; tour of Winterthur Dairy and Museum; picnic lunch on route to Longwood Gardens; trip to Philadelphia; Walking tour of points of interest near Independence Hall including Carpenters Hall, Betsy Ross House; dinner and dance at duPont Country Club; trip to New Castle, Delaware Memorial Bridge. Masker Hatchery and State Capitol at Dover; attend meeting of General Assembly; visit with Governor Boggs; tour of Hercules Experimental Station; visit to Old Swedes Church, the Rocks at Fort Christina Park, the Marine Terminal and the original du Pont powder mills; farewell party at Breck's Mills, dancing.

In each exchange pupils not only enjoyed sightseeing trips and parties, but also attended classes in the host schools and tried to keep abreast with their classmates in Newton High School, who returned to school Monday. Most of the Exchangers had school books with them when they set out and came back ready for school attendance and recitation.

"The successful completion of Newton's eleventh and twelfth School and School Exchanges," said Floyd Rinker, who directs the program, "has resulted from the cooperative endeavors and splendid work of the Exchange pupils, their parents and their faculty leaders, the excellent support of the High School faculty and the student body, and the generous help of many friends in Newton and Greater Boston."

Announces New Series of Broadcasts

WCRB announced the beginning of a new series of musical broadcasts, WCRB Feature Presentations, which will include programs of many local musical groups as well as exclusive station presentations of music and musicians.

On May 7, the station will present the Williams Glee Club and the Wellesley College Choir, Wlater Nollner and William A. Hermann, conductors, in a rebroadcast of a portion of the concert given by them in Houghton Memorial Chapel, Wellesley College on April 16. The program will include the complete Magnificat by John Sebastian Bach. This will be a binaural broadcast.

On May 14, the program will have two features. An exclusive interview with Mr. Leonard Warren, leading baritone of the Italian Wing of the Metropolitan Opera, and a first performance on the air of Night Piece for Flute and Orchestra, by the American composer, Arthur Foote.

On May 21, WCRB will bring ther listeners an abridged performance of the oratorio, The Creation, by Franz Josef Haydn. This binaural presentation will feature the choir of the First Congregational Church in Wellesley Hills, David Hicks, Organist and Choirmaster.

The final May program, on the 28th, will be a stereophonic presentation of the Sharon Civic Chorus, Hetty Archer, conductor, in an abridged performance of the Stabat Mater by Antonin Dvorak.

In June, WCRB plans a binaural of the Chamber Choir of Boston's famed Cecilia Society, and as a special treat to record collectors, a broadcast of an actual profesisonal recording session.

Gov't Employees Serving Abroad May Now Ballot

Passage of a bill to allow civilian employees of the government to vote by absentee ballot when stationed abroad was secured in the House of Representatives last Thursday by Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton.

The new absentee voting provisions, explained Rep. Rawson, "includes not only persons in the armed services and civilian personnel attached to those persons and their spouses and children of voting age, but also civilian employees of the government stationed outside the United States.

"It also provides means for temporary registration for them for the duration of their service abroad and six months thereafter, if they are qualified but not registered," he continued. "At the expiration of this period they are required to re-register in person before their local Board of Registrars or Election Commissioners as the case may be."

"Housework Made Easier" Course To Start May 10

Due to the interest and demand of the "Housework Made Easier" course given by the Massachusetts Heart Association a special course will be given in Waltham for the residents of Newton and surrounding communities commencing Tuesday evening, May 10. Miss Bernice Joyal of the Visiting Nurse Association will be the instructor. Classes will be held at the Alfred Worcester House commencing at 7:45 and ending at 9:15 p.m. on four consecutive Tuesday evenings. The course is a Community Service project of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

Physicians have recognized that homemakers with a full time job and a three-quarter time heart must find ways to conserve their energy. The course given by the Heart Association has developed the solution to this problem as a result of time and energy flow studies that have been made in Universities throughout the country.

A modern home may have many new automatic devices designed to make housework easier, but the best equipment in the world will not accomplish this if one must bend, reach walk and stand excessively.

A long look at one's present home equipment, a little application of new ideas, a few inexpensive changes can save many woman hours according to experts who have developed the Heart Association's course.

Application for enrollment must be made in writing to the Massachusetts Heart Association, 650 Beacon street or the Visiting Nurse Assn., Alfred Worcester House, Waltham.
